140 Bullets Fired in 40-Minute Siege; No One Reported Hurt.

6 MEN AND 2 GIRLS ARE SEIZED IN RAID

100 Holdups in 3 Months Laid to Youths Captured on Club Hostess' Tip.

New York, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—On the tip of a night club hostess, who said she sought revenge on a former sweetheart, 175 policemen tonight surrounded a Brooklyn apartment house and after a gun fight lasting 40 minutes, captured six suspected bandits and two girls.

More than 100 shots were fired by the officers from machine guns, pistols and shotguns, while the besieged men sent at least 40 bullets through the windows and doors of their hideout. No one was wounded.

When the noise of shooting in the apartment ceased, detectives battered down the door with crowbars. They found the six youths, whom they accused of at least 100 holdups in three months, lying on the floor and the two girls hiding under beds.

Hostess Refuses Name.

Last night a captain of detectives received a telephone call from a night club hostess who refused to identify herself.

She gave details of the holdup campaign of six young men whom she named. "I want revenge on my sweetheart who deserted me for another girl," she said, and told of the band's hideout.

This morning all other occupants of the apartment house and nearly everyone in the block were told by police to leave the neighborhood for the day.

Shooting Opens at Dusk.

At dusk an officer knocked on the door of the apartment and demanded entrance. Four bullets shot through the panels were his answer. Thereupon machine gun squads in a back yard and other officers on roofs across the street began firing.

A large crowd was kept a block from the building by police. When the shooting ended all windows in the apartment had been broken, and the walls and furniture riddled with bullets.

The prisoners gave their names as Margaret Walsh 19, East Rochester, N. Y., and Jean McGuen, 20, Rochester, N. Y., and Michael Grifetti, 26; Frank Russo, 18; John Simone, 19; Thomas Contaldo, 19; Eugene Uricali, 21, and Samuel Migrione, 26, all of Brooklyn.

Capt. Hawks Fined On Illegal Landing

Aviator Failed to Report at Entry Point After Canada Flight.

Burlington, Vt., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank Hawks, holder of many American airplane speed records, today was fined $500 by American customs officials for landing illegally in the United States after a flight from Montreal.

Customs officials said, however, they would recommend the assessment be waived, since they were convinced Hawks did not intend to violate the law.

Capt. Hawks and Miss Maude Tait, of Springfield, Mass., flying separate planes, took off today from St. Hubert Airport, in Montreal, for Burlington. Deputy Customs Collector Benjamin S. Heath met them as they arrived at the municipal airport here and charged them formally with illegal entry, on the grounds they had failed to report at either of the two nearby ports of entry, Swanton, Vt., or Plattsburg, N. Y. Capt. Hawks said he was told at St. Hubert it was unnecessary to report at Plattsburg or Swanton.

Dempsey Divorce Suit In Reno Declared Near

Reno, Nev., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Robert E. Burns, counsel for Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, tonight said action was near in Dempsey's proposed divorce suit against Estelle Taylor, his actress wife.

Reports that Dempsey had secretly filed for divorce here Saturday were characterized by Burns as without foundation. "There will be no attempt at secrecy in this case" he commented. Negotiations for a property settlement between the former heavyweight champion and Miss Taylor have held up filing of the suit for several weeks.

Jury Asserts Sheriff Killed Self in Sleep

Griffin, Ga., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—On the theory he shot himself while asleep a coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death today in the case of Sheriff Oscar McGee, found dead in bed this morning.

Testimony at the inquest showed that on several occasions recently the sheriff had walked in his sleep and, upon awakening had found his pistol in his hand. He kept the weapon on a table near his bed.

Earthquake in Texas Rocks 500-Mile Belt

Town of Valentine, in Southwest, Heavily Damaged; San Antonio and El Paso Among Scores of Cities Feeling 38-Minute Shocks.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Earth tremors shook central and west Texas today.

Houses were reported shaken in scores of cities, but Valentine, in far southwest Texas in the southern Sierra Vieja Mountains, seemed to bear the brunt of the shock. There many adobe residences were wrecked. No loss of life was reported.

At Hondo two distinct shocks were felt, a rocking motion appearing to run from the northwest to the southeast along the rock uplift there.

Taylor was the farthest east city to report the shock, giving it a width of at least 500 miles in Texas.

At Valentine the most severe tremor was preceded and followed by lighter ones. The original tremor aroused most of the residents and they rushed into the streets, all escaping before the heavier shocks cracked walls and sent roofs crashing down. Every chimney in Valentine fell. Total loss was estimated at $75,000.

San Antonio was the largest city to report the earthquake. Dishes were broken, windows rattled and chandeliers swayed, although no extensive damage was reported. William Marx of the San Antonio Weather Bureau estimated the tremors began at 5:39 a. m. and lasted 72 seconds. It was the first earthquake recorded since establishment there of the Weather Bureau in 1871.

Fort Stockton, in the Big Bend country in southwest Texas, reported the walls of several downtown business buildings were cracked.

Comanche Springs, flowing 60,000,000 gallons of water daily, spouted muddy water for an hour after the disturbance but apparently the flow was not affected otherwise.

At Sanderson, in the same general section, one residence was damaged.

Monahans, in the west Texas oil area, reported walls of the Worth Hotel were cracked by four slight distinct tremors.

Moody, Hamlin, Coleman, Colorado, Brady, Stamford, Cameron, San Angelo, Pecos, Abilene, Temple, Sierra Blanca and Eagle Pass were other cities and towns which felt the earth

SOUTH URGED TO BAN COTTON CROP IN 1932

Governor of Louisiana Proposes Immediate Conference to Solve Crisis.

New Orleans, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Challenging all to join him in declaring an absolute moratorium on cotton raising in 1932, Huey P. Long, Governor of Louisiana and United States senator-elect, tonight stated he had telegraphed summons to chief executives of all cotton-growing States to meet in New Orleans, August 21, for action to save the South from the impending crisis and bankruptcy.

"We can restore prosperity of the South and materially the balance of the world within two weeks if the cotton-growing States have governors with courage to act immediately and decisively," Gov. Long's message read.

"The only way this can be done is to prohibit by law, and at once, the raising of a single bale of cotton in all the cotton States during the year of 1932. If such action is taken immediately the farmers will get more money for this year's crop than they will receive for the next two crops under existing conditions. A condition of near bankruptcy to a large part of our population and industries can be avoided if executives of Southern States dare act now.

"I am issuing this call to all governors, lieutenant-governors, representatives and senators of the cotton States to meet in New Orleans next Friday, August 21, to organize for immediate steps to prohibit cotton raising in America next year.

"With this year's crop we will have a surplus of 15,000,000 bales to carry over next year. If we stop the cotton raising altogether we will afford a market for what we now have and

12 Killed When Express From Rome Hits Freight

Vienna, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Twelve persons were killed, eleven seriously injured and thirty slightly hurt as the express train from Rome was in collision today with a freight train near Leoben, Syria.

Seven coaches were derailed. The cause of the accident was not determined. None of the victims was an American. Two station masters were arrested.

EXTRA JOBLESS TAX IS URGED IN BRITAIN

Unions Would Place Burden of Unemployed Aid on Every Resident.

London, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—A scheme taxing the income of every resident of Great Britain to relieve the nation's army of more than 2,000,000 unemployed was urged on Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald today as part of the government's emergency economy program.

The project would discard the present unemployment insurance system and create a maintenance fund through special graduated taxes on wages and incomes.

MacDonald, who will return from Lossiemouth tomorrow for a strenuous week of conferences on methods of balancing the budget through drastic economies, must face one of the most critical decisions of his career in connection with the tax plan. It is sponsored by the trade unions, which developed it at their congress, and they were understood to have brought severe pressure on the prime minister for its acceptance.

The trade-union leaders have taken the position that the maintenance of unemployment in Britain should be a national charge and that every one from the humblest worker to the peers should share the burden of providing unemployment funds.

The project was believed to have added greatly to the complex national and party problems which the prime minister must face within the next week in the government's campaign to avert a budget deficit estimated as high as $600,000,000 and to restore complete confidence in Britain's finances.

The Daily Mail tomorrow will forecast the government's "equal sacrifice for all" plan of national econ-

Paul Whiteman Leaves Today to Wed in Denver

Chicago, Aug. 16 (U.P.). — Paul Whiteman, orchestra leader, will leave here tomorrow for Denver, where he will marry Margaret Livingston, red-haired movie actress.

The wedding, on Tuesday, will be Whiteman's third. He was divorced from his second wife, Vanda Koff, dancer, here last March.

Carnegie Foundation Raps Legion Drive for Pensions

Report Says Former Soldier Who Seeks Bonus, If Health Is Unimpaired, "Abandons Position as Patriot;" Scores "Political Colonels" of G. A. R.

New York, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—A report which ranged from an analysis of the college senior as little wiser than the college freshman, to a denunciation of the pension policies of the American Legion and the G. A. R., was issued today by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Henry S. Pritchett, president of the foundation, in his section of the report, departed from an analysis of the organization's 25 years of activity to discuss "Patriotism, Pensions and Politics."

He labeled as "political colonels" those members of the G. A. R. and American Legion who worked for pensions and bonus legislation, and said a former service man who accepted a bonus or a pension, unless his health or earning power had been affected, had "abandoned his position as a patriot."

In the discussion of college students, the report said the "ravages of forgetting" cause the senior to lose, even before receiving his sheepskin, much of the knowledge he has acquired.

This conclusion, made public today, was based on answers to an examination given by the foundation to 10,000 students in Pennsylvania colleges.

The graduate was pictured in the findings as a person who had reached the peak of his knowledge in many subjects in his freshman year and had added few if any words to his vocabulary while in college.

"The college senior recognizes only 61 out of 100 words in familiar use by educated persons," the report said. "The effect of college on the word supply of the ordinary student appears to be almost negligible and in some cases positively injurious." * *

"The school and college curriculum consists of little else but isolated packages of specific ideas, segregated for the time being in self-contained courses, elected semester-wise, and cut off by examinations and credits from any other living conditions. The sacredness of such systems of credit coinage dominates both teacher and pupil."

Mr. Pritchett said the G. A. R. "politicians" had fought an easy mark in Congress, and "not only ob-

LINDBERGH HOP FOR JAPAN SAID TO HAVE BEGUN

Message From Japanese Fishing Boat Is Not Confirmed.

PLANS ARE ADVANCED BY WEATHER CHANGE

Tokyo, Aug. 17.—(Monday)—(A.P.) The Ochiishi Radio Station intercepted a message from a Japanese fishing boat saying Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh started from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, for Nemuro today. This could not be confirmed from any other source, however.

The Ochiishi Radio Station intercepted a message saying Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were preparing to hop off from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, for Nemuro, Japan, today.

The Ochiishi station said the Lindberghs decided to continue their flight to Japan today because weather reports indicated conditions were becoming unfavorable for a hop from Petropavlovsk to Nemuro.

Plans Speeded Up.

Previously the flying vacationists had planned to make the jump to Nemuro tomorrow.

The Tokyo Central Observatory weather report said a low pressure area was forming over the Sea of Okhotsk and that a dense fog apparently was moving toward the Kurile Islands. Conditions in the Kamchatka region also were becoming unfavorable, the observatory said.

Guests of the humble people of Petropavlovsk, Siberia, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh rested today in preparation for their 897 mile flight.

The famous couple landed there at 3 p. m. yesterday (1 a. m. Sunday E. S. T.) after a flight of 554 miles from Karagin Island, off the Eastern Siberia coast on their aerial vacation trip.

Couple Made Welcome.

The Lindberghs were met by two launches, which escorted the plane to an anchorage, while 60 school children stood under a crude arch, erected on the landing stage in welcome to the Americans, and sang Russian songs.

Petropavlovsk, a town of about 10,000 Russians, Japanese and Mongols, lies on a plain, with steep mountains five or six miles back of its excellent harbor. Gold mining, fishing and fur trading are the chief sources of livelihood.

The humble folk were enthusastic over the visit of America's great airman and his wife. Prior to their arrival there was talk among the citizens of presenting Mrs. Lindbergh with enough pelts for a fur coat, if she desired to take them with her.

Radio Out of Range.

The radio station at Ochisshi, Japan, the principal outlet for news from Petropavlovsk to the outside world, however, had not reported early today whether the presentation had been made.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh left Karagin Island at 1:50 p. m. yesterday (8:50 p. m. Saturday E. S. T.) and landed here four hours and ten minutes later. After leaving Karagin Island Mrs. Lindbergh, radio operator of the plane, left the range of the St. Paul Naval radio station in the Bering Sea.

The St. Paul station had been the means whereby the outside world followed their flight for several days. Static and interference from ships trying to contact the Lindbergh plane further hindered reception at St. Paul of signals which were already weak because of the distance between the plane and the station on the Pribilofs.

Static Causes Delay.

Static also caused much delay in relaying news of the flight from the St. Paul station, and word of the take-off was received several hours after the plane had taken the air.

The few reports which did reach the outside world indicated the Lind-

Two More to Follow Air Route of Cramer

Detroit, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Trans-American Airlines Corporation officials announced here tonight that a second survey plane would take off soon over the same northern route to Europe on which Parker Cramer and his radio operator, Oliver Pacquette, are believed to have perished last week.

Edwin L. Preston and Robert H. Colligon, company fliers, have been named copilots for the second attempt to blaze an air mail and express route over the Arctic ice cap, the officials said, and they are expected to take off here before September 1.

Pilot Held as Glider Hits Crowd, Hurts 11

Wyalusing, Pa., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Eleven persons were injured, six seriously, today when a glider fell into a crowd at Wyalusing Rocks, near here.

The pilot, Capt. Fred M. Pippig, New York, also injured but not seriously, was held in the Bradford County Jail pending the outcome of the injuries of those struck when the glider fell.

CRIME BOARD IS SPLIT OVER CAUSE STUDY

Two Volumes of Views of Experts Substituted for Discussion.

ANDERSON DISSENTS IN SEPARATE REPORT

Kenyon Also Refuses to Sign 3 Paragraph Preface to 859 Pages.

(Associated Press.)

Once again divided, the Wickersham Commission yesterday reported it was unable to discuss comprehensively the causes behind the uprush of crime in the United States.

Instead, the commission presented to President Hoover a two-volume, 859-page report on the "causes of crime," composed of studies by half a dozen experts.

In turn, they blamed the crime wave upon factors ranging from unemployment, economic depression and bad environment to unpopular laws, political corruption and police craft and dishonesty.

One member, Col. Henry W. Anderson, of Richmond, Va., vigorously dissented from this procedure. He asserted President Hoover had specifically instructed the commission to determine "fact and cause." Unless the members understood the causes of crime, he said, they could not properly suggest remedies.

In a report of his own, Anderson contended that if the problem of crime is to be solved "the remedy must be found in the removal of causes." He suggested the Government create an "Institute of Human Research" to study the effects of personality and environment.

Kenyon Refused to Sign.

Federal Judge William S. Kenyon, of Iowa, likewise refused to sign the commission's brief statement, but gave no reason.

Here are the conclusions of the commission's experts:

Miss Mary Van Kleeck, of the Russell Sage Foundation, after a study of the records of Sing Sing Prison for ten years, found that "the ranks of the unemployed yield more material in proportion to their numbers for penal institutions than do the ranks of the employed."

Ira DeA. Reid, director of research of the National Urban League, found there were far more Negroes in Sing Sing than would be expected from their proportion of New York's population. He maintained, however, that the Negro was as much sinned against as sinning.

Dr. Emma A. Winslow, placing side by side figures upon economic and crime conditions in Massachusetts, concluded it was "inescapable that the assurance of economic security might be expected to bring with it an appreciable reduction in the volume of crime."

Slum District Blamed.

Clifford R. Shaw and Henry D. McKay, of the Behavior Research Fund, of Chicago, in a 400-page report on juvenile delinquency, said the disorganized and "slum" districts surrounding the business sections of more than half a dozen cities were responsible for turning out a steady stream of youthful offenders, while other sections in the cities were comparatively free.

Morris Ploscowe, formerly of Harvard, in an analysis of all literature upon the causes of crime, said "The link between politics and crime and the consequent influence exerted over the process of criminal justice by politicians, the acceptance of protection money by the police, certainly contribute directly to crime."

Ploscowe asserted it was probable also that "inefficiency is present in all parts of the criminal process and in the enforcement of criminal law." He said, however, there were also

Plane Purchasers Killed While Making Test Hop

De Kalb, Ill., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Al Glassburn and Joseph Kaiser, both of Dixon, Ill., were fatally injured today when a monoplane they were testing went into a tailspin at 1,000 feet and crashed at the De Kalb County Airport, nine miles south of here.

The plane was owned by Paul Kaminakey, of Earlville, Ill., who had landed in it a few moments before Glassburn and Kaiser took off. The two Dixon men were planning to buy the ship. They were still alive when taken from the plane but died a few minutes later. Glassburn was a licensed pilot.

Chicago Hoodlum Slain; Seek 'Woman in Green'

Chicago, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Herman Horwitz, 38, minor hoodlum, was shot to death in his car early this morning on a North Side street and police began a search for a "woman in green" who was suspected of having pointed out the victim to the assassins.

Witnesses said the woman talked with Horwitz for some time before two men fired six shots into his body. Horwitz's brother, Benjamin, was slain by gangsters a year ago and his pal, Frank Cawley, was left dead two years ago by killers who put seven cents in his hand, a grim epitaph that meant he was "cheap." Horwitz's reputation was that of a hijacker. He had been twice arrested for robbery.

HURTS IN AUTO LEAP COST WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Ann N. Sparks, 40, Dies in Hospital; Fled Car When Attacked.

Injuries she received when she leaped from an automobile on the Defense highway near Lanham, Md., August 1, in an alleged attempt to escape an assault by two men companions, yesterday proved fatal to Mrs. Ann Noble Sparks, 40 years old. She died in Sibley Hospital.

Her death leaves an opening for still more serious charges against two young men accused in connection with the tragedy. One of the pair is held in Washington as a fugitive from justice from Prince Georges County, Md., where warrants were sworn against him charging attempted criminal assault and robbery. The other, charged in similar warrants, is out under bond and was being sought by police last night.

Deputy Sheriff Tom Garrison, who swore to the warrants against William P. Dermott, 23 years old, of Bowling Green, Va., and Howell R. Boulden, 23, of 2140 N street northwest, was to have conferred with District police officials on the case last night, but did not appear at police headquarters here.

Since Mrs. Sparks' death there is a possibility that Deputy Garrison will swear out warrants charging either second degree murder or manslaughter against Dermott and Boulden. Boulden is the man held in jail in the District and Dermott is out under bond and is being sought by police in the light of the latest development in the case.

Police say Mrs. Sparks was struck by an automobile driven by Jesse Cobb, of Bladensburg, when she leaped from an automobile in which Der-

Snake Victim Refusing Medical Aid Improves

Big Sandy, Tenn., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Maintaining her opposition to medical treatment, Mrs. Lois Guire, middle Tennessee evangelist, today apparently was making progress toward recovery from a rattlesnake bite.

"Sister Smothers," as she is called, said she had "talked with God in an unknown tongue," and she continued her prayers in an effort to regain strength to resume revival services here.

Von Gronau Is Safe In West Greenland

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Wolfgang von Gronau, German aviator, who is flying to America by way of Greenland, landed safely today at Sukkertoppen, West Greenland.

The Danish cruiser Hvidbjornen is now in Greenland waters proceeding to Sukkertoppen with a supply of gasoline.

SOLDIERS DESCEND ON TEXAS OIL AREA

Kilgore, Tex., Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Booted and spurred officers of the Texas National Guard tonight arrived in the vast east Texas oil fields centering about Kilgore, to choose billets for 800 troopers, who tomorrow are expected to close down this second greatest oil field in the world.

The vanguard of the army advanced from all parts of Texas under orders of Gov. Ross Sterling. Every train, every bus, brought its quota of officers.

So erect they almost leaned backward, so stern as to amaze the genial crowds which gathered to watch their arrival, the officers detrained and stalked off to the city hall to check maps of the field. Others then splashed off in the mud to pick camp sites for the troops.

Kilgore watched their coming with about an equal share of joy and disappointment. Many producers in the field have petitioned the governor to close the wells, but a large element still favors unrestricted production.

Lieut. Col. H. H. Carmichael, assistant to Adjt. Gen. W. W. Sterling, was one of the first to come. It was understood he would be in command here pending arrival tomorrow of Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, who will be in command.

Alcom T. Crim, oil millionaire, who is mayor of this boom oil town, was at the station to greet him, accompanied by about half the male population of Kilgore.

Texas rangers, headed by the famous man hunter, Capt. Tom Hickman, arrived by automobile. They will make all actual arrests for violations of the martial-law decree expected tomorrow.

Meanwhile guardsmen were being mustered over the State. At Fort Worth 250 men boarded buses for the journey here. They were expected early tomorrow, and other detachments will follow within a few hours. Horses for the men are being shipped here.

Upon arrival, it was learned, the troops will be scattered widely through the 146,000 acres comprising the field.

Then, unless everyone in Texas has guessed wrongly, they will await only an order from Austin to begin their ride among the derricks, closing down the wells which last week, in the face of a call for a voluntary shutdown, produced 788,000 barrels of crude oil daily to set an all-time record.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Military occupation of the huge east Texas oil field began tonight, although Gov. Ross Shaw Sterling still had not issued his promised proclamation of martial law to curb uncontrolled production.

The martial law proclamation has been written, but Gov. Sterling sent word from his office that it would not be issued until troops were in the fields.

It was learned from a reliable source, however, that Gov. Sterling's

'101' Show Still Unmoved As 50 Laborers Shy at Job

Crew Imported From Baltimore Decides to Go Home After Talking With Employes; Animals Going Short of Fodder, Doctor Reports.

Efforts to dislodge unpaid showmen from the circus grounds and move the stranded 101 Ranch Wild West Show back to Oklahoma met with fresh failure yesterday, notwithstanding a court order paving the way for the shipment.

W. M. "Egypt" Thompson, Richmond carnival man brought here to move the show, dispatched 50 laborers here from Baltimore yesterday. They looked the job over, talked a while with employes and decided to go back to Baltimore.

Meanwhile the 392 employes, broke but amply supplied with food by the District Department of the American Legion, took their plight philosophically. Indians amused themselves shooting bows and arrows, others pitched horseshoes, others played cards.

Dr. W. B. Davis, circus physician, declared the animals are not getting enough to eat, or proper care, and that complaint was made yesterday by the Humane Society. Since Judge Cox enjoined employes from interfering with the show's movement West, the showmen, he said, have not felt they are responsible for feeding or caring for stock.

He said the elephants, normally accustomed to 800 pounds of hay a day, only got 300 pounds Saturday and nothing yesterday.

John Heap, secretary of the Humane Society, said last night that an agent of the society, Hugh McDermott, has been on the circus lot ever since the crisis in animal feeding arose, and will return "the first thing today" to see that the animals are properly fed.

Mr. Heap said that if employes of the show were unable to feed their charges the society would probably be forced to take over the job.

"We can't let them starve," he said.

Complaints would be filed against any persons responsible, in case an absolute refusal to feed the animals is met, according to Mr. Heap.

Dr. Davis declared the owners of the show, represented here by Fred Olmstead, and Mr. Thompson, are defeated, but won't admit it. He said,

$500,000 OFFER IN SENATE RACE OF '26 CHARGED

Frank L. Smith Declares Rosenwald Sought His Withdrawal.

BARRED REPUBLICAN ISSUES OPEN LETTER

Merchant Prince, Ill at Home, Held to Have Supported Independent.

Chicago, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Frank L. Smith, who was refused a seat in the United States Senate after his election in 1926, stated tonight in an open letter to Prof. Carroll H. Woody, of the University of Chicago, that Julius Rosenwald, Chicago millionaire, offered him 10,000 shares of Sears-Roebuck stock to withdraw from the senatorial race of 1926.

Mr. Smith quoted Mr. Rosenwald as saying, in a conversation October 3, 1926, in the Congress Hotel in Chicago: "If you will withdraw from the senatorial race, I am here to offer you 10,000 shares of Sears-Roebuck stock." Mr. Smith added that he "declined the offer without hesitation."

Apprised of the Smith letter, Lessing Rosenwald, son of the philanthropist, issued the following statement:

Rosenwald Confined to Bed.

"Mr. Rosenwald has been confined to his bed for the past four months and that nothing may retard his recovery his physician has given strict orders that all controversial matters be withheld from his consideration."

Prof. Wooddy is the author of a recently published book, "The Case of Frank L. Smith."

Prof. Wooddy took cognizance of Smith's letter in a statement which declared that he had "no comment to make on the alleged details of the interview between Mr. Smith and Mr. Rosenwald in October, 1926, which are best known to the principals themselves."

"I note with regret, however," his statement continues, "that Mr. Smith has selected as the moment for launching a reported new campaign for public office at a time when Mr. Rosenwald's prolonged illness makes it difficult for him to speak for himself in the matter.

Hopes for Complete Story.

"I venture to express the hope that he will give us now the whole story of the 1926 campaign, including the terms and conditions of his campaign contributions. In that case I should be delighted to add some interesting paragraphs to the next edition of 'The Case of Frank L. Smith.'"

In his open letter, distributed to the press tonight in printed form, Mr. Smith reminded the author that he had described himself in the preface as being "animated only by a passion for facts," and he wrote what he suggested might be incorporated in future editions as an "omitted chapter of facts."

Mr. Smith stated that Rosenwald was the chief sponsor for Hugh S. Magill, who ran as an "independent Republican" in the campaign which resulted in Mr. Smith's election and his subsequent denial of a seat in the Senate after an investigation into his campaign contributions.

Only Two at Interviews.

The meeting on October 3, 1926, was arranged at the request of Mr. Rosenwald, Mr. Smith asserted. He and his brother-in-law, C. J. Ahern, engaged rooms at the Congress Hotel shortly before noon, Mr. Smith said; and "promptly at noon Rosenwald arrived." Mr. Smith and Mr. Rosenwald were the only ones in the room during the interview, Mr. Smith said, Mr. Ahern remaining outside.

Mr. Rosenwald told him, Mr. Smith continued, that he could not be seated even if he were elected senator, that Mr. Rosenwald was supporting Mr. Magill and had disclosed in a recent meeting of Republicans he would put up $500,000 if he thought Mr. Magill could be elected.

Mr. Smith, writing in the third person and purporting to quote Mr. Rosenwald, continued his account of the conversation.

"'Now I want to say something to you, not in the interest of any can-

CUBAN REBEL CHIEFS CAPTIVES IN HAVANA

Havana, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Eleven wearied men, among them former President Mario G. Menocal, who left Havana nine days ago to lead a revolution, they hoped would blast President Gerardo Machado from power, came back today, prisoners of war aboard a gunboat.

With their coming, the uprising—sporadic skirmishing that has taken, according to an official count, 72 lives—apparently died, although government troops in Santa Clara Province were reinforced.

Cabana Fortress, towering over the harbor into which the gunboat Fernandez Quevedo, escorted by the cruisers Cuba and Baire, slowly steamed this morning, opened up its walls to receive Gen. Menocal, president from 1913 to 1921, Col. Carlos Mendieta and the other members of the general staff, who surrendered late Friday in the wilds of Pinar del Rio Province.

Emaciated Before Surrender.

They were emaciated, the eleven, by hours of fasting before their surrender. They were worn by the rigors of march and flight about hilly, wild Pinar del Rio, While troops, for days, pressed ever closer upon them. Their clothing was torn and dirty, their faces were heavily bearded.

None spoke, save Mendieta. In a violent expletive he expressed disgust and disappointment with the termination of their campaign.

While newspapermen clustered silently about and cameras clicked, automobiles carried the eleven, heavily guarded, from the Tiscornia Naval Base, where the Fernandez Quevedo docked, to the fortress, where they awaited President Machado's pleasure. All felt the bitterness of defeat that weighed down the shoulders of Mendieta and lined the face of Menocal, his head high and his slender figure erect, in sharp contrast to the disarray of his clothing.

Meanwhile, the government prepared to put a swift end to the lingering fires of revolution in Santa Clara Province, where President Machado went early Thursday morning.

Penate Makes Overtures.

Col. Roberta Mendez Penate, insurgent leader, was reported this morning to have sent emissaries asking what terms of surrender would be granted him. Col. Auerlia Hevia, another, was expected soon to do likewise.

Three thousand fresh troops, including the entire tactical unit in Camaguey and two trainloads from Havana, have been poured into Santa Clara in the last 24 hours, to reinforce the government troops under Maj. Emiliano Amiel and 1,400 soldiers sent him earlier this week. Six of the government's 22 airplanes are operating there. The government said it expected to "clean up the Santa Clara situation in two or three days."

Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim, who has been reported here and in speculative Washington dispatches to have acted for mediation, left Havana early this morning and it was said at his residence that he would return about 3 o'clock. It was denied he had gone to Santa Clara.

Army headquarters reported tonight the surrender of additional insurgents, the seizure of arms and scattering without casualty of one small group at Camaguey.

A telegram from President Machado to Secretary of War and Navy Carlos Rojas, congratulated him and the armed forces for their conduct.

The government forbade all Havana newspapers to publish any news except that supplied by the chief of staff of military centers. All commentaries on military events were prohibited and the papers were ordered to confine themselves strictly to the narration of actual events.

Envoy Here Plans Trip To Cuba, Havana Hears

Havana, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Advices to the government from New York today said Cuban Ambassador Orestes Ferrara had secured passage to return here. His visit was said to be induced by the present uprising.

Cuban Ambassador Orestes Ferrara is in New York, it was admitted last night at the Cuban Embassy, but attaches there said they were ignorant of any plans he had for returning to Havana.

Woman Takes Poison in Street.

An unidentified woman about 25 years old took a small quantity of poison last night while walking on Seventeenth street near Pennsylvania avenue northwest. She refused to give her name or address to police. She was treated at Emergency Hospital. Her condition is not believed to be serious.

THESE LADY BIRDS TO DARE OCEAN FLIGHTS

Here are five of America's foremost women fliers who aspire to ocean flying fame. Ruth Nichols, Laura Ingalls and Elinor Smith, all of New York, hope to be the first woman to fly alone across the Atlantic. Mrs. Geraldine Loffredo, Buffalo, N. Y., pilot, expects to fly to Rome with a navigator. Mrs. Juanita Burns, Los Angeles aviatrix, is in Seattle preparing for a nonstop flight to Tokyo.

U. S. ARCHITECTURE SYSTEM CRITICIZED

Institute Head Asserts New Ideas Have Little Chance in Treasury.

(Associated Press.)

The Government's policy in its building program was criticized yesterday by Robert D. Kohn, of New York, president of the American Institute of Architects, who said the emergency public works' plan would be speeded up by the employment of more able private architects.

He said in a statement that Federal architecture was endanged by the inability of new ideas and new impulses to make headway against the fixed procedure of the Treasury Department staff.

"New ideas and new impulses make slow headway against such fixtures," he said.

In an exchange recently with Senator Fletcher (Democrat), Florida, Assistant Secretary Heath, of the Treasury Department, said statements the Government's building programs were being held up by lack of blueprints were inaccurate.

Senator Fletcher had said the program had been retarded because the work had not been allotted to private architects.

Mr. Heath replied that private architects had been employed on 109 projects, calling for expenditures of $227,612,000.

$500,000 OFFER TO QUIT RACE ALLEGED BY BARRED SENATOR

didate, but just because I am a Republican and because I am interested in the Republican party and the State of Illinois.

"'After the meeting the other day I went to an inner room to take a siesta upon orders from my doctor. While lying there thinking, I had a brainstorm. I thought to myself, "If I will give $500,000 to have Magill elected, why not give Frank Smith $500,000 and have him withdraw?"

"'No one knows what I am about to say to you except my wife, whose consent I had to get before I could make the offer, and no one else will know from me.

"'If you will withdraw from the senatorial race, I am here to offer you 10,000 shares of Sears-Roebuck stock the moment you sign your withdrawal notice. In a few months that stock will be worth three-quarters of a million dollars.

"'You can give as your reason for withdrawing that your health won't permit you to make the campaign or any other reason you want to give. The 10,000 shares of stock will be deposited in escrow in any bank you name, to be turned over to you when your withdrawal occurs.'"

Insull Donation Held Bar.

Mr. Smith, still writing in the third person his suggested chapter for Prof. Wooddy's book, continues:

"'I am astounded,' Mr. Smith said, 'at the turn of mind that some of you moralists have. You think that a campaign contribution by Mr. Insull (Samuel Insull, utilities magnate) has unfitted me to be a representative of Illinois in the Senate?'

"'Unfortunately, yes,' said Mr. Rosenwald.

"'But you also think,' continued Mr. Smith, 'that for three quarters of a million dollars it is all right for me to sell to you for my own benefit what 650,000 people as American citizens gave me in their confidence.'

"To which Mr. Rosenwald replied, 'Oh, you do not put it fairly. You have a perfect right to withdraw if you want to.'

"Mr. Rosenwald then said he did not think an election would vindicate Mr. Smith.

Would Not Be Vindicated.

"'I think you will be elected,' he went on, 'but that will not be a vindication. You will always have a feeling of hurt, which will be accentuated by the continuous attacks upon you. These attacks will ruin your health. Your election will not be worth the effort and the suffering. You can live more happily by not being a candidate; you can enjoy life, and have plenty of money to do it with.'

"Mr. Smith declined the offer without hesitation, whereupon Mr. Rosenwald said, 'Well, all my cards are on the table.'

"Mr. Smith replied, 'There is no reason for discussing this matter further. If I believed that my candidacy would injure my party, I would withdraw without consideration, but you are the first individual who has spoken to me about such action.'"

A later conversation which Smith said took place during the 1928 Republican national convention at Kansas City was related by him, as follows:

"Mr. Rosenwald said, 'Well, everything happened to you that I told you would happen, didn't it?'

"'Yes, as per schedule,' said Mr. Smith.

"'You are the first man I have known to refuse a million dollars,' said Mr. Rosenwald.

"'No, the woods are full of them, and most of them would have been less courteous in refusing you than I was,' said Mr. Smith."

Mr. Smith wrote that the market price on 10,000 shares of Sears, Roebuck stock was $555,000 in October, 1926, and $1,975,000 in November, 1928.

Boston Common Invaded by Picnic

Boston, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The Rev. E. A. Earchman, pastor of the Bedford Park United Church of Toronto, Ont., has a yearning for the great outdoors.

Today the minister, accompanied by his wife, his sister-in-law, Miss Wilma Humphries, and his father-in-law, Charles Humphries, decided that historic old Boston Common would be "just the place" to partake lunch.

So, in the heart of Boston—and in sight of the State Capitol—the Rev. Earchman built a campfire, set up a folding table and chairs, and proceeded, much to the amazement of passing Bostonians, to prepare lunch.

"I thought it would be just the place for lunch," declared the minister before leaving.

Owner of Yacht Drowned in Race

Plymouth, Eng., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The first fatality in the famous Cowes-Fastnet-Plymouth Yacht Race was reported today in a radiogram from the trawler Dunraven Castle which stated that Col. C. Hudson, owner of the British yacht Maintenes II, had been washed overboard and lost somewhere near the south coast of Ireland.

The trawler picked up the crew of the Maintense and the yacht itself was abandoned.

The American yacht Dorade, owned by Olin Stephens of Scarsdale, N. Y., and winner of the recent transatlantic race from Newport, R. I., to Plymouth, finished the race yesterday and was viewed as an almost certain winner. The Water Gypsy, another American boat, apparently had placed second.

All told, nine yachts had reached Plymouth late today and eight more were expected tonight or tomorrow. Official announcement of the winner is anticipated tomorrow or Tuesday.

Royal Spat Stirs Gossip in Balkans

Marie of Jugoslavia Does Not Attend Husband's Anniversary Fete.

Zagreb, Jugoslavia, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The fact that Queen Marie of Jugoslavia, who is a daughter of Dowager Queen Marie of Roumania, did not come here to be with her husband, King Alexander, for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of his accession to the throne provided a topic for considerable speculation today.

Queen Marie has remained in Roumania ever since she went there to attend the wedding of her sister, Princess Ileana, to Archduke Anton of Hapsburg, on July 26.

King Alexander did not attend the wedding, and a report which was widely circulated here said the queen was annoyed at her husband's failure to go.

She now is living at Dowager Queen Marie's castle at Baltchik and today she attended a naval review at Constanza, while King Alexander spent his tenth anniversary shooting on his summer estate at Pijesak.

Short-Term Credit Still Basel Topic

Bankers Take Cognizance of Difficulties Facing Berlin Creditors.

Basel, Switzerland, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The international committee of bankers considering Germany's credit needs took cognizance at its meeting here today of the difficulties which have arisen among Germany's creditors in the way of extending existing short-term credits in that country.

While representatives of the creditors were busy all day in private conversations with German delegates, the bankers, headed by Albert H. Wiggin, of New York, continued examination of Sir Walter Layton's report reviewing the whole situation.

It was announced the committee definitely had decided against going to Berlin and hoped to finish its task Wednesday. Before that time it expects to have available the conclusions of representatives of different groups of Germany's creditors, on which the committee's decisions largely will depend.

Presbyterian Gift Decrease Shown

Northern Branch Increases Its Membership Over Last Year.

Philadelphia, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—A decrease of $4,876,682 in contributions to church causes for the year ended March 31, 1931, as compared with the preceding year, was reported today by the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

In making public the annual statistical review, Dr. Lewis Seymour Mudge, state clerk of the general assembly, said the decline reflected the general financial depression.

Total contributions were $58,171,381. It was the first time since 1925 they had fallen below $60,000,000. The major decrease was that of $4,079,496 in local congregational receipts.

An increase of 15,023 was reported in the communicant membership, which at the end of March totaled 1,999,131. The total Sunday School membership was 1,620,496, an increase of 24,466.

WICKERSHAM GROUP IS SPLIT IN REPORT ON CRIME CAUSES physical, social, economic and mental fetaures of considerable importance.

Notwithstanding this material and a mass of original data it listed but did not print, the commission said in its three-paragraph preface:

"We find it impossible comprehensively to discuss the causes of crime or factors in nonobservance of law. Criminology in remaking, the social sciences are in transition and the foundations of behavior are in dispute.

"It would serve no useful purpose to put forth theories as to criminality or nonobservance of law, either generally or in America, on the basis of some one current psychology or social philosophy, with the certainty that it represents but one phase of the thought of the time and will not long hold ground. * * *"

Shaw and McKay, in their lengthy study, traced back to their homes thousands of boys who had committed crimes in Chicago over a number of years.

Foreign Born Are Noted.

They submitted data showing that the definite sections which turned out the major portions of delinquents contributed equally to adult crime. Finding that immigrants or children of the foreign born contributed heavily to the total of crime, they reported also that when these same children moved into other sections they were less often delinquent.

They charged the specific areas of the city with not only failing to prevent crime through social organization, but actually contributing to it the presence of highly organized gangs, the prevalence of 'fences,' who induce the boys to steal for them, the general attitudes of indifference, or the low neighborhood resistance to crime, and the widespread knowledge of political corruption and the alliance between crime and politics."

Accepting these conclusions, Col. Anderson in his report recommended prompt action to remove slums in cities and also the underprivileged areas in the rural sections, which he maintained contributed similarly to crime.

Rum Operations Cited.

Prohibition was not dwelt upon directly, but Pioscowe, in his analysis of literature upon the causes of crime, said:

"When particular types of organized criminal activities are examined, the operation of other contributory factors become evident. The activities of the bootlegging gangs, termed the greatest menace of organized crime by the Illinois Crime Survey, with their consequent toll of homicide, murder and violence, would not be possible without the demand for intoxicating liquors and the tremendous profits to be made in supplying it."

Quoting from another report on police made by the Illinois Crime Survey, Pioscowe said it indicated that police protection was not confined merely to protecting gambling houses, speakeasies, etc., but that "it is quite probable that a large share of the responsibility for the practice of taking protection money, with its consequent demoralization of police forces, is due to the attempt to enforce laws against such activities; that is, laws not completely in accord with community opinion."

LABOR TO SEEK HELP OF NONVOTING WETS

Plan to Organize 15,000,000 Who Are Not Registered Is Announced.

(Associated Press.)

A move on the part of organized labor to register 15,000,000 nonregistered voters in the United States in the interest of modification of the liquor laws was announced yesterday by labor's national committee for modification of the Volstead act.

The committee estimated there was a possible total of nearly 20,000,000 voters, ordinarily absent from the polls, who might be registered.

"You will undoubtedly find," said a letter to local branches of the organization, "that the overwhelming majority of this great unregistered army of voters is favorable to modification, and it is entirely possible that registration of these eligible but unregistered voters in many cases will decide an election."

J. N. Ornburn, secretary of the committee, said his organization, headed by Matthew Woll, was operating under the direction of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor.

Two of the country's major wet and dry organizations today stand sponsor for conflicting claims that the people of the United States were two to one against prohibition and three to one in favor of it.

Attacking a recent statement by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which said antiprohibition sentiment was double that for prohibition, F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Antisaloon League, said yesterday in a telegram from his summer headquarters at Little Point Sable, Mich., that the association was "tragically wrong" in its claim.

"The prohibitory laws remain upon the statute books not because the dry leaders of the country are such supermen as represented by their wet opponents," McBride said, "but because the overwhelming majority of the American people want even more prohibition than they have today."

McBride said he believed the "wets are right in their statement just broadcast to the effect that no pussyfooter can win the next election."

"The impatience of the wet group to secure modification or repeal of national prohibition," he said, "seems to be based upon a growing recognition of the fact that the longer prohibition remains on the statute books the better the quality of its observance as well as the quality of its enforcement."

Illiteracy Reduced In New York City

(Associated Press.)

Two of the three R's and presumably the third have become better known to New York City's foreign-born white population during the last ten years.

Census Bureau statistics yesterday disclosed that illiteracy among the city's foreign born is now 10.7 per cent, as compared to 13.8 per cent who couldn't read or write a decade ago.

Total illiteracy among persons 10 years of age or older in the metropolis declined 1.7 per cent from 281,121 in 1920 to 264,606 in 1930. Illiterates ten years ago represented 6.2 per cent of the population, against 4.5 last year.

Commission Curbs Unfair Competing

Rules for Face Brick and Crushed Stone Trade Are Drawn.

(Associated Press.)

Stipulations intended to prevent unfair competition in the face brick and crushed stone industries were announced yesterday by the Federal Trade Commission in new trade practice rules for each.

The commission said the new codes had been accepted by the two industries, which helped to draw them. Part of the rules were laid down by the commission as covering methods in violation of the law, while the others were suggestions from the industries.

THIRD PARTY LINE-UP IS FORECAST IN POLL

Action Will Follow Meeting by Dr. Dewey's Group in September.

New York, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The League for Independent Political Action, of which Dr. John Dewey is head, announced today it is conducting a poll of progressives throughout the country on the question of the part it will take in the 1932 presidential campaign.

Ballots are being sent to progressive trade unionists, agricultural leaders, heads of third party political groups and to progressives affiliated with the two major political parties.

Howard Y. Williams, executive secretary of the league, in a letter accompanying the ballot outlined the present situation, which he said was increasing in seriousness. He recently returned from a trip through the Middle West, where he held conferences with progressives in Minnesota, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

He said leaders of the Minnesota Farmer-Labor party favored calling a conference in January to draw up demands and a progressive program for the country and to determine whether a third party convention should be called next March or April in an effort to bring together progressive groups for the 1932 campaign.

"Similar convictions have been expressed by outstanding Socialist leaders, progressive trade union leaders and heads of farm organizations," he said. "If a united third party ticket is put in the field in 1932 by such a convention held next March, it would give us seven months of active campaigning to present the vital issues to the voters."

Results of the poll will be considered by the executive committee of the league at its September meeting, and final action taken at that time.

EXTRA JOBLESS TAX IS URGED IN BRITAIN

omy. The scheme, it will say, involves a program to enforce a reduction in the cost of living.

The forecast will outline the following points:

1. A saving of $30,000,000 by halting road building plans.

2. A reduction of $2,375,000 in the grant to the British Broadcasting Co.

3. Cuts in salaries of cabinet members and members of Parliament, about $250 less for Parliament members per year.

4. Enforcement of a reduction in the cost of living.

5. A cut in civil service salaries; a 10 per cent reduction of teachers' salaries.

6. A 1 per cent tax on fixed income-bearing investments.

7. Reduction of the rate of doctors' fees.

8. Reduction by 50 cents a week of unemployed benefits but an increase in contributions to extend the scope of the fund.

An extremely serious situation prevails in Britain, Chancellor of Exchequer Philip Snowden told the Daily Herald today in an interview regarding the government's efforts to balance the budget.

"Measures must and will be taken commensurate with the gravity of the situation," he said, "but let me discountenance anything in the nature of panic.

"Economies will be drastic, but the emergency is only temporary. Fundamentally, our financial position is most sound. It is ridiculous to indicate Britain is on the verge of bankruptcy. The trouble is due to unfounded nervousness of foreign investors."

Lossiemouth, Scotland, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Prime Minister MacDonald said here today, just before leaving for London, that reports a manifesto will be issued by party leaders calling for voluntary cuts in salaries and wages as one means of making up the budget deficit were "pure inventions."

"No proposal has been made," the prime minister said, "for a temporary, all-around cut in wages and salaries. The whole thing is ridiculous. I regard the stories about a manifesto on lower wages as sheer, malicious inventions.

"There is nothing which, by any stretch of the imagination, could be made the basis of such a discreditable report."

The country, the prime minister added, is "as firm as the Bank of England."

berghs had good weather and unlimited visibility for their 554-mile trip, which lay along the bleak coastline of Kamchatka Peninsula.

On departing from Petropavlosk, the Lindberghs will fly over the Kurile Islands, which are fog and storm bound a greater part of the year. Their destination, Nemuro, is located on a promontory on the northeastern corner of Hokkaido Island and provides good landing facilities.

Officials and citizens of Nemuro were eager that the welcome to the Americans should be fitting, as it will be there the flying couple will first touch Japanese territory. Pylons and other decorations were already hung, giving the town a carnival air.

Preparations were made to light smoke pots on the shoreline to indicate the wind direction to the Lindberghs as soon as word was received of their take-off. School children, carrying American and Japanese flags, will be assembled for the welcoming.

Goobers, Honest Fruit Of Our Soil, Need Help

By JOHN J. DALY

A BAD year for circuses, the peanut growers will soon be asking relief of the Farm Board.

Beset with problems of cotton and wheat, the Board has yet to hear formally from the American Peanut Growers' Cooperative Association; but, in the language of agriculture, "It won't be long now."

There is a reason.

When the 101 Ranch, or Wild West Show, stranded in Washington, not long ago, and the "Greatest Show on Earth" hurriedly cancelled its summer engagements, going into winter quarters, a potential populace of peanut-eaters, numbered in the millions, was deprived of a favorite pastime—munching goobers in the grandstand.

Likewise, red lemonade was dealt a blow. Lemon growers are represented by at this moment preparing to advance on the Farm Board; but, as Kipling used to say, that is another story.

Goober growers of the Nation, whose crop is the outstanding contribution of the two Carolinas to the enjoyment of outdoors America, will come to Washington soon and lay their case before the frenzied members of the Farm Board, already worn to a frazzle trying to destroy one-third of the cotton crop and force up the price of wheat. Even when winding his watch, there was never a one-armed paperhanger so busy as the Farm Board.

* * * *

IN some quarters, of course, it will be said that this is peanut politics—carting another load of trouble to the Farm Board. However, advices from the peanut plantations show a sad State of affairs. The peanut men must have help.

When the circuses are running full blast, weather conditions propitious for picnicking and baseball yards filled to overflowing, the peanut crop is worth millions. Alas and alackaday! This season has been just one long-drawn-out source of worriment for the peanut industry.

Peanut vendors, celebrated in song and story, have had a hard time of it, trying to get rid of their little paper bags filled with the succulent fruit of a trailing plant that belongs to the bean family. Though that may seem prosaic, the efflorescence of the peanut plant sometimes takes on the beauty of the lily-of-the-valley and the effulgent black cherry, with the delicate fragrance of mignonette and honeysuckle.

On the open market, however, the crop is bereft. Where peanuts once brought the fabulous sum of ten cents a bag, it is now difficult to obtain prewar prices. A peanut-eater must have the proper environment. No circus, no peanuts.

If America is deprived of its peanuts, the Farm Board will have to answer to an irate citizenry. Cotton and wheat, for the time being, may be set aside as so much worthless worry. Not so the peanut. Let the Farm Board consider this and keep its line of retreat in good repair.

* * * *

THERE is no sight under high heaven more glorious than a ripening peanut crop. Its trifoliate leaves, blooming to a beauteous purple, have inspired painters and poets. A peanut patch in Picardy once stopped an invading army; but peanut patches in North Carolina, down by Nag's Head Bay, do better than that. They send ripples of romance running through the heart of the young, until troths are plighted—afterward to be blighted, of course—beneath the soft, Southern skies. Moonlight and peanuts are irresistible love potions.

Ah, the peanut! It has never been quite fully understood. Brought to the attention of the Farm Board, as its growers have every intention of doing, the Nation-wide publicity ensuing will center attention on the only staple that is really American, and make the Nation again peanut-conscious.

Almost every other plant can be traced to foreign shores. The peanut originated here, with the American Indian. Afterwards, it went overseas to clutter the ancient market-places with its straw-like encasement; but not, of course, as it has covered the sidewalks of New York and the streets of other American cities.

Here the peanut is a symbol, denoting a care-free and happy people, sitting in grandstands, drinking sody-pop, and munching at the yellow pods that contain such nutriment. It has more than this to commend it, however. The Smithfield ham would not be the Ham What Am were it not for the shoats that bear it, in the original state, being fed on the huskings of the peanut patch.

The hams, afterwards hung in the smoke-house, develop their slender state of corpulency and their aromatic flavor by drying out under fires made from peanut vines. So the peanut performs miracles of which the general run of humanity knows nothing.

Sweets to the sweet, and peanuts to the Farm Board!

Moonshine Raids Follow 4 Killings

Wholesale Forays Made; Stuff Declared Cheap and Plentiful.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Wholesale raids on moonshine whisky dispensaries here and elsewhere over the State constituted today's aftermath of last week's quadruple torch murders near here.

Blaming bootleg liquor for the savage slayings of two young couples last Tuesday morning and for other recent crimes of violence, Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker ordered a State-wide drive and Oscar G. Olander, State commissioner of public safety, mobilized State police to put the order in effect.

"The stuff makes maniacs of those who drink it," Commissioner Olander declared, "and the sad part of it is that young boys and girls are the addicts, because moonshine is cheap and plentiful."

In their confessions of the murders, David T. Blackstone, Fred Smith and Frank Oliver indicated they were drunk when they killed the two couples and burned their bodies.

DEATH TO BE ASKED FOR HARLAN MINERS

Court Term in Kentucky to Open Today With 30 Accused of Murder.

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Determination to demand the death penalty for more than 30 men charged with murder in the Harlan County coal fields labor controversy was expressed here today by Commonwealth Attorney W. A. Brock, on the eve of the opening of the August term of Harlan Circuit Court, with 335 cases on the docket. Nearly all of the cases grew out of disorders in the coal fields since part of the miners walked out last February, rather than accept a 10 per cent wage cut.

There are 102 murder indictments against 31 men to be taken up. Bill Burnett, a miner, is under indictment for the murder of Jess Pace, a deputy sheriff, in a row over the arrest of miners.

Indictments charging banding against officers of the law, looting of grocery stores and criminal syndicalism also are before the court, with the grand jury meeting tomorrow to take up new cases.

Numerous cases still await grand jury action. Among these are the cases of Mrs. Jessie London Wakefield, representative of the International Labor Defense, and Arnold Johnson, representative of the American Civil Liberties Union. Both are in jail in default of bond of $5,000 each on criminal syndicalism charges and $5,000 peace bond each.

Mrs. Wakefield said today she is willing to make the bond on the criminal syndicalism charge, but not the peace bond. County officials offered to drop the charge against her if she would leave the community. Instead she has been in the woman's ward of the jail for a week, refusing to make bond.

"I'll stay in jail rather than leave the miners," Mrs. Wakefield said today. She said the International Labor Defense and the I. W. W. are backing the miners and are helping defray expenses of the trials.

The penalty for conviction of criminal syndicalism is from 2 to 20 years' imprisonment.

Sheriff Blair said he is prepared for any demonstration tomorrow, but is doubtful that there will be any.

Admission to the courthouse will be by one entrance only and no one will be allowed to enter after the courtroom is filled. All persons entering will be searched, the sheriff said.

Last night a fiery cross was seen high up on one of the nearby hills. It was the second time it has been seen in a week.

Windows Smashed In Irish Conflicts

Shop Is Burned in Lisburn and Rioters Do Damage in County Armagh.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Window-smashing occurred in two places in Ireland last night, as clashes continued between "the Orange and the Green."

At Portadown, County Armagh, a fight occurred between Orangemen and Republicans, and a bakery and other business houses, including a public house operated by a prominent Nationalist, were damaged. A crowd afterward entered the reading and recreation rooms in St. Catherine's Hall, smashing every window.

In Lisburn, near Belfast, a shop was burned and stones were hurled into the parish house.

Four arrests were made in Armagh City. Later a special constabulary was mobilized and undertook patrol duty.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 16

DOES the waterfront in the Capital look like this today? The answer is, it does not, for this photograph is considerably older than most of the boats now plying the Potomac and the skyline along the river has been altered a dozen times since.

The group of gentlemen in the picture are members of the quartermaster's corps of the Union Army and they are seated or standing just outside the quartermaster's office, then located along the river where many of the supplies were received.

Washington was considerably younger then and its future was rather uncertain. Notice the variety in the style of men's hats in those days and the prevalence of sideburns and beards. It just wasn't stylish to be without one or the other.

HOOVER COMBINES REST AND POLITICS

Chats With Hilles, but Not About Possible Drafting of Coolidge.

Luray, Va., Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Informal politics and leisure were combined by President Hoover in about equal parts for his sixteenth weekend of the summer season at Camp Rapidan today.

Charles D. Hilles, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, furnished a political atmosphere and was the guest who chatted most with the President on subjects of the day. Hilles was a leader of the "Draft Coolidge" movement prior to the 1928 Kansas City convention and he is one of the most influential Republican leaders in the country.

Since the installation of the Hoover regime, however, he has not played such a prominent part in national Republican affairs.

His visit at the Rapidan camp naturally aroused speculation, but there was no indication that the prominence of former President Coolidge's name in political discussion at this time came in for any consideration. The camp spokesman laughed at a published report that Hilles had been called by the President to stop the incipient "Draft Coolidge" movement now being discussed.

Their informal chats were about other matters, it was indicated, general Republican prospects for 1932, business conditions, and how the new Republican national committee publicity set-up is working.

It was pointed out by Mr. Hoover's friends that he would hardly concern himself directly with any discussion about a third term for Mr. Coolidge, certainly not at this stage of the proceedings.

The Coolidge talk has been widespread since Mr. Coolidge's former White House physician, Dr. James F. Coupal, was quoted two weeks ago as saying his former chief would be available only if drafted. Those who watch politics closely have commented also upon the fact that Mr. Coolidge's former secretary, E. T. Clark, was a guest of Mr. Hoover at the Rapidan last week.

The guests at camp held an interesting community meeting with the President this morning in front of "Town Hall," the camp recreational center. The guests included Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Army chief of staff; Assistant Secretary of War Payne, Wilbur Forrest, of the New York Herald Tribune, and Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, of the U. S. Public Health Service. Dr. and Mrs. Cumming arrived with Mrs. Hoover, who motored to the camp last night from Newport News, Va., where she christened two new steamships.

Mr. Hoover plans to return tomorrow to Washington to take up again his plan for unemployment relief this winter. All his papers dealing with this situation were left at the White House this week-end.

The GIRL About Town

I MET Ambassador Debuchi and the six visiting members of the Japanese Parliament at a shop where the ambassador was getting cherry tree postals for souvenirs. He was most gracious in presenting me, and we had an animated chat. The ambassador only smiled when I asked about our fliers taking pictures over their fortifications. He is too practiced a diplomat to comment.

My fan mail is growing. I feel as if I were Mary Pickford. I read every letter that comes in. Some of them are amusing, but all seem to enjoy the column. I am trying to make it interesting, but never unkind. I have brought about proposals already to two charming girls.

• • • •

WISHED Ralph Snowden Hill "bon voyage" when I met him buying a memory book for the trip overseas. What became of that romance between Ralph and Eudora Clover? I saw Dora a year or two ago when she came from her ranch to meet Princess Margaret Boncompagni, her lifelong chum. Princess Margaret has gone modern since her marriage to the prince was annulled—bobbed hair and all the rest of it.

I was delighted to see Little Dupuy Steele again. Capt. Steele is stationed in Norfolk as commander of the air squadron of the Atlantic fleet, which means that he and Mrs. Steele will be in Washington a great deal this winter. Lillie was one of the women who did really effective war work. Her marriage with the flying captain was a real romance.

DON'T you miss Billy Eno? Of course, I know his name is William Phelps Eno, but all the girls call him "Billy" in private. He has "gone to Halifax"—really he has, but he'll come back. Washington has many attractions for him, and he has to keep those chalk lines at street crossings in good order. He should have a medal for starting them.

Then came the Coolidges, and now Vice President Curtis and the judge meet often at the Mayflower while the ladies talk fashions.

tained pensions for thousands who ought never have had them, but obtained other privileges which no former soldier should have asked for."

He said it was assumed during the World War that the insurance provided by the Government for soldiers would "prevent pensions raids on the Treasury in behalf of veterans such as followed the Civil War."

After praising Presidents Coolidge and Hoover for their bonus law vetoes, Mr. Pritchett said the passing by the Senate of the legislation vetoed by President Hoover was "an exhibition of reckless disregard for the interests of the people such as Congress has seldom shown.

"Plain notice," he added, "has been given to the United States that the leaders of the American Legion intend to raid the Treasury of the United States by the same process through which the G. A. R. was transformed from a patriotic society to a political subsidy-seeking organization. • • •

"Over 4,000,000 men wore the uniform. Some 766,850 of them belong to the American Legion. Of this number the majority pay their dues and take no part in the actual conduct of the organization. It is a small minority—the political colonels and captains and those who love the power of organization—who besiege weak senators and representatives in the name of 4,000,000 soldiers, and with the threat of the soldier vote. • • •

"The claim that the country owes a subsidy to every citizen who has served 60 or 90 days in its military service is an impudent and unwarranted claim. The moment a citizen calls on the Government for a subsidy, whether in the form of a bonus or an old-age pension, for a service that has neither affected unfavorably his health nor his ability to earn a living, he abandons his position as a patriot."

In the report of the foundation treasurer the present general endowment fund was disclosed to contain $16,801,000, while in the 25 years of the foundation's existence $20,000,000 has been given out in retiring allowances and pensions to professors.

SHOUSE DENOUNCES HOOVER'S JOB DATA

Democrat Claims President Minimizes Seriousness of Problem.

(Associated Press)

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, said yesterday that the country is entitled to more definite information on President Hoover's unemployment relief plans.

In a statement issued through the Democratic National Committee, Mr. Shouse said much of the Chief Executive's research seemed to be an effort to find out how many people will be out of work when the "snow flies."

"As usual," the statement added, "he minimizes the estimates already made."

Figures Are Challenged.

Figures on employment issued by Government departments were challenged by Mr. Shouse, who said the number out of work next January may be "a nice problem" to work out with "engineering playthings," but that what the country faces is "the necessity of taking care of all of them."

Mr. Shouse said that a comprehensive method of dealing with the unemployment situation was proposed by Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, during two Congresses, but that "administration influence and presidential veto prevented the fulfillment of this.

"On one point at least," he added, "we have a definite indication of the President's policy. He does not intend that there shall be anything in the nature of Government unemployment insurance."

Says Wagner Deposed.

Mr. Shouse said Senator Hebert (Republican), Rhode Island, "fresh from the President's presence, declared that a Government unemployment insurance system would eventually lead to the adoption of the dole policy."

The Democratic chairman added that Senator Hebert was chairman of a Senate committee, appointed to investigate systems of employment insurance.

He said Senator Wagner was designated as chairman of this committee but was deposed by the vote of the two Republican members, Senator Hebert and Senator Glenn, of Illinois.

Calls Verdict Premature.

"Now, without reference to the other members of the committee," Mr. Shouse said, "he (Herbert) announces his decision. This act is comparable to that of a judge proclaiming his verdict before any testimony is taken in a trial."

The Labor Department said yesterday that industrial employment dropped 2 per cent and pay rolls decreased 4.8 per cent during July, as compared with June Statistics covering 46,058 establishments in fifteen major industrial groups were made public by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The firms have 4,491,521 employes and pay rolls of $104,280,547.

July always is a month of employment and pay roll decreases, the bureau said. This is due to the Fourth of July holiday, inventory taking and repairs by many firms and curtailment of retail trade and coal mining.

Realty Man Found Slashed to Death

Razor Is Picked Up Some Distance From Body of Long Island Dealer.

New York, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—The body of Walter B. Mezick, well-to-do Long Island real estate dealer, was found tonight near the Bayside-Queens Village boundary line. His throat had been slashed, and a straight-edge razor was found 100 yards from the body.

Mezick and his wife lived in Jamaica, Queens. He had been missing since Thursday morning, and the family employed a private detective agency to search for him. Walter Knickman, an operative of the agency, found the body.

In the pockets of Mezick's trousers was found $24, although when he was last seen he was known to have had $500.

Members of Mezick's family said they knew of no reason why he should have committed suicide, declaring "he could go out tomorrow and get $50,000 on first mortgages alone." The place where the body was found is not far from a real estate development in which Mezick was interested.

F. A. TSCHIFFELY, 80, DEAD AT ROCKVILLE

Retired Head of Wholesale Drug Company Expires After Long Illness.

Frederick A. Tschiffely, 80 years old, well known in business circles in Washington and nearby Virginia and Maryland through the wholesale drug business he conducted in Washington for many years, died last night at his summer home near Rockville, Md., after a long illness.

Mr. Tschiffely was a member of the first board of directors organized for the Lincoln National Bank and served as a director until he began to withdraw from active business affairs.

As he began to give up participation in the actual affairs of his business interests some years ago he purchased the farm of his late father in Montgomery County and added to it, making it one of the largest and most valuable properties in the county.

Mr. Tschiffely was born May 7, 1851.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Dolly Brown Tschiffely, he is survived by five sons, Clifton L., Charles Scott, Stuart, Douglas and Claude; three daughters, Mrs. Ora Wiley, Mrs. Dolly T. Myers and Mrs. Cecil Issil; two sisters, Mrs. Kate Reichard and Miss Lou Tschiffely, all of Washington, and a brother, Albert L. Tschiffely, of Oklahoma.

Mr. Tschiffely lived at the Wardman Park Hotel in Washington. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

however, that employes will accept no compromise short of payoff.

"Three hours after they paid our back salary, we could have this show loaded and moving toward Oklahoma," he said.

J. J. McGinnis, chairman of the legion committee in charge of Saturday night's benefit for the showmen, said the slightly more than $1,000 realized has been turned over to Daniel Donovan, District auditor, who will equitably dispose of it after consulting the employes.

Johnny Downs, 20-year-old Abilene (Tex.) cowboy, was stricken with appendicitis yesterday, and a Casualty Hospital ambulance had to be summoned. Several months ago Downs was thrown from a broncho, friends said, and has not been well since.

Dr. Davis declared he holds a bill from Casualty Hospital amounting to more than $200. Many members of the troupe, he said, have required hospital treatment since the show became stranded, and no provision has been made for the payment of the debt.

Although District laws require all employers to carry compensation accident insurance and post a notice, naming the insurance company, in a conspicuous place about their property, Dr. Davis declared the owners of the show did not do this when it entered Washington.

Women Criticize Job Group's Head

(Associated Press).

The National Woman's Party yesterday issued a statement assailing Fred C. Croxton, acting chairman of the President's committee for employment, on his statement congratulating the Cotton Textile Institute on its recommendation that women and minors be dismissed from night work.

Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles, National vice chairman, said it was unjust that "a committee appointed by the Presideent to help solve the unemployment situation should advocate doing so by a deliberate policy of throwing women out of work in a time of Nation-wide depression."

She took exception to Mr. Croxton's statement that the cotton textile industry was an outstanding example of what an industry could do to set its house in order.

Instead, she said, the cotton industry "is trying to save itself at the expense of women workers, who are being added wholesale to the hordes of the unemployed."

WOMAN WHO LEAPED FROM CAR SUCCUMBS

mott and Boulden were riding with her.

The woman was taken to Sibley Hospital, where she at first refused to reveal the names of her companions on the ride. Police say she later named Dermott and Boulden as her companions and accused them of attempting to assault her. A $300 wrist watch she wore that night, together with her purse, was found in Boulden's room by Detective Sergt. Howard Ogle, according to police.

As an aftermath of the injuries to Mrs. Sparks, William H. Gordon, alias Jordan, of Wheaton, Md., and Thomas King, 26 years old, of 2100 Nineteenth street northwest, were arrested by District police on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon.

The two men are accused of taking Dermott and Boulden "for a ride" on August 2 and of beating them in revenge for the injuries to Mrs Sparks.

A. P. CRENSHAW DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Retired Telephone Official and Director of Bank Was 70 Years Old.

Augustus P. Crenshaw, an official of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. for 37 years and a director of the District National Bank since 1910, died yesterday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. Leslie McCrea, 3300 Cathedral avenue northwest. He was 70 years old and had been ill only a short time.

Mr. Crenshaw was born at Wyandotte, Va., son of Augustus P. and Elizabeth Parker Crenshaw. He was educated at Maryland Agricultural School, coming to Washington and entering employment of the telephone company three months after it had been organized.

In 1912 he was retired from the telephone company, holding the position of secretary and treasurer. Active in church work, he was treasurer and vestryman of St. Thomas' Church, Eighteenth and Church streets northwest, for 28 years and a member of the standing committee of the Diocese of Washington.

He is survived by two sons, Augustus P. Crenshaw, jr., 5921 Thirty-third street northwest, and John M. Crenshaw, 3300 Cathedral avenue northwest, and two daughters, Mrs. J. V. Morgan, of Edgemoor, Md., and Mrs. C. Leslie McCrea, of the Cathedral avenue address.

Service will be at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and burial will be at Oak Hill Cemetery.

CAPT. R. H. LEWIS DIES.

Army Officer Was on Leave of Absence From Texas Post.

Capt. Ralph H. Lewis, U. S. A., died suddenly Saturday at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate M. Shryock, of Hyattsville. Capt. Lewis was on leave from his post in Texas and had come East with his wife to visit the latter's mother.

He was a graduate of George Washington University, class of 1917, and of the Medical Field Service School in 1927, being appointed captain December 13, 1926.

Funeral services and interment will be at Arlington Cemetery tomorrow at an hour to be announced later.

QUAKES ROCK TEXAS ALONG BROAD FRONT

shocks with an accompaniment of rattling dishes and windows and shaken beds, but none reported any damage.

Tremors Last 38 Minutes.

Denver, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Recurring earthquakes shook west Texas and eastern New Mexico today. The main quake was of third-degree intensity, described as just short of being "highly destructive." It lasted 38 minutes, but was not felt for that whole time over the entire area.

Chimneys fell in at Carlsbad, N. Mex., and the city standpipe was badly damaged. Thirty miles away, at the famous Underground Caverns, the largest in the world, Superintendent Boles and workers of the United States Park Service, descended thousands of feet in the two elevators to the big room and carefully explored the 7 miles of caverns. They found no damage and later permitted parties of tourists to go down as usual into the underground wonderland. No one was in the caverns at the early hour the quakes struck.

El Paso Is Shaken.

El Paso was shaken. Hundreds fled their homes in night clothes. A number of windows were broken, and dishes slid from shelves. Workers on the twelfth floor of a downtown office building hurried down elevators to the street.

Southren Pacific Railroad telegraphers reported many adobe huts near Tucumcari, N. Mex., were cracked.

The tremors were reported by several residents of Albuquerque, where they were described as slight.

The seismograph at Regis College here made a perfect record of the quakes, and Father A. W. Forstall, seismologist, said they were "just on the verge of being highly destructive."

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—A dispatch to El Continental says a large number of persons were injured at Oaxaco, Mexico, last night when earth tremors caused many houses to collapse. None was killed. Oaxaca is about 200 miles northwest of Mexico City.

Chihuahua City, Mexico, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—A strong earth shock alarmed the inhabitants of this city this morning, but caused no serious damage.

Six Face Rum Charges In Court at Arlington

Charles Robinson and Leon Bolden, of Washington, colored, and Samuel Rees, colored, Alexandria, arrested Saturday night on charges of transporting liquor, will be given a hearing today before Judge Harry R. Thomas in Arlington County Police Court. Robinson, driver of the automobile, also faces charges of reckless driving and operating without a permit.

Raymond Quander, J. B. Hollis and Otto McMurray, all of Alexandria, also arrested on charges of transporting liquor Saturday night, will be given a hearing by Judge Thomas.

U. S. to Seek $60,000,000 Soon But Fails to Tell Why

(Associated Press.)

Interest in why the Government needs an additional $60,000,000 at this time was aroused yesterday through an announcement by Assistant Secretary Ballantine that the Treasury would sell that amount of 91-day Treasury bills on August 20.

There was nothing in the announcement to indicate why the money was sought, but it was accepted that the funds were needed to meet immediate expenditures.

While the amount is small, it might have been necessitated by current expenses or unexpected demands from some special fund, as that of the Farm Board or needs of the Veterans' Administration.

The Farm Board has spent $31,412,615 already this month and a total of $60,312,299 since July 1.

The bills will be sold to the highest bidder and redeemed at par on November 23, 1931.

The Treasury has issued six lots of such short-term securities, ranging from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000, since July 1, but in each case the money has been used to retire an equal amount of maturing bills.

The bills will be dated August 24, on which day the money will be available for Government use.

REFUNDS ON U.S. TAX FIFTH OF INCREASES

Treasury Report Is Study of Federal Revenues for Last Fiscal Year.

(United Press.)

The Treasury turned back a total of $69,476,930 to corporations and individuals in tax refunds during the fiscal year 1931, ended last June 30, because of taxes collected illegally or erroneously.

But during the same period Treasury experts located errors in tax returns which resulted in additional assessments of $382,788,085, the major part of which, $351,285,214, was on income taxes, it is shown in the annual report published last night. Assessments of $25,109,773 were made for estate taxes.

The major part of the refunds, likewise, were on income taxes, $63,127,995, with refunds of $5,086,902 on estate taxes.

These refunds by Secretary Andrew W. Mellon's department have been a target of Democratic attacks in Congress for a decade, and House Democratic Leader John N. Garner is expected to renew this attack before long.

Slump Cut Income Tax.

The Treasury report reveals the deep cut that the business depression made in income tax collections, which has been advanced as an argument for additional and more stable forms of revenue to supplement this present chief source of Government funds.

Income tax collections for the fiscal year, six months of which reflected the business slump, were $550,218,732 less than for the 1930 fiscal year, $1,860,040,497 as compared with $2,410,259,230. The Treasury deficit at the end of the fiscal year was $903,000,000.

The income tax drop accounted for a large part of the decrease of $611,916,978 in all Federal tax collections for the 1931 fiscal year under those of the previous year. Total tax collections, including estate and miscellaneous taxes, were $2,428,228,754. For 1930 they were $3,040,145,733.

Collection of Federal taxes is getting increasingly costly. It cost the Government $33,997,785 to collect Federal taxes last year, or $1.40 for every $100 collected. The cost for the 1930 fiscal year was only $1.13 for every $100 collected. This does not include the amount spent in refunding taxes illegally or erroneously collected.

New York Paid One-Third.

New York paid almost one-third of income taxes, her contribution being $614,960,831, divided about half and half between individual and corporation income taxes. Pennsylvania was second, with $174,242,933, and Illinois a close third, with $173,675,584. The smallest contributor was North Dakota, with $351,632.

Only two States paid more tax in 1931 than in 1930, Colorado contributing $15,272,280, or 27 per cent more, and Virginia paying $19,206,373, or 3 per cent more. All the others contributed less.

A drop of $1,451,803 occurred in amusement taxes in 1931 as compared with 1930. Collections totaled $2,778,864, divided into $2,005,856 of theater taxes, $265,023 in prize fight and boxing match taxes, and $507,983 for cabarets and night club taxes.

District Tax Totals Fall 14 Per Cent in Last Year

A total of $14,684,853 was paid by residents of the District of Columbia to the Federal Government in income and miscellaneous taxes in the fiscal year 1931, according to figures released by the Internal Revenue Bureau for publication today.

Collection of income taxes was 14 per cent less than in the preceding year, this year's total being $12,716,156, while miscellaneous taxes brought in $1,968,697. The largest part of the miscellaneous tax figure was made up of $1,801,413 paid in inheritance taxes. In this respect Washington was third in the country, only California and Connecticut leading in receipts from estate levies.

Premier Laval in Vichy.

Vichy, France, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Premier Pierre Laval, who, like Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, was fatigued after the recent international conferences, arrived here today for several days of rest. His entourage said his condition was nothing serious and that he would not take the usual three weeks' cure.

Slump Causes Increase In Home-Rolled Smokes

(Associated Press.)

Rolling one's own cigarettes apparently is returning toward popularity as one result of economic conditions.

Treasury Department data shows that, despite losses in revenues from all other tobacco tax divisions, the total from cigarette papers and tubes increased $117,941 over the last fiscal year, bringing the total to $1,441,828.

Card games presumably were more entertaining to families on restricted budgets than were theaters. Revenues from playing card taxes jumped $174,267 to a total of $4,993,559, while theater ticket taxes totaled only $2,778,864, a decline of $1,451,803.

Science Foreseen As Dictatorship

Bertrand Russell Asserts Another World War Is Imminent.

Hendaye, France, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—The "eugenic state," with a dictatorship of "second-rate scientists" destroying family life, will become a reality within the present century, Bertrand Russell, famous British philosopher and authority on social problems, predicted today.

Russell said the eugenic or scientific state would be ruled by physiologists and biochemists who would seek to create "a standard and perfect" race by sterilizing all but 5 per cent of the men and 25 per cent of the women. Paternal sentiment, marriage relations and politics would disappear.

"I hope," he said, "with every other sane person, that another great war can be avoided, but meanwhile I predict another World War."

Germany may be the battleground, he said, with the United States leading capitalistic States against Russia and the East, resulting in the destruction of the civilization of Western Europe and the loss of the lives of millions of noncombatants.

Mexican Meeting Protests Prices

Crowd at Piedras Negras Urges Naming of Regulatory Board.

Eagle Pass, Tex., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Hundreds of Mexican farmers and laborers sullenly but peacefully heard fiery orations against "unscrupulous merchants" at a mass meeting in Piedras Negras across the international border this morning. The meeting was called to protest food prices.

The crowd vociferously voted to have leaders frame a memorial asking city officials to appoint a price-regulating body composed of wholesale and retail merchants and laboring people to fix normal prices for nationally produced and American produced goods and print list prices until the present emergency had passed.

Price protestants held the meeting within hearing of the City Hall. Police and government troops stood at the edge of the crowd ready to intervene in case their orders that the meeting must not assume an anti-government aspect were violated.

Note Declared Written By Lost Fliers Is Found

New York, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—What may be the last note written by Nungesser and Coli, Frenchmen, who perished on an attempted east-west flight across the Atlantic, was brought to Roosevelt Field today by two men who found it floating in a cognac bottle near Fire Island. The note, written in French, was signed "Nungesser and Coli," and read: "We are sinking at this moment near Labrador."

Paralytics Give Blood For Battle on Disease

INDIANS MAY REVIVE CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE

Nationalist Chiefs Threaten Campaign to Force Probe Into Delhi Pact.

Bombay, India, Aug. 16 (U. P.).—The Nationalist Congress leaders tonight were reported planning a revival of India's civil disobedience campaign against British rule.

The plans were said to have been a result of the refusal of the viceroy, Lord Willingdon, to order an impartial investigation of alleged breaches of the Delhi pact under which the Mahatma Gandhi agreed to end the anti-British movement. Gandhi himself recently said he was not considering a revival of the civil disobedience movement despite the viceroy's attitude.

It also war reported that the congress leaders planned to revive the nonpayment of taxes, which cost the British government many thousands of dollars in revenue last year.

React to Viceroy's Refusal.

Gandhi and other Nationalist delegates last week canceled their passage to London and said they would not attend the September round-table conference, which will consider the proposed new India constitution. Their action followed Lord Willingdon's refusal to permit the investigation.

Gandhi and former Viceroy Lord Irwin framed the Delhi pact after almost a year of the civil disobedience movement had resulted in many hundreds of casualties and paralyzed British business in India at an immense cost to the government. The fact that Gandhi led the campaign gave it its greatest importance. Millions of Indians revere the leader, whom they know as the "great soul."

A revival of the movement at present, whether Gandhi participates or not, might be a great handicap to the round-table negotiations. There are strong radical factions in the Nationalist party which have disputed Gandhi's leadership in the past with minor success and there is a possibility that they could cause fresh disturbances by taking advantage of the present tension.

Insist on Investigation.

Ahmedabad, India, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Mahatma Gandhi returned to his spinning today, declaring that his "inner voice" told him he should not go to London for the second round-table conference on Indian affairs unless the government agreed to investigate what he insists are breaches of the Delhi pact.

While the mahatma reeled off yard after yard of yarn with his clawlike hands, he said:

"The web of India's destiny, I fear, must be woven in India, not in England. It is my notion that no Indian should look toward London at the present time. If I have not seen fit to go to London it is because I firmly believe the interests of India lie in that course."

Trip Would Be Fruitless.

Then, turning from his spinning wheel, he said earnestly:

"I, for myself, do not distinguish between British politicians and British officials in India and if, for securing justice here in small matters, all energies have been spent and even then sometimes justice is not secured, it is impossible to expect justice in the so-called big affairs.

"The experience obtained here is the echo of what is going to happen in England. If this view is correct, it was proper for me not to go to London as a representative in the congress, but the responsibility on the shoulders of the Indian people has thereby increased."

Australian Flier, Hurt, Vows He Will Try Again

Tokyo, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—F. C. Chichester, British aviator who was injured in a crash here while on a flight from Australia to England, said today he would return to Australia as soon as he recovers and make a fresh attempt.

The airman was informed today, as he lay in a hospital, that his plane is so badly damaged it could not be used to continue the flight.

Ground Broken for College.

Bennington, Vt., Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Ground-breaking ceremonies were held here late today at what will be the site of Bennington College, an institution dedicated to the education of young women along thoroughly modern lines. With $1,365,000 already raised, construction work will be started immediately on the first of four buildings.

Wharf Blast Fails At Brunswick, Ga.

Dock Holding Heavy Rosin Stores Found Soaked With Gasoline.

Brunswick, Ga., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—An unsuccessful attempt early today to dynamite wharves on which were stored more than 75,000 barrels of rosin was reported by police, who said gasoline had been spread on the wharves, apparently to ignite them.

The plot was discovered when dock workers investigated a slight explosion, which did little damage. Seventy-five sticks of dynamite were found on the wharves, which are operated by the Atlantic Coast Line Railway.

Police said attention was directed to the wharves when one stick of dynamite placed on top of a rosin barrel, exploded. It blew the barrel apart but failed to ignite the gasoline.

Police said they had a "good clew."

G. O. P. Senate Aspirant To Run as Anti-Hooverite

Chicago, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Newton Jenkins, Chicago attorney, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Illinois on a platform of "opposition to the renomination of President Hoover." Jenkins was an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination in 1924 and 1930.

"President Hoover," he said, "has failed utterly to meet or comprehend the pressing economic issues confronting the people of our country. He has instead groped aimlessly about in the realm of internationalism and floundered in his hallucinations of world responsibility."

Yacht Missing 5 Days, Two Aboard, Is Safe

Nantucket, Mass., Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Missing for five days in the open sea, the 32-foot schooner yacht Warella, with Judge George M. Poland, justice of the Nantucket District Court, and his son, Warren, aboard, was towed into port late today by the lobster fishing vessel Ethel K.

Judge Poland related he had set sail from Winthrop, near Boston, last Tuesday, headed for Nantucket. When the wind fell the jurist attempted to start the yacht's motor but discovered it would not function. He ran up the sails and drifted on a calm sea until when near Pollock's Rip, off Chatham, the Ethel K. hove to and offered a tow.

Wilkins Today Will Bid Farewell to Civilization

Advent Bay, Spitzbergen, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Sir Hubert Wilkins, who has roamed the treacherous Arctic ice fields on foot, by sledge and by airplane, will depart on his most daring adventure tomorrow when the submarine Nautilus starts northward into the polar seas.

The submarine arrived from Tromsoe, Norway, last night after encountering more trouble. Her engines, repaired several times en route across the Atlantic Ocean, again failed to function smoothly and she was adrift for the better part of a day before repairs were made.

BETTER CONDITIONS FORECAST IN RUSSIA

Cooperation on Old and New Intelligentsias Is Urged by High Official.

Moscow, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Elaborating the new Soviet policy toward the old technical intelligentsia, J. E. Rudzutak, assistant chairman of the Council of People's Commissars, declares all who want to work honorably and respectably will be given the opportunity regardless of "yesterday."

Painting a rosy picture of the future of Soviet Russia, he says industrialization plans have surpassed expectations. This, he adds, should lead to greatly improved living conditions for workers as a whole with completion of this year's program.

His statements, made in a speech Wednesday at a conference in Moscow of engineers and technical workers, was published in the Moscow newspapers today.

Emphasizing the importance of "our technical backwardness," the Soviet leader called for wider cooperation between the new and the old intelligentsia, declaring that, while the nation must develop its own proletarian technical leadership as Joseph Stalin advocated, it was foolish to rely on new engineers alone.

"The question now is, will the old engineers work with or against us," Rudzutak said, answering his own question by saying most of the capitalist elements of the country had been conquered and it now remained only to win over the specialists of the old order completely.

He pointed out there would be some difficulty in assimilating some of this class into a socialistic state, however, because many were prone to view the workingman as ignorant and inferior, instead of helping him to raise his capacities.

On the other hand, the working class looked on the old intelligentsia with suspicion, remembering that formerly they were on the side of the "master," while now the working class itself was master, he said, but a master without technical knowledge.

"Some of the old intelligentsia are unable to find a common language with the proletarian family," he asserted. "The problem now is to collect them in the common family of the socialist state, side by side with the workers.

"Their lost faith must be reestablished, friendly relations must come between workers and technicians. There should be no division between the old and new technical order."

NANKING OVERTURES SPURNED BY CANTON

Chiang Kai-Shek's Resignation Is Declared Condition of Peace Parley.

Hongkong, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Semi-official statements here today said the Southern National government at Canton had flatly rejected peace overtures advanced by the Nationalist government of Nanking.

Sun Fo, Tank Chak-Yu and Koo Ying-Fo, leaders of the southern insurrectionists, telegraphed Nanking emissaries: "The National government will not discuss peace with Nanking unless Chiang Kai-Shek voluntarily resigns all his posts." Nanking had suggested a peace conference be held at Shanghai.

It was because of alleged dictatorial actions of the Nationalist chieftain, Chiang Kai-Shek, that the Cantonese rebelled against the rule of Nanking in April.

Although Gen. Chan Chai-Tong, who really is in control of the Southern government, did not sign the telegram, he presumably was a party to the action. This was interpreted here as meaning the left-its groups and Kwangsi provincial heads had gained their points and unity in the Southern government was being preserved.

Owing to financial and other difficulties, Canton's war plans remain in a state of suspended animation. Floods which have ravaged the Yangtze Valley will probably affect the situation, for the southerners will not be attracted by the prospect of capturing famine and disease stricken areas. The prospect seems to be unchanged from last month, and it was predicted that nothing will happen unless Nanking openly attacks Canton.

36-Passenger Plane Passes Soviet Tests

Moscow, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—A new five-motored airplane of 2,400 horsepower, with a capacity of 36 passengers and a crew of five, has successfully passed tests, the Central Aerohydrotechnical Institute announced today.

The newspaper Pravda, in hailing it, says Soviet Russia now has left behind America, England, France and Japan and taken a place alongside Germany and Italy in the construction of practical large aircraft.

Twisting is that unethical practice sometimes indulged in by questionable life insurance salesmen in causing an individual to discontinue a policy in one company in favor of taking a policy with another company. This practice is contrary to the ethics of legitimate insurance.

The Hon. Herbert L. Davis, Superintendent of Insurance in the District of Columbia, in a recent address stated, "The policyholder is the one who ultimately suffers the greatest loss if he submits to his policies being twisted. Every honest straightforward life insurance man knows that every person insured in a safe and sound company should be encouraged to keep his policy in full force and effect."

HEAVY CROPS REACT ON TRADE RECOVERY

Cotton and Wheat Reports of Bumper Yields Hit Prices as Outlook Brightens.

New York, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Plentiful harvests erstwhile economic antidote for business depression, appeared to be bad medicine during the past week for present disorders.

The Government's estimate of the cotton crop at more than 15,000,000 bales, threatening the largest carryover of unused surplus in history, sent cotton prices crashing to the lowest level of the century.

The estimate of the wheat crop was 3½ per cent larger than last year's crop, and 8¾ per cent above the 1925-29 average. The winter wheat crop promises to be the largest on record, more than offsetting the smallest harvest of the spring crop in 38 years. The wheat market, already deflated to the lowest levels in history, stood up fairly well under this news, however.

Upturn Signs Increase.

Despite the crushing burden of these two enormous crops—our two chief cash crops—signs of the seasonal upturn in trade in the autumn are gradually multiplying. The wholesalers report a little further improvement here and there. Shoe production continues at peak volume, some factories doing the best business in ten years.

Clothing manufacturers are fairly active, and woolen mills continue well occupied. Cotton textiles, naturally, have been considerably unsettled by the crash in raw cotton prices, but statistically, the industry is in the best condition in some time.

Foreign financial conditions appeared a little more encouraging during the past week, although the problem of adjusting German credits, which the Wiggin committee is now wrestling with, still has a paralyzing influence on central Europe. Sterling exchange was steadier and losses of London gold all but completely checked. In general, however, European business activity appeared to have subsided further and conditions are not viewed as immediately promising to projects for marketing any considerable portion of American surpluses abroad. Since the crop reports, interest in the American offer of wheat and cotton to Germany appears to have waned.

Copper Offered to Germany.

Copper is the latest commodity which is reported to have been offered to German producers on favorable credit terms. But copper stocks have grown as burdensome as the stocks of wheat and cotton. The July statistics showed another gain of refined and blister stocks on hand of 19,000 tons, and although mines and smelters are already largely shut down, complete closings are now being discussed.

The effort to control petroleum, however, has made distinctly encouraging progress. The signing of the new Texas conservation law this week will result in a substantial checking of the record-breaking flow of crude oil from the east Texas field. Firmer prices generally are expected, although crude is still a long way from the $1-a-barrel objective of Gov. Murray of Oklahoma.

Steel production and automobile manufacturing continue extremely quiet. What change there has been in the steel industry during the week appears to have been for the better, however, most surveys indicating a little upturn from the previous week's ingot making rate of only 30 per cent of capacity. Heavy construction again has been a sustaining factor. On the basis of permits taken out in leading cities, the decline in building activity appears to have been checked in July. Despite the low level of motor making activity, August automobile sales are said to be holding up a little better than had been anticipated.

The latest weekly report of freight car loadings shows the encouraging gain of roughly 15,000 cars over the previous week, as result of a larger movement of miscellaneous freight and coal. In contrast, however, the weekly report of electric power consumption was less favorable, showing a reduction of nearly 3 per cent from the like week of last year, the poorest comparison since the last full week of June.

Life Likely to Become Gay If Eugenie Mode Spreads

Royal Designer of Hats That Cover Only Half the Head "Wasn't No Lady," But She Kept Things Interesting in Paris and Madrid.

New York, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Now that it is definitely decided that women are going to stick to those hats that cover only half the head and tilt down over the nose, it becomes necessary to investigate the lady, dead these last eleven years, who invented them.

Well, according to the biographers, that wasn't no lady; that was the Empress Eugenie.

She probably didn't realize while galloping through the Fontainebleau Woods in the retinue of Napoleon III that her hats and gowns would adorn the Parisian boulevards nearly eight decades later and consequently spread to all points of the globe.

And if modern women adopt Eugenie's code of conduct as well as her hats, the world is going to become a tumultuous place.

When Eugenie left Madrid and went to Paris to charm the third Napoleon into marriage, she was tired of the stiff dresses and cumbersome hats in which the ladies of the court danced and rode horseback. She was a young lady who knew what she wanted. So before you could say "Second Empire" she designed the type of hat for which you husbands and fathers will be getting bills September 1.

She had a few ideas about dresses, too, and after she married Napoleon all the ladies of the empire suddenly became aware of how really exquisite the queen's taste in clothing had become. That started a vogue, and the end is not yet, as you can readily see by walking down the street any sunny afternoon.

Now, the empress' hats and gowns somehow lend the impression that she was a prim, demure young thing, but history fails to justify such an impression. Painful as it is to say so, the empress was quite the life of the party in old Madrid.

History chronicles the fact that she was jilted at the age of 15 by the Duke of Alba, a fickle fellow who then married Eugenie's sister, Francesca.

The future empress had novel ideas as to how a broken heart should be mended. She bought a horse and proceeded to gallop through the streets of Madrid, shouting the Castilian equivalent of "Whoopee!" A fuming black cigar, clenched between her teeth, lent an added fillip to her midnight rides.

Biographers whisper that Eugenie looked on the wine when it was red, and yellow, too. She acquired a small, sharp dagger and kept the grandees in a constant state of trepidation for fear she would give them a playful dig in the ribs. She frequented the bull fights (of which ladies were supposed to have only second-hand knowledge) and tossed gifts to the most handsome toreadors. There were reports of outrageous evening strolls with a handsome page boy.

In the midst of this Eugenie decided to enter a convent. She was blackballed—unanimously. There was nothing much left to do, she reasoned, except to go to Paris and marry Napoleon. It took her three months to put that across, and one of the first persons to receive a wedding announcement was the Duke of Alba.

Eugenie died in 1920, quite calmly, everything considered, and without the least hint that her hat styles would be the rage of 1931.

Airplane Passengers Increase 33 Per Cent

Chicago, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The United Air Lines Companies—Boeing, National and Pacific Transport and Varney Air Lines—reported today they had carried 33 per cent more revenue passengers in July than in June.

The United Air Lines is the operating subsidiary of the United Aircraft & Transportation Corporation. Their machines flew in excess of 1,000,000 miles in July, and carried 6,215 revenue passengers, operating New York to Chicago and Dallas, Chicago to San Francisco, Salt Lake City to Seattle, and Seattle to San Diego.

RAILWAY BONDS SAG TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Losses Persist During Week; German Issues Advance on Election News.

New York, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The most significant losses in the bond market last week were in the persistent rail issues, not all of which were of secondary or speculative rating, which reached new lows for this year, and in some instances for considerably longer periods.

Unsatisfactory conditions from several standpoints among the railroads have existed for some time and the selling wave was recognition of them. Much of the selling was ascribed to bands desirous of liquidating their rail holdings.

A tangible reason for the reversal of trend, which developed during the last two days of the week and restored considerable of the earlier losses, was not apparent, the decline in rail issues has been fairly steady for some time.

Comparison of Prices.

Ten leading railroad bonds at the closing Saturday had an average price of 95.1 compared with 98.2 on August 1, 100.0 on July 1, and a high record of 105.7 on January 24. The decline between the two latter dates was interrupted by several periods of temporarily rising prices. The week-end recovery in rail bonds was simultaneous with an advance in rail stocks. It happens occasionally that prices of securities fluctuate because of technical market conditions, which would appear to be the cause of the rally in both rail stocks and bonds.

Late strength in foreign bonds was another feature. Colombian issues scored late gains, following the official announcement that funds had been received to cover the service charges on the 6 per cent issue of 1961, due on October 1. Uruguyan loans showed temporary strength on reports that negotiations for additional funds were progressing.

German obligations responded to the continuance in power of the Prussian state government by the election on August 9, with a general advance in both corporate and governmental obligations. The most immediately pressing problem of that republic is the heavy outstanding volume of short term credit which will be settled, it is hoped by the deliberations of the committee of international bankers at Basel.

German Issues Advance.

However, the removal of threatening factors, such as the election provided, was sufficient to push the German obligations upward. Other European loans derived a certain amount of sympathetic appreciation from their strength.

From the domestic standpoint little reason appeared to suppose that any fundamental chance had developed in the bond market. New issues floated during the week totaled $71,699,041 compared with only $8,750,000 the previous week. As has happened frequently in the past the great bulk of these offerings were of high grade. For some months it has been possible to sell new issues eligible for savings banks and trust fund investments or nearly as high in rating. The offerings indicate this fact as well as the rather limited buying interest in securities of secondary standing.

Another evidence of the continuing specialized demand appeared in the limited turnover in listed issues. Sales on the New York Stock Exchange on Saturday, with one exception, were the smallest this year for a two-hour session and trading as a whole was quiet the rest of the week.

Ballistics Expert to Be Speaker.

Dr. William Souder, Bureau of Standards expert in ballistics will address a luncheon of the Civitan Club, tomorrow afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, at the Lafayette Hotel. He will discuss identification of bullets and the guns from which they are fired.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—New State and municipal bond offerings listed for this week aggregate only $9,499,441, the smallest weekly total so far this year, the Bond Buyer reports. It compares with a total of $64,059,324 last week and the weekly average of $39,414,584 for the year to date. Among the larger issues are $1,101,000 Irvington, N. J., general improvement and sewer bonds Tuesday; $1,000,000 Chicago South Park District bonds Wednesday, and $1,000,000 Atlantic City, N. J., tax revenue bonds Thursday.

Industrial activity suffered from the usual midsummer relapse in July, declining 3.8 per cent from June and 7.2 per cent from July last year, according to Electrical World's monthly survey of electrical energy consumption in 3,800 manufacturing plants throughout the country. The decline brings the summer minimum—or what presumably will be the minimum—almost down to the low point of last winter. The survey points out that while operations have long been below the preceding year's level, the index is only 7 per cent less than it was at the corresponding time last year, whereas a few months ago the spread was 20 per cent.

Almost 75 per cent of American exports of farm implements in 1931 have gone to Soviet Russia, an analysis of foreign trade statistics by Moody's shows. During the first six months of this year, the survey finds, Russia took from the United States agricultural machinery valued at $37,216,000, or 74.3 per cent of the entire foreign shipments, while Canada and Argentina, the best foreign customers in predepression years, together purchased less than 10 per cent of the total.

Silk Company's Profits Are Down 94 Per Cent

New York, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Duplan Silk Corporation and consolidated subsidiaries reported for the fiscal year ended May 31 net profit of $71,299, compared with net profit of $1,243,945 in the preceding fiscal year.

Net sales totaled $13,946,242, against net sales of $19,762,125 for the year ended May 31, 1930, which was a post-war record for the corporation. Paul C. Derby, president, in his remarks to stockholders said the corporation has reduced its overhead expenses and adjusted salaries and wages to meet competitive conditions.

Jewel Tea Earnings Take 8 Per Cent Drop

New York, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The Jewel Tea Co., today reported for the 28 weeks ended July 11 net earnings of $786,218, equal to $2.81 a share. In the corresponding period of 1930 net income amounted to $887,622, or $3.17 a share. First half earnings this year more than covered the six-month dividend requirements of $2 per share.

The report showed that sales of $7,609,860 for the period compared with $8,574,681 for the like period of 1930, a decrease of 11.25 per cent. Selling prices were 8.3 per cent under a year ago, while tonnage was not quite 3 per cent lower.

WOODLAND OFFERS YEAR OF VACATIONS

Waiting for Next Summer Is Ended for Purchasers on South River.

Vacations in 1931 are a thing of the past for many of Washington's residents and a majority of those who live here are back at their daily tasks, wishing there were another two weeks or a month of rest still ahead of them.

Are they planning for next year? They certainly are and a good number have gone so far as to insure themselves an even better time next year than they had this. They have become property owners at Woodland Beach, The Washington's Post's summer home development on South River, in Maryland, and by this time next year will have enjoyed almost a full year of having a resort cottage.

The advantage of having a summer cottage at Woodland Beach is that in addition to the regular vacation period owners may spend nights or week-ends at their summer places instead of being forced to remain in a hot apartment or in the midst of the city's summer disadvantages.

Woodland Beach is only 32 miles away. It is reached over excellent roads in a very short time. It offers the opportunity to cool off each night with a swim in South River. It offers fishing and boating under ideal conditions. It is a great place to send the wife and children and then go out in the evening for a daily family reunion. The children may play in comfort and safety there.

It costs only $93 to buy a lot at Woodland Beach. You need not pay it all at once. Put down $9, together with the cost of a subscription to The Washington Post, and make your selection. Pay the rest at the rate of $3.50 a month and all the time be enjoying the beach. Hundreds have found it the ideal place for a summer home. Drop in at The Post today and learn all the details of this remarkable offer and enroll before all the choice lots are gone.

A Real Champion

IT takes more than mere slugging ability to make a real champion. True, he must know how to hit. But equally important is the maintenance of a perfect guard and the ability to take it on the chin and keep wading in.

You'll find Amoco Motor Oil every inch a real champion. It gives your motor real drive and punch. And just as important, it gives you complete protection Winter and Summer. Amoco Motor Oil can and will stand up under the most gruelling punishment. Amoco Motor Oil can "take it on the chin" and come back for more.

Drive into any Amoco station when you need oil—either a quart or a complete crankcase change. Fill up with the right grade of Amoco Motor Oil (100% Pure Paraffine Base)—it's a real champion!

PENITENT M'KELLAR.

Most of the Democrats who have planned assaults upon the tariff have been content to await the assembling of Congress, but Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, is so overcome by remorse because of his votes for higher duties on cement, rayon, filaments, china clay and silver ore that he demands a special session for repeal of the Smoot-Hawley act.

Senator McKellar is one of those Democrats who voted to increase various individual rates of duty and then repudiated the tariff bill as a whole. While the act was being drafted he believed in tariff protection for the few who had gained his favor. Now he is smitten with penitence because of his own weakness. During his last campaign he visited a town in east Tennessee and saw workmen from the cement mills walking the streets because cheap imports from Belgium were ruining the cement industry. In an unguarded moment he promised to vote for a higher duty on cement. But the iniquity of that vote has weighed heavily upon his conscience. Why did he not have strength to let American workingmen starve so that the sacred principle of free trade might be vindicated? It must have been a terrific agitation that harassed the senator's soul. But he comes forth from the struggle with his principles only slightly tarnished and with a firm resolve to let American workmen starve if that is necessary to rid the country of its abominable tariff barriers.

As a means to this end Senator McKellar suggests that Congress should allow a decrease in the duties levied against the goods of any nation when that nation increases its purchases of American wheat, cotton or manufactured goods. If any country augmented its purchases by 25 or 50 per cent, a corresponding reduction in duties would be allowed. In this way trade would be stimulated and Senator McKellar would claim the glory of having cured the world-wide depression.

Analysis is hardly necessary to comprehend the absurdity of this proposal. American exports in a normal year amount to about $5,000,000,000. If all foreign customers increased their purchases by 25 per cent to take advantage of the proposed tariff concession, American producers would have an additional market for goods valued at $1,250,000,000. But how much of the domestic market would they sacrifice to foreign interests? A decrease of 25 per cent in most duties would be sufficient to upset the balance of production costs here and abroad. Foreign producers would be able to invade the American market and sell cheaper than most domestic establishments. Senator McKellar proposes to cure the depression by opening a $90,000,000,000 American market to foreigners who produce at lower costs than do American plants, for the sake of selling $1,250,000,000 worth of American products abroad. Certainly, the ingenuity of this plan atones for the senator's mistakes in voting for higher duties.

The senator is obsessed with the idea that prosperity can be restored by dumping the American surplus on other countries and allowing other countries to dump their surplus on America. Instead of seeking to correct the maladjustments between production and consumption, he proposes quack legislation that would encourage further uneconomic extension of agricultural crops. Yet all he can suggest to take care of the additional surpluses that would thus be produced is further demoralization of American enterprise.

It is especially strange to hear one who poses as a champion of the farmer make such an attack upon the Smoot-Hawley act. Every one knows that the farmer is the chief beneficiary of that act because most of the increased duties were on agricultural products. As a result of these duties, agriculture has a favorable balance of trade for the first time in many years. Senator McKellar closes his eyes to this asset and gazes only upon the depressed prices of wheat and cotton. He is willing to strike a blow at agriculture as well as industry for political reasons.

The public will not be misled by this sort of demagogy. Senator McKellar's repentance at a time when he considers it politically advantageous will attract no sympathy. He may be called upon to expiate a far more grievous sin than voting for higher duties to please his constituents. If he and Senator Robinson attempt to put American industry, labor and agriculture on the altar they will have to answer to the people and to members of their own party who do not lose their equilibrium when considering economic issues.

6,000,000 JOBS NEEDED.

The depression, due to unprecedented post-war factors that affected the entire world, has been prolonged until business and industry have been seriously crippled and their ability to keep labor employed greatly reduced. Winter will probably find the business situation somewhat improved, but it is evident that extraordinary means must be employed to bridge over the present employment crisis.

The only way that conditions can be improved promptly is through work. Americans do not want charity. They do not ask for doles. All they demand is opportunity to be employed. This country is rich in natural resources. The banks are full of money. Private capital is eager for safe investment at a fraction of former returns. What, then, keeps millions of workers in idleness? It is simply that the intermediary between capital and labor has broken down. Industry is not functioning properly and the inevitable result is a surplus of material on one side and unemployed labor on the other.

With all the elements that are required for man's comfort and prosperity available in superabundance, are Americans so stupid, so inept and resourceless that the products of fields and factories must continue to be wasted while great numbers of our citizens suffer for want of those very things? The fundamental trouble is uncertainty with regard to the immediate future, a lack of confidence all round, that stifles initiative on the part of business, that causes the factory to reduce its output, the bank to withhold loans, the private investor to hoard his savings and even the average citizen to refrain from making contemplated improvements and purchases that he really can afford.

The problem confronting industry is how to throw this great economic machine into high gear again. Employment must be found for approximately 6,000,000 men. So long as they remain idle they have no purchasing power to consume the products of agriculture and industry. It is estimated that the income of the Nation will be reduced by $10,000,000,000 this year because of unemployment. That alone is enough to cause a serious slump in business. Instead of furnishing the extra purchasing power that is needed to restore prosperity these men and women are a burden on society. Their helplessness is a distressing picture before the American people that causes unrest, uncertainty and deadening inertia.

How this problem can be solved is not yet clear. It is certain, however, that no amount of magic or legislation will create 6,000,000 jobs. These men must be returned to industry. It behooves industrial leaders to concentrate their attention on ways and means of rehabilitating this army of jobless men so that normal purchasing power may be restored and the national psychology may be turned into channels of confidence and determination.

TRIFLING WITH THE PEOPLE.

Statesmen who trifle with the good will of peoples and gamble with war were denounced as traitors to humanity in a recent address by J. Reuben Clark, jr., American Ambassador to Mexico, before the press congress of the world. "It is a dangerous and an internationally criminal act," he said, "for a statesman to play international politics for a purely domestic end. For he who arouses public sentiment starts in motion a great juggernaut which easily passes beyond his control and then crushes and grinds to powder all that lies in its path."

Ambassador Clark's thought is particularly applicable to conditions in the world today, both within and without the United States. Unrest and discontent are widespread. The people are looking for some way out of the depression that has engulfed every country. Too frequently they are ready to follow political shysters who have no plan and no hope of improving conditions. Blatant criticism of those holding responsible positions is often mistaken for constructive leadership in times like the present. When the people are impatient and dissatisfied demagogy flourishes and renegades seek to capitalize the situation for personal gain.

No doubt Ambassador Clark had in mind the revolutionary movements in Latin-America. In numerous instances politicians have tried to turn the distress of the people to their own personal advantage. There is no better example than the revolution in Cuba. Fortunately, the Cuban people were too mindful of their own welfare to join in any movement to upset their government and thus add political chaos to their economic troubles.

Soviet Russia is always reaching out her wiry fingers into trouble zones in all parts of the world. Wherever distress becomes acute that area is considered a fertile field for communistic agitation. The Soviet dictators hold first place on the list of traitors to humanity who have attempted to add anarchy to economic derangement.

In domestic as well as international politics so-called statesmen may be found trifling with the well-being of the people. In the United States some of them are demanding an extra session of Congress for the purpose of embarrassing the Government. Others are advocating a Federal dole and the expenditure of millions from the Treasury to set the Government up in business in competition with its own citizens. Political motives are behind these quack remedies. Politicians are trying to gamble with the future of the United States.

Fortunately, the American people know how to keep unscrupulous politicians in their place. No amount of sophistry can convince them that the Government is responsible for the depression or that the Nation should take a plunge into socialism. Politicians who seek to trifle with the welfare of the people in the United States had better watch their step.

GANDHI REMAINS IN INDIA.

The present resolve of Mahatma Gandhi not to attend the London conferences on India, probably will not prevent the round table sessions being held. There are many other delegates and many questions to be considered for which his presence is not imperative. However, there is no denying the fact that his picturesque personality is the most influential element in Indian politics today and his absence would throw some doubt over the acceptance of any program outlined in London.

It is unfortunate that an apparently minor question which arose between Gandhi and the viceroy, Lord Willingdon, could not have been settled amicably and without precipitating such a radical change in the mahatma's plans. In connection with the old controversy concerning undue pressure alleged in tax collections, Gandhi asked that the matter be referred to an impartial tribunal, which was refused.

The All-India Nationalists considered this but one more minor infraction of the Delhi agreement that was signed by Gandhi with Lord Irwin while he was still viceroy. As a result the Nationalist committee decided to rescind its decision to send Gandhi as its representative to London, a decision in which Gandhi undoubtedly concurred or it would not have been rendered.

Great regret is expressed in London that Gandhi is not to attend the India meetings, some opinions going so far as to say it will be useless to hold them unless he is present and gives approval to the program decided upon. From Bombay there are intimations that Lord Willingdon will reopen negotiations with the mahatma, endeavor to reconcile differences and urge him to change his "final" decision, as he has been known to do. The preliminary committee meetings will occupy at least a month so that if Gandhi secures desired concessions from the viceroy and reaches London early in October he will still be in good time for the general round table sessions.

A WANDERING MINSTREL.

From the Kansas City Star.

The new Governor of the Virgin Islands has been criticized by a Government official in Washington for having appointed a director of public entertainment, to "present Gilbert and Sullivan operettas for destitute natives." We do not pretend to pass on the merits of the case, but let it be said that the governor and his director of public entertainment at least have excellent taste in the matter of operettas. The islanders could (and probably will) do far worse than "whistle all the airs from that infernal nonsense 'Pinafore.'"

W. S. Gilbert was merely an indifferent playwright and Sir Arthur Sullivan only a relatively uninspired composer of religious music when the two men worked apart. But together they wrote an unrivaled series of light operas, which were first produced about fifty years ago in London. Gilbert's lyrics, fitted to exceedingly tuneful music by Sir Arthur, have become classics of their kind. Who, for example, would not respond to the lilt of the famous song from "H. M. S. Pinafore" which begins:

When I was a lad I served a term
As office boy to an attorney's firm.
I cleaned the windows and swept the floor,
And I polished up the handle of the big front door.
I polished up that handle so carefullee
That now I am the ruler of the queen's navee.

Then there is the plight of the tender-hearted policeman in "The Pirates of Penzance:"

When the enterprising burglar's not a-burgling,
When the cut-throat isn't occupied in crime,
He loves to hear the little brook a-gurgling,
And listen to the merry village chime.
When the coster's finished jumping on his mother,
He loves to lie a-basking in the sun.
Ah, take one consideration with another—
The policeman's lot is not a happy one.

"Iolanthe" is one of the lesser known members of the series, but it contains such delightful comment upon British institutions as this advice to the House of Lords:

And while the House of Peers withholds
Its legislative hand,
And noble states do not itch
To interfere with matters which
They do not understand,
As bright will shine Great Britain's rays
As in King George's glorious days!

It may be fairly said that no other writer of lyrics has ever had the same sustained facility with words, and perhaps "The Mikado" contains more of Gilbert's best work than any other opera. Its songs, from the opening chorus of "The Gentlemen of Japan!" to the finale of "For He's Gone and Married Yum-Yum, Yum-Yum," include some of the most remarkable lyrics in any language. Here is an example of Gilbert's technical mastery of verse:

To sit in solemn silence in a dull, dark dock,
In a pestilential prison with a life-long lock,
Awaiting the sensation of a short, sharp shock,
From a cheap and chippy chopper on a big, black block.

For a combination of words and music, however, Gilbert and Sullivan never surpassed the song of the strolling jester from "The Yeomen of the Guard:"

It is sung to the moon
By a love-lorn loon,
Who fled from the mocking throng—O!
It's a song of a merry man, moping mum,
Whose soul was sad, and whose glance was glum,
Who sipped no sup, and who craved no crum,
As he sighed for the love of a ladye.

It may be that the natives of the Virgin Islands do not care for Gilbert and Sullivan, but they are receiving a treat that is denied to most of the inhabitants of the United States. (A permanent company in England plays these operettas, year in and year out.) We are tempted to move to the islands and join the destitute natives, ourselves.

POST HASTE.

A whole week of cool weather! It was just like a trip to the mountains, so devote what you saved to the unemployment fund.

We trust Col. Lindbergh will muzzle his camera while flying over Japan. Nothing short of execution would satisfy Japanese jingoes if an American with a military title took a snap shot.

A Wild West show that came to Washington for a special session became so divided among its members as to who should run it that it has settled down for a long term and has got into the courts. It shouldn't have located so near the Capitol.

The Cuban revolution lost its head last week. There was also a lack of preliminary headwork and teamwork.

A Democratic committeeman of Colorado suggests that Mr. Shouse take over Mr. Raskob's job. Would he also rob the chairman of a gilt-edged, silver-lined claim for something over half a million?

"Hark! From the tombs a doleful sound." It's the crash of $330,000,000 being sliced from the British dole fund to save the budget.

Tammany seems to be getting cross with Gov. Roosevelt. At least his calling of a special session of the Legislature to aid the Seabury investigation is termed the "crucifixion of the Democratic party."

For quick action the Farm Board should have ordered the militia to "beat their swords into plowshares" and turn under every third row of cotton, without fussing with the governors.

The best joke that has come out of Russia for some time is that the population is suffering from a lack of toothbrushes and a shortage of table implements. Did you ever see a Russian who didn't know some handy things that were made before forks?

It now seems clear that if the Army fliers had had bigger bombs and more of them had hit the Mount Shasta the ship would have been sunk.

Mr. Curtis' New York paper quotes a lot of folks on the "end of war debts." First thing you know this will be in the Saturday Evening Post some Wednesday and then what?

Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, cops the laurels as the prize windmill tilter. He now proposes an extra session to repeal the tariff law and start the discussion all over again.

Pardon, Senator Mac, your former colleague Joe France, who has unanimously nominated himself for the Presidency, crowds in at the finish with: "Millions of desperate American farmers and unemployed are ripe for revolt against political mountebanks."

St. Lawrence Waterway First.

Windom (Minn.) Citizen.

The group of Army engineers sent to survey the route for the proposed Nicaraguan canal report that the project is feasible and that it would cost in the neighborhood of $700,000,000. The Northwest should protest loud and long, and our congressmen fight to the last ditch any attempt to build that canal before the St. Lawrence waterway is constructed. The East has had its canal, to the detriment of this section. Now it is our turn, and our congressmen should see that we get our waterway first.

If You Don't Know Which Bridge Is Safe, Why Cause Men to Fear the Old One?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

If you were whole and sound and had no need of artificial support, and if you came upon a cripple who leaned on a crutch, would you feel an urge to knock the crutch from under his arm?

Or if you found three orphan brothers who were content in poverty and immune from temptation to do evil because they believed themselves to be sons of a nobleman, would you try to disprove the decency of their sire and thus destroy the foundation of their contentment and righteousness?

There are millions of people in the world, humble folk for the most part, who believe in God.

Because they believe in the goodness and mercy of God, they bear their present burdens in patient fortitude, content in the hope of a blessed immortality.

Because they love and fear God, they are strengthened in their effort to overcome evil and live righteously.

All experience has shown that belief in God does more than any other influence to prevent the evils that are prompted by greed, envy, hate and the lusts of the flesh.

"God-fearing people" are not a menace to property, nor are they rebels against established authority.

They are, in short, good citizens, reconciled to life and death by reason of their faith.

If their faith was without foundation—if there was no God, and some wise man knew beyond any question or doubt that death is the end of all things, it would be his duty to reveal the truth and rid the world of an age-old fallacy.

In some manner good would come of the revelation, for all truth is good.

But no man knows and no man can know. He may believe or he may doubt, but in neither case can he support his opinion by visible evidence.

Since the truth can not be known, and since millions are made happier and more decent by their belief in God, why should any man labor to destroy their faith?

He can in no way benefit himself by robbing others of their belief. He can't pose as a champion of the truth that makes men free, for he doesn't know the truth. His only hope of reward is an increase in the sum of human doubt and misery.

Can mere pride of opinion justify wanton cruelty?

If justice gives an accused man the benefit of any doubt, can it give less to a faith that makes life endurable for millions?

PRO AND CON

A Check on Aliens.

Minneapolis Journal.

Registration of aliens throughout the United States is to be sought again in Congress. Representative Cable, of Ohio, announces he will reintroduce his bill for such procedure, caught in the jam of bills in the last session.

Mr. Cable urges his measure for its bearing on the employment situation. Registration, he says, would enable determination whether undesirable aliens are now holding down jobs rightfully belonging to either American workmen or aliens lawfully in the United States. It would clear the gap, he adds, against 25,000 alien seamen who, while they lawfully land here, remain after their permitted 60-day period.

Scrap the Farm Board.

Atlanta Constitution.

The proposal of the Farm Board to withhold its surplus cotton accumulation from the markets for one year, provided a third of the growing cotton throughout the South is destroyed, is one that could come only from a group of sadly muddled alleged experts.

The scheme is almost too fantastic and impractical for serious discussion.

In the first place, the growing of cotton as a personal industry is wholly outside the sphere of government, unless cotton staple, like opium poppies, wine bricks and moonshine liquor, imperils the popular health and morals. It is obviously absurd for Government to tell a farmer how much cotton he may plant and reap.

Revolt Against Roosevelt.

New York Herald-Tribune.

The first signs of revolt against the control of the Democratic organization in New York State by Gov. Roosevelt come from Erie County. William H. Fitzpatrick, veteran of many battles, has declared open warfare against Oliver Cabana, jr., designated as leader there by special command of the governor. The first stage of the fight ends with the September primary. It is expected to continue in the spring, when six delegates to the national convention are to be elected. News that the Roosevelt boom for the Presidential nomination is not going so smoothly in his home State is bound to make more difficult the efforts on his behalf in other parts of the country.

The Fitzpatrick manifesto complains bitterly of the Cabana assumption of power and adds: "The regular Democratic organization in this county loyally supported Roosevelt's candidacy, but it has not lost sight of the fact that it owes a large measure of loyalty to that greatest Democrat in the whole of these United States, Alfred E. Smith." This may be taken as significant of the irritation of friends of the former governor who do not take kindly to having him pushed out of the 1932 picture.

With its proposal to plow under every third row of cotton, the Farm Board is now regarded in the South as a greater pest than the boll weevil.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Observer Thinks the Rhino Should Be the Democratic Emblem Because He Typifies That Party's Stand on the Tariff.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have just finished reading an article describing the life and habits of the rhinoceros in which the rhino is pictured as being the most stupid and unreasonable animal known to exist. If this is true, the poor donkey has been greatly wronged by being used as the emblem of the Democratic party. The rhino, owing to its stupidity and way of charging in a straight path toward enemies who can avoid him by stepping aside, would be more suitable as the party's emblem.

The Democratic party is charging against American tariff protection with its head down and its eyes shut. It never turns aside regardless of whether it would bring disaster to the American industries or not. But generally its intended victims, American industries, high-paid American labor, have found refuge from its blind attacks on the back of the elephant. All true friends of the donkey should petition Johnny Raskob, who holds the Democratic party in his hock shop, to substitute the rhino as the party's emblem.

EDWARD D. LYLE.

Mobilization of Cultural Forces Is Urged to Rout Rowdyism in the United States.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In your issue of Sunday, August 9, Hinda Burke calls to mind again the subject of "rowdy America," and says some wholesome things for serious consideration.

It is perpetual truth that, "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Unfortunately, when we are prospering and having peaceful times we forget to be vigilant and the "rowdy" crowd gets ahead. We need to be constantly on the watch and to bruise the hydra-headed monster every time it appears. This way, and this way only, lies safety.

There should be a mighty mobilization of forces of decency. Too many decent, refined lovers of law and order are merely sitting in their corners and saying nothing.

The columns of our newspapers should bristle every day with letters like those of "grandmother," Frances McDonald and Hinda Burke, ringing the changes on rowdyism until attention is duly arrested and reforms accomplished.

The writer is well aware of the fact that this sort of letter is denominated by the superficial, self-indulging readers as "preachment," and spurned accordingly. This is why so many of our good people just sit in the corner and keep quiet, but they should rub the rust off their pens and write.

Federal Employe Scoffs at Suggestion of a Moratorium on Personal Debts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I saw an article in your paper a few days ago by my friend, Judge Leonidas W. Ellis, formerly of Alabama, in which he very eloquently advocated the application of President Hoover's moratorium on Germany's public war debts to American citizens' private debts.

To my personal knowledge Judge Ellis is considered by all who know him to be a deep thinker on questions of economy and jurisprudence and his views are generally respected. His digression along this line is quite surprising to me.

Political economy is very much like religion or porous plasters; that is, you must make personal application before you get the benefit. Now, what would be the result of a personal application of the learned judge's idea?

The judge, like myself, is a Federal employe. We both draw our salary from the Government for services rendered. In other words, the Government is indebted to each of us for money due us each month. As wide-awake and intelligent citizens we also know that our Government is very much in debt. If we should follow Judge Ellis' plan, we would grant a moratorium to the Government for a year on its indebtedness to us for our monthly salaries and thus help our Uncle Sam out of his financial difficulties.

The judge's idea is a "be-oo-tiful" one, but at present I don't feel as if I want to subscribe to it.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

INCIDENT.

There was a lonely woman in a cottage. Day by day
Alone she walked her garden round to pass the time away.
Alone she brewed her cup of tea. At nine o'clock at night
Alone she walked from room to room to lock the windows tight.

She heard the neighbors laughing, but she never turned to see.
Nor raised her head nor took a step to share their revelry.
Her hair was thin and silvered and her face was lined with care,
And only little children found a welcome there.

For them she fashioned cookies to resemble polar bears
And sugar dates and walnut cakes and other sweet affairs,
And every little boy or girl who passed her threshold o'er
Could eat her stock of goodies till they couldn't swallow more.

She paid no heed to grown-ups, and the neighbors wondered why.
Alone she chose to keep her house; alone she chose to die.
The men folk thought her crazy, and the women often stood
And wondered who had wronged her, but the children thought her good.

We never learned her story. All alone one night she died,
And when the children missed her, men were called to break inside.
They found her lying on the floor, her voice forever stilled,
And in the room the cookie jar, which she had just refilled.

BAPTIST BODY ENDS BALLSTON SESSION

165th Annual Convention of Catoctin Association Draws 2,500.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Catoctin Primitive Baptist Association, which had an attendance of more than 2,500 persons, closed its 165th annual session, in progress for three days at the Washington Lee High School at Ballston, yesterday.

At the morning session sermons were preached by the Rev. E. B. Kelly, of Pennsylvania; the Rev. Earl Daily, of Indiana, and the Rev. J. B. Jenkins, of Luray, Va.

Following luncheon, which was served on the school grounds, the afternoon session continued with talks by the Rev. R. H. Pittman, of Luray, Va.; the Rev. J. T. Powers, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and the Rev. A. L. Harrison, of Front Royal, Va., moderator.

The meeting concluded with the election of the following officers:

The Rev. Mr. Harrison was re-elected moderator to serve his seventeenth term, while the Rev. E. W. Miller, of Clarendon, was chosen as clerk and W. S. Athey, of Manassas, as assistant clerk.

During the session on Saturday a service was held in memory of the late Rev. T. H. Dalton, of Baltimore, 85 years old, who died at his home on July 30. The Rev. Mr. Dalton had served the Baptist Church for more than 62 years and was moderator for 20 years.

Arlington League To Prepare Slate

Chiefs to Meet to Select Its Candidates for County Board.

Executive committee of the Better Government League of Arlington County, will meet Wednesday night at the Woodrow Wilson School, Fort Myer Heights, to complete plans for drafting a slate of candidates for the county board. Thirty-five have filed for the five places to be filled.

The Better Government League is nonpartisan and was organized by a group who proclaimed they are working for the best interest of the county and to see that the most capable men are selected as members of the county board at the November election.

The league is composed of seven representatives from each of the eleven voting precincts in the county. Robert N. Anderson of Lyon Village is chairman.

Man Robbed of $8 At Point of Pistol

Hyattsville Resident Held Up in Capital; Police Make Arrest.

William E. Price, of Hyattsville, Md., was held up and robbed of $8 at the point of a pistol yesterday afternoon at First street and Delaware avenue southwest.

He named a colored man known as Eugene G. Bush, who, according to Price, lives at 623 Delaware avenue southwest, as one of his assailants. He also furnished police with a description of the other robber.

Bush was later arrested in the rear of the Delaware avenue address. Eight dollars in bills and change were found on him, according to police, and he was charged, at the Fourth Precinct, with robbery.

Tip Leads to Capture Of Alleged Rum in Auto

D. C. Bowman, of Fredericksburg, Va., was arrested late Saturday night by State Prohibition Inspector Virgil Williams and Capt Heywood J. Durrer and A. W. Mills, of the county traffic police, on a charge of transportation and possession of ardent spirits.

The police state they received information concerning the car Bowman was driving and overtook it on the Washington-Richmond highway near Accotink. On searching the car they found 30 gallons of alleged liquor. Bowman was taken before Justice Shepherd at Accotink and ordered held for the action of the grand jury under a $1,000 bond.

Man Hurt as Car Tags Are Thrown From Auto

Mitchell Nowading, 28 years old, of Johnstown, Pa., was struck yesterday, when two Virginia license plates were thrown from an automobile, striking him while he was walking on Wisconsin avenue in Bethesda, Md.

Nowading, who was recently discharged from the Army, was walking to Johnstown. He was treated at Sandy Spring Hospital for slight bruises. He said the automobile from which the articles were thrown bore no license plates. Police were checking the number of the plates thrown to determine whether the car for which they were issued had been used in any recent crimes.

"The Lord told us to lay off raising these crops one year out of every seven to let the people consume them.

"Louisiana will pass this law if other States will join us. Wire me at once that you will attend this conference.

"I think I am lawyer enough to tell you that the laws I have in mind are valid and sound, and will save your State. Will you not come here and let's get to work on something that will actually settle the cotton trouble?

"Please issue notice to your farmers to gather their cotton, but sell none of it until the result of this meeting is accomplished, because we want the benefit to go to the farmer. When that is accomplished all business prospers.

"Governor and U. S. Senator-Elect."

Sleeping in Tourist Cabins Lands Two in Accotink Jail

William M. Powers and Walter M. Collins, of Philadelphia, said to be connected with a national mail-order house, were arrested yesterday morning on a charge of breaking and entering tourist cottages on the Washington-Richmond highway near Accotink.

The men were given a preliminary hearing by Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd at Accotink and ordered held for action of the grand jury at the September term of the Fairfax County Circuit Court. Bond was set at $1,000 each.

According to police the men and two women were found in cabins by John Plasket, owner. He stated that when he locked the cabins the night before they were vacant and that when he attempted to question the men yesterday they threatened him. He called Deputy Sheriff George P. McCann. The men in the meantime had gotten into their car and left. A short time later they returned without the women and were placed under arrest.

At the Fairfax County Jail the men stated they had been working temporarily in Washington and had decided to go to Richmond for the week-end. They said they stopped at the tourist camp late Saturday night and a man in an automobile collected $4 from them and directed them to the cabins.

They denied that they unlocked the cabins themselves. They claimed when Plaskett arrived he attempted to charge $5 for each person and threatened arrest.

At the office of Justice Shepherd, it is said the men declared they were being discriminated against. Instead of denying charges Powers interrupted the justice in taking testimony and twice was fined $10 for contempt.

Powers stated at the jail that they were not given a chance to deny charges and that they did not know they were in court. He said he thought they were going to "set down and talk it over in a friendly manner." Failing to give bond, the men were lodged in the county jail at Fairfax.

AUXILIARY SELECTS CONVENTION GROUP

Alexandria Unit Names List to Attend Sessions at Clifton Forge.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Mrs. F. Clinton Knight, the retiring president, and Mrs. Margaret Bailey, the newly elected president of the Alexandria American Legion Auxiliary Unit, will head the list of delegates from thhat organization to attend the tenth annual convention of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Virginia, to be held in Clifton Forge, August 24 to 26, inclusive. Other delegates chosen are Mrs. Sidney Weil, Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson and Mrs. George W. Roop, while alternates are Mrs. Clyde B. Lanham, Mrs. E. Burnett Ake and Mrs. Albert M. Briggs. Mrs. Richard B. English will also attend, as department music chairman of the auxiliary, as Le Chapeau Departmentale of the Eight and Forty.

Mrs. Knight, the retiring president, has announced the receipt of letters from the local post adjutant, Clyde B. Lanham, expressing the thanks and appreciation of the post for the cooperation the past year with the legion, while the auxiliary was under her guidance, and from Glenn Elliott, department adjutant, along the same lines, and stating that the Department of Virginia considers the success of the Alexandria Post, the largest in the State, due in a measure to the loyal support of the auxiliary unit.

Members of Alexandria Tent No. 2 and Alexandria Hive No. 48, Maccabees, will meet at 8 o'clock this evening in Odd Fellows Temple, North Columbus street, to attend the graduating exercises of the Juveniles of Alexandria Court No. 1.

The meeting of the Baptist Young Peoples Union yesterday evening was featured by a program put on by members of Group No. 1, with William Florence as leader, and the regular service led by Miss Rosella Brown, devotional life commissioner of the group.

Fever Kills 3, Hits 4 More of Family

Petersburg Children Are Attacked by Typhoid After Others Die.

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Aug. 16.—After causing the death of three children of T. Leonard Eubank and Annie May Tucker Eubank, of Etrick, typhoid fever has attacked the remaining four children, who were taken to the Petersburg Hospital yesterday afternoon in a serious condition.

The four are: Woodrow, 14; Marion, 12; Vincent, 10, and Helen, 6. Symptoms of the disease did not appear until after the death of their two brothers and their sister.

Thomas Eubank and Milton Hatcher Eubank were the first to be claimed by the malady. Their death occurred Friday a week ago and on the following Sunday their sister, Frances Gwendolyn, died.

John G. Graham, sanitation officer, and Miss Lilla Spivery, county nurse, are making every effort to combat the spread of the disease.

Warrenton Prizes On Display There

Keen Interest Is Shown in Horse Show Scheduled for August 26.

Warrenton, Va., Aug. 16.—With the Warrenton Horse Show only ten days away, keen interest is being manifested and 25 pieces of sterling silver, the prize awards, are on exhibition here now.

They include the Warrenton Challenge Trophy for the Corinthian class, won last year for the first time by Ernest Woolf; the Uhlman Challenge Trophy, for the champion hunter; the John McEntee Bowman Challenge Cup, for hunt teams, and the Warren Green Hotel Challenge Vase for the saddle champion. Among new prizes to be won this year are ten service plates for the American fox hound classes. Four silver goblets form the trophies for the various pony classes.

A large tray for the best lady's hunter, a silver waiter for the best lady's saddle horse, a silver water pitcher for the best family hunt team, and, in the event the two driving classes for sport tandems and four-in-hands are filled, additional trophies will be provided.

SOLDIERS DESCEND ON TEXAS OIL AREA

martial law proclamation would follow that of Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma and would order a complete shutdown of all the 1,625 wells in the flush fields.

A shutdown as complete as that enforced by Gov. Murray in the flush fields of Oklahoma would take at least 700,000 barrels of crude oil daily from the market. Last week the area, the second richest field in the United States, set an all-time record by producing 738,000 barrels daily—and that in the face of pleas for a voluntary shutdown.

Price Boost Foreseen.

The Kettleman Hills field in California is the only field in the world having a greater potential production than that of the 146,000 acres of proven producing territory in east Texas.

Such a sharp reduction in the Nation's oil supply as would be caused by a complete shutdown of this field could have but one effect, oil men predicted tonight. It would send oil prices booming.

Gov. Murray, when he closed the wells of Oklahoma by martial law, demanded that pipe lines boost the crude price to $1 a barrel. Oil has been selling for from 10 to 25 cents a barrel in east Texas, and many Oklahoma refineries turned to this great reserve for oil.

Shortage Expected Soon.

In the event Gov. Sterling joins forces with Gov. Murray, refineries will begin to feel the pinch of oil shortage within a few days, it was said, and belief was general that the oil men will set the $1 price regarded by Gov. Murray as reasonable.

Prize List Issued For Horse Exhibit

Colored Show Scheduled at Orange for Two Days This Week.

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., Aug. 16.—The official prize list of the twelfth annual exhibit of the Orange Colored Horse Show and Racing Association has just been distributed and according to B. F. Fowler, president, indications are that this will be a banner exhibit, both in entries and interest.

The show will be held on the grounds near Orange on Wednesday and Thursday. The program provides for ten classes and five races each day, with prizes totaling approximately $925.

The classes include breeder classes, brood mares, horses in harness, green hunters, combination and saddle, hunters and jumpers, men's park hack, roadster class, women's driving class, best pair hunters and Orange County hunters.

Officers of the association are: B. F. Fowler, president; Herbert Lindsay, first vice president; Augustus Ellis, general manager; George Terrell, treasurer, and Andrew Maples, secretary. The board of directors is composed of the above named officers and H. Durette, Dr. H. P. Cobbs, V. Richardson, James and John Terrill, Marshall Ellis, John Williams and Annie Armstead.

Protest on Truck Rates Planned at Warrenton

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., Aug. 16.—A mass meeting has been called for next Wednesday night in the courthouse here for the purpose of organizing a Fauquier County branch of the Virginia Truck Owners Association.

A number of speakers will protest the proposed new truck rates. Warrenton and Fauquier County do a great deal of hauling by truck, the lower end of the county being a dairy country. A large number of milk trucks travel the roads daily into Washington. The farmers and merchants in this community are much aroused over the proposed increase in rates and the meeting is in protest of such increase.

Hounds Master Named For Trials at Leesburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., Aug. 16.—William Skinker, of The Plains, Fauquier County, has been named master of the fox hounds for the tenth annual trials of the Virginia Fox Hound Association to be held in Leesburg the week of October 12. Mr. Skinker is widely known as a sportsman and rider. Announcement of the field and bench judges for the trials will be made later by J. M. B. Lewis, president of the association.

ENGINEER REGIMENT EMBARKS FOR CAMP

121st National Guard Unit to Spend Two Weeks at Virginia Beach.

The 121st Regiment of Engineers enlisted from the District of Columbia and vicinity under command of Col. John W. Oehmann, 1953 Lawrence street northeast, left yesterday on the steamer City of Washington for two weeks of training at Virginia Beach. Enlisted strength of the regiment at camp is 500.

Led by its band, the organization left the National Guard Armory at Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, early in the afternoon and marched to the dock at the foot of Seventh street. Several hundred of friends and relatives were on hand to cheer the engineers when the boat left at 5 o'clock.

It was announced that changes had been made in the camp training schedule to provide more theoretical instruction and less heavy engineering work such as trench digging and bridge building.

Included among problems which the regiment will study is a one-day maneuver mapped out by Col. Oehmann providing for an active combat exercise on the waterfront near the camp. A trench defense plan will be laid out early in the morning which will require protection from an advancing enemy pending arrival of infantry troops.

An official inspection of the camp will be made by Maj. Anton Stephan, commanding officer of the Twenty-ninth National Guard Division, next Sunday, the entire organization passing in review.

Naval Academy Sailor Held as Drunken Driver

R. P. Beutler, a sailor attached to the United States Naval Academy, was charged yesterday with driving while drunk and reckless driving after striking an automobile driven by William P. Lowman, of 2310 Connecticut avenue, on the Defense highway, near Landover, Md.

Beutler was arrested by Prince Georges County Policeman Claude Reese. He is held in default of bail at the Bladensburg Jail.

Maid Says du Pont Tried Her Honesty

She Tired of His Tests So Got $50,000 in Jewels and Fled, She Avers.

Chicago, Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Mrs. Alma Ludwig, maid, who said she got so tired of "honesty tests" imposed upon her at the Wilmington, Del., home of Ernest du Pont that she finally stole $50,000 worth of jewels, will be returned to Wilmington immediately, police said tonight.

Mrs. Ludwig was arrested here yesterday when she attempted to sell $40,000 of the gems she took from her millionaire employer to a pawnshop owner. She said she already had disposed of $10,000 in jewels in Eastern cities, receiving a total of $215.

"I went to work for the du Ponts on August 6," she said. "The first day I was with them I found a $5 bill on the floor. The next day I found a $10 bill, which made me think they were trying to find out if I was honest. I turned the money over to them, but when they went out on their yacht on the third day, I gathered up all the jewelry I could find. I went first to New York, where a pawnbroker gave me $50 for one piece. A stranger gave me $100 on another piece and then I went to Philadelphia, where I got $65 for a ring."

Mrs. Ludwig waived extradition.

Man Sought for Inquiry Into Lumber Yard Blaze

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 16.—Federal and State fire marshals' representatives were here today conferring with city and county authorities and endeavoring to establish the identity of a man for questioning concerning the burning of one of the large lumber yards and storage house of Glaize & Brother during the recent annual convention of the Virginia State Firemen's Association and the Cumberland Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association.

More than 1,000,000 feet of finished lumber, most of it fine walnut, was destroyed along with the building containing it.

Fourth Bank Joins Closings in Toledo

Reserves Tied Up in Two Other Suspending Institutions, Board Says.

Toledo, O., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—In the wake of announcement that three large Toledo banks will not open tomorrow morning, directors of the American Bank, a State bank, held a special meeting today and requested the State Banking Department to take over its affairs.

The American Bank was prepared to meet ordinary demands but found its reserves tied up in the Ohio Savings Bank & Trust Co. and the Commercial Savings Bank & Trust Co.

The other bank which will not open tomorrow is the Commerce Guardian Trust & Savings Bank.

The American Bank has deposits of about $1,000,000 and reserves on deposit in larger banks amounted to more than $144,000.

Eleven savings associations operating under the building and loan laws of Ohio announced today that they would cease to pay out withdrawals due to the extraordinary financial situation here.

Miss Tyrrell Becomes Bride Of W. C. Seipp

English Girl, Student at Foxcroft, Is Wed at Middleburg.

A number of Washingtonians find interest in the wedding Saturday of Miss Roberta Tyrrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tyrrell, of Shorncliffe, Kent, England, and Mr. William C. Seipp, of Middleburg, Va., formerly of Chicago.

The ceremony was performed at Belvoir House, the country place in Loudoun County of Mr. and Mrs. Fairfax Harrison. A reception followed. The bride, since her arrival from England, has been at Foxcroft School, near Middleburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Noll, and daughters, Misses Frances and Irene Noll, have left for Atlantic City and Philadelphia.

Miss Alice B. W. Quaid and Miss Margaret M. Quaid left yesterday on a motor trip through the Finger Lake district of New York and will go to Buffalo. There they will take the S. S. Juanita for a cruise of the Great Lakes and later will tour eastern Canada and a part of the New England States.

Bly Roach Wed At Seminary to Mr. Hensey, Jr.

Marriage of Miss Bly Roach, daughter of Mr. R. R. Roach, of Charleston, W. Va., and Mr. Melville D. Hensey, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville D. Hensey, of Washington, took place Saturday afternoon in the Elizabeth Sommers Chapel of Mount Vernon Seminary. Tall white candles were used on the altar with baskets of gladioli. Dr. Lucius A. Clark, chancellor of American University, read the service at 4 o'clock.

The bride's attendant was Miss Anne Older, of Charleston, who was maid of honor. Mr Francis J. Short, of Washington, was best man and ushers were Mr. George H. Larkin and Mr. Archibald A. Biggs, also of Washington.

The bridal gown was of peach color mousseline de soie made on long princess lines. The neck line was cut in bertha style. A large picture hat matched the gown and she carried talisman roses, lilies of the valley and gypsophelia. Miss Older wore green chiffon, the skirt made with godets of ecru lace. She carried an old fashioned bouquet and her hat was of green horsehair braid.

After a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hensey, parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Hensey, jr., left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a smart brown and white suit and with accessories to match. They will be at home in the La Salle at Charleston, W. Va., after September 1.

Mrs. Hensey attended Stuart Hall at Staunton, Va., Morris Harvey Collete at Barbersville, W. Va., and was graduated from New River State College in Montgomery, W. Va.

Mr. Hensey was graduated from the University of Cincinnati and is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

The Minister of Austria and Mme. Prochnik and their family will return to Washington in about a week. They have been at Rehoboth Beach for some time, having leased a cottage there.

Bird Club to Use Roosevelt Home.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former President, has offered the use of Sagamore Hill, her home on Long Island, for a public meeting to be held in September by the Bird Club of Long Island, which President Roosevelt formed in 1915. Mr. Frank M. Chapman, curator of ornithology at the American Museum of Natural History in New York, will be the speaker.

Abdol Bader, Charge d'Affaires of Persia, entertained informally at dinner last night at the legation.

Maj. and Mrs. R. H. Smith, of Washington, who have been the guests of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Harriet P. Rogers, in West Point, N. Y., have departed for Swampscott, Mass.

Viscount de Lantsheere, first secretary of the Belgian Embassy, who has been abroad for several months, will arrive in New York Wednesday on the Bremen and will come directly to Washington.

Representative and Mrs. Richard Yates will leave Washington Thursday for New York preparatory to sailing Saturday on the California for Glasgow, Scotland, where they will visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Henderson, and their two young sons, Richard Yates Henderson and John W. Henderson, jr.

Mrs. Harry A. Hull, wife of the commissioner general of immigration, entertained at a luncheon Friday at Wardman Park Hotel, where they make their home.

To Europe

Harris & Ewing.

MRS. LOUIS R. PEAK will spend two months in travel in Europe and the British Isles.

Mrs. O'Donnell Wed to Former Czar's Officer

Husband Served as Naval Attache Here and as Aid to Kolchak.

Reports have been received here of the marriage in Paris Saturday of Mrs. Marie Josephine Hartford O'Donnell, former wife of C. Oliver O'Donnell, both socially prominent in Oyster Bay, Long Island, and Commander Vladimir Makaroff, former officer in the czar's navy.

Reports indicated that the couple was married at a civil ceremony, but that a religious one would take place within a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell were married in 1923 and divorced July 15 of this year at Minden, Nev. They lived for several years at Mr. O'Donnell's estate at Oyster Bay.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edward V. Hartford, of 1033 Fifth avenue, New York, and Seaverge, Newport, R. I. She was married to Mr. O'Donnell on September 8, 1923, in Bayville, Long Island.

Commander Makaroff is the son of Mme. C. N. Makaroff, of Nice, France, and the late Admiral S. O. Makaroff, who was A. D. C. to the Emperor of Russia and a noted inventor and naval authority.

Commander Makaroff was graduated from the Russian Naval Academy in 1912, and at the beginning of the World War served on the armored cruiser Admiral Makaroff, named for his father. He was decorated by both the Russian and British governments for bravery in action.

In 1917, after the Russian revolution, he became assistant to the Russian Naval Attache in Washington, and in 1918 he returned to Siberia under command of Admiral Kolchak in the latter's campaign against the Bolsheviks.

Mr. and Mrs. Phaon H. Bates have closed their house at 3835 Livingston street and left Washington for the remainder of the summer, the former having sailed last week for Europe with their daughter, Miss Marion Bates.

Mrs. Bates accompanied Mr. Bates and their daughter to New York and is now visiting relatives in Toronto, making the trip there by way of the White Mountains and Quebec. Miss Madeline Bernard, a classmate of Miss Bates at the University of Maryland, went to Canada with Mrs. Bates and will return to Washington this week.

Included among the guests will be Mrs. Luis Munoz-Marin, director of activities of the National Woman's Party; Miss Laura Berrien, Mrs. Nina E. Allender, Mrs. Bernita Shelton Matthews, Miss Helen May Wheeler, Miss Barbara Sinclair, Mr. L. G. van Hoorn, Miss Betty Dyer, Mr. Paul Linebarger, jr., Miss Jessie Harden, Miss Laura Stockton Voorhees, Mr. Andre Cataui, Mrs. Concha Romera, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Greene, Mr. Harvey Wiley, Miss Sally Clark, Mr. William G. Eliot 3d and Miss Muriel Gray.

Mrs. Long and Daughter Start Tour of South.

Mrs. Frank S. Long, wife of Col. Long, with her daughter, Miss Pauline Yates Long, left Friday for an extended motor trip through the South. They will visit friends in Palm Beach and Havana, and will make the return trip through the Smoky Mountains.

They will return to Washington for a brief stay the middle of September before joining Col. Long in New York.

Mrs. Thomas D. Thacher, wife of the Solicitor General, and her daughters, Miss Sally Thacher and Miss Mary Thacher, who spent last week in New York, have returned to their summer home at Watch Hill, R. I.

Mrs. John Q. Tilson, wife of Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, is in New York, where she is staying at the Roosevelt.

Senora de Sacasa, who is with Senora de Arias, wife of the Minister of Panama, in Canada, is expected back the latter part of the week.

Mr. Vinton Chapin, especially appointed third secretary during the duration of conferences in Paris on President Hoover's moratorium plan, arrived in New York yesterday from France and will come to Washington.

Miss Mildred Blaine Clarke, daughter of Mrs. Aubrey Lynn Clarke, has left Washington for Norfolk, where she will be the guest for about ten days of Miss Jessica Deane Simmons, a classmate at Ward Belmont.

Mrs. Clarke has been the guest for about a week of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. West at Narragansett Pier.

Miss Elizabeth McDonald and her two sisters, Miss Frances McDonald and Miss Marie McDonald, have gone to the White Mountains in New Hampshire where they will be guests of Mrs. John W. Gunder. Later the trio will go to Quebec.

Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Bond, of Iowa City, Iowa, are week-end guests at the Dodge. Dr. Bond is a member of the faculty in the chemistry department of the State University of Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gassaway have returned to their home after spending a week in Atlantic City.

FOR WIVES ONLY

WHAT things do you hold dearest? If you're like most of us they run somewhat in this order: Family, Health, Happiness, Appearance, Youth.

But have you ever stopped to think how easily they are lost?

Remember the old proverb. For want of a nail the shoe was lost. For want of a shoe the horse was lost. For want of a horse the rider was lost. Frequently, battles, even destinies of nations, depend on little things.

We see the big results of small neglects all around us. Even in our own homes. A child denied companionship. A wife too tired to be pleasant . . . Too thoughtless of her own vitality—her youthful charm. A husband vexed by late suppers, by makeshift breakfasts : : : ashamed of home-washed shirts.

Hundreds of other little domestic dangers start with washday in the home. But they don't stop there. They go on and on, gathering momentum, making life unpleasant. But we think we're saving money.

And we think it's appreciated. That's the cream of the jest! More likely our children—and our husbands too—are secretly ashamed of their "washwomen wives and mothers." Plain talk, yes, but it's a plain case.

The solution is not only easy—but economical. Pick a good laundry. Pick one that gives fast, economical service. One that saves you money by saving your clothes. We do these things for thousands of Washington women every day, here at Manhattan. And they consider their money well spent. They wouldn't go back to home washing because they know that many things besides original cost are important.

Many of them have seen how Manhattan's soft net bags keep out the wear that wears out clothes. How each piece is washed in suds of pure palm oil soap. Rinsed with soft, filtered water. Returned in three short days.

Manhattan services are worked out to fit every need—every purse. Hundreds of families send the flat work if nothing more. Some women use a service like Homestic and touch up the wearing apparel at home. Others use our complete ready-to-wear services. But the service is easily fitted to your needs. The main thing is to get washday out of the home!

After all, this is an age of specialization. We buy bread from bakers, milk from milkmen : : : why not laundering from laundries?

It's the only way to escape four solid years of washday work and worry. (Figure it up, a day a week, between the ages 20 to 45).

If you agree that it's worth a trial, phone Decatur 1120. Just leave your address and we'll send a Manhattan representative to explain our money-saving services to you. But don't put it off any longer. Health and Happiness are too precious. Remember, Decatur 1120 . . . or better still, tear this out as a reminder.

NOTHING GIVES SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE

PRE-SHRUNK PRICES

As soon as we know the kind of food you want us to buy for you, we start right in to shrink our prices. And we continue the process until the food is finally handed to you over our counters.

In other words, when producers charge us less for food, we lower our prices to you at once. And when we find a less expensive way of shipping, or storing, or trucking, or storekeeping, we shrink our prices accordingly. Or, if we can reduce the cost of doing anything that adds to the price you pay, we pass the savings on to you as a matter of course.

By starting way back at the beginning and planning ahead, we can sell the best grade of food at surprisingly low prices. And make a small profit besides.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

PREPARATIONS are under-way for the re-transmission in this country of the reception which Japan is planning for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. Their response to the official welcome by Matajiro Koizumi, the Japanese Minister of Communications, will be heard throughout the United States, over a WJZ network, if weather conditions permit.

The broadcast is expected to transpire about 6:30 a. m., E. S. T. next Sunday morning, August 23. The date is tentative, of course.

The speeches will be transmitted by RCA Communications from Tokio to Point Reyes, Cal., thence to the San Francisco relay of the NBC network.

Of all the millions of people who are following the progress of the Lindbergh's night to the Orient, perhaps the most interested observers are the radio amateurs, estimated to be about 2,000 in number, who are intimately following the plane in its flight by directed listening to its radio transmission.

They have a more important object in listening to the concise messages sent regularly by Mrs. Lindbergh than mere curiosity, however, for they are on their mettle to give information and warning to the nearest points of contact in the event of emergency.

MUSIC from the Wagner Festival in Bayreuth, Germany, will be heard in the United States for the first time when an attempt to rebroadcast a portion of "Tristan und Isolde" is made tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 3 o'clock). The performance will be the third and last in the current series at the great composer's birthplace. William Furtwaengler, of the Berlin Philharmonic will conduct.

A program devoted to explanation and advocacy of the "Children's Charter" will be heard this afternoon (WMAL, 4:30 o'clock), when George A. Hastings will speak from Washington.

The "Charter" is the codification of principles on child health adopted at the White House conference held last November. Hastings, who is executive clerk of the presidential secretariat, probably will reflect Mr. Hoover's views on a subject in which he is deeply interested.

Canada's popular orchestra leader, Jack Denny, has been signed by NBC for exclusive radio appearances twice weekly, Tuesdays (WEAF network, 10:30 p. m.) and Fridays (WJZ net, 10:30 p. m.).

KAYE DON, daring breaker of speedboat records, who recently drove a shell-like craft through the water at the terrific speed of 110 miles per hour, will be interviewed by a sports announcer during a special broadcast next Wednesday (WRC, 7:15 p. m.).

The British racing boat driver, who arrived in this country August 11, will meet Gar Wood, American speedboat king, and will later accompany Wood to Detroit, where they will both go after new records early in September.

A new series of dramatic sketches, "The Corner Drug Store," will be broadcast weekly, beginning tomorrow (WRC, 6:30 p. m.). The series is the work of Percy Hemus, veteran actor. Other members of the cast are Rosaline Green, Catherine Renwick, and Frank Luther.

Amos 'n' Andy will celebrate on Wednesday night when they will have concluded two years of nightly visits to listeners over the network.

The king of American orchestra leaders, according to Orchestra World, musical journal, is Rudy Vallee. This declaration is the result of a national popularity contest. Ted Weems was accorded second place.

The dramatic actress, Alice Brady, will be the guest of Dennis King, presenting with him the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" during the entire 15 minutes of Mr. King's regular program on Wednesday evening (WMAL, 6:15 o'clock.).

SEVERAL days ago the program director at NBC received the following note from June Rollar, 13, of Caldwell, N. J.:

"I have a grand idea for broadcasting," she wrote. "If you have fifteen minutes a week or fifteen minutes a day or every other day, to spare, I would like to try it on the air. All I need is a piano. I supply the rest."

Then she outlined "The June Rollar Program"—listing musical numbers on a piano and a "gazooka," a chapter of her own mystery story and a recitation of poetry by herself.

"A gazooka," she explained, "is a thing you hum a tune in and it sounds like a violin only much louder."

June was invited to come in to WEAF for an audition. The answer was that Wednesday afternoon (WRC, 2:15 o'clock), fifteen minutes will be spared for "The June Rollar Program."

June doesn't know that she is the first young lady to write in about "a grand broadcasting idea" and get on the air all by herself with a piano and a gazooka.

Sister Frances Helen Renamed School Head

Sister Frances Helen, of the Sisters of Providence, has been reappointed superioress of Immaculate Seminary in Washington for the ensuing school year. The appointment was made yesterday at the mother house in St. Mary-of-the-Woods, Indiana, where she had just completed a spiritual retreat of eight days.

Sister Frances Helen is one of the leading educators of her community. Her appointment last year as superioress of Immaculata resulted in the largest enrollment in the seminary's quarter-century history.

Jane Interprets the Mode

Sports frock of pale rose "linellic," with a deeper rose linen cape-scarf, dotted with tiny white beads. (Courtesy of Bruyere, Paris.)

New York, Aug. 16.

FLEE, little birds, to the mountains! And hop, skip and jump, or whatever you do when you're in a hurry, you long-legged ostriches, to the tall timbers where Fashion's hunters can't find you! And you graceful, arching swans, emulate the submarine if you see a lovely lady fasten her eyes with more than esthetic appreciation on you as you swim in your swaying fountain!

For it's a distinctly sad time to be a bird, what with the new little hats calling for feather trimmings and even whole bird trimmings, and ostrich feathers floating and swaying from as many places as ostrich feathers could possibly float and sway from, and marabout boas being used as the latest evening scarf idea and edging many and many a negligee! You never know what Dame Fashion will evolve for your ruination, little birds, once she gets started on a fashion revival in a great big way!

And that's what happened! Feathers aren't a new thing, however you look at them, but it is likely that never before have they been swept along the fashion horizon with half the vigor that they're sweeping today. Because, you see, nowadays we know how to use them becomingly—just take out one of grandmother's hats with a stuffed looloo bird perched all over the crown, if you don't see what I mean, and compare it carefully with a new little Second Empire hat which may have too little stuffed chickadees, but perched with that air of chic and knowledge that gives real beauty and not plain amusement.

And no one can deny the grace and imagination that's used in the ostrich trimming field today. I recently saw a white chiffon evening frock over a white taffeta petticoat, for instance, and this petticoat was edged with curling white ostrich tips in a most adorable way!

Sports clothes have to be more than just practical for sports, now don't they? I mean, if they are not a treat to the eye, they aren't especially important! And when it's perfectly possible to wear sports clothes that are both practical and beautiful, it's a crime not to. The frock I have sketched today from Bruyere is certainly both of these things. It's of pale rose "linellic" with a slightly circular skirt and an interesting diagonally incrusted bodice, sleeveless, of course. And the narrow belt of the same material ties informally in the front.

• • • •

If you have a too-plain sports frock, why not figure out little scarves or capes or things to dress it up for the rest of the season?

• • • •

Lots of people know what a French word means if they see it written in a style magazine. 'N' lots can write a fashion French word if they have to; but, alas, all too few know or dare to pronounce these words out loud. And they're so easy, if you know how. And you will know how if you hurry and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. This week's leafit spells, defines and pronounces all those charming fashion French words which grace the easy conversation of the woman of the world.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

IN TIME OF DROUGHT.

DURING a prolonged drought we must give special care to both our lawns and our flowers. We must water all plants until the ground is saturated not less than 4 inches in depth; never spray them when the temperature drops suddenly, for this causes mildew.

It is much better literally to soak the lawn with the garden hose once each week than to water superficially for an hour or so each evening. Of course light sprinkling accomplishes this much good: it does check transpiration from the leaves and evaporation from the surface of the ground for a short time. But it does not give enough water to soak into the ground and really saturate it for a depth of some inches. If your lawn has been well made it will be able to withstand a great deal of drought.

A good way to water is to lay the hose on the ground and allow the water to flow freely from it on one spot for an hour, then move it to another portion of ground. This method of watering can be done at any part of the day or night. It does not injure a lawn to water it when the sun is shining on it.

During the latter part of August it is well to mulch your gladiolas, dahlias and lilies. You can use grass clippings or peat moss for the purpose. The mulch will conserve the moisture and at the same time keep the weeds from encroaching on the ground about their roots.

All newly planted shrubbery should be kept well watered. This also is true of evergreens or newly planted trees. Every evergreen should be given two buckets of water a day during prolonged hot spells. Hydrangeas which are growing in lawn tubs should be watered but in extremely hot weather they should be watered twice a day, early in the morning and after sundown.

Never apply liquid manure to such plants as chrysanthemums, dahlias or hydrangeas during a drought without first watering the soil. I find a great many people think because the manure is liquid that it takes the place of a daily application of water. This is a mistake. Liquid manure should be applied on moist soil and then be followed by an application of water.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Bach Starts a Riot.

WHEN that self-sacrificing soul who signed himself "Bach" took pen in hand he started a near riot among the sex he branded as "merely emotional." How any experienced woman can do anything but smile when a man begins to talk about "emotion," is beyond us. But here we have wives, mothers, grandmothers, sweethearts and even the lowly mother-in-law taking a hand in telling "Bach" a few things about the merely emotional sex.

Bach has even inspired one woman to literary ambitions. She wants us to tell her how she can go about writing for other women. Says this volunteer spokesman for the downtrodden sex: "I have always wanted to write, but now I feel I simply must. Will you tell me how to go about it?" and then she proceeds to "go about it" in rather good style with a scathing answer to "Bach." We herewith present her letter and assure her that no one can tell another how to "go about" writing. Writers just write and nothing can stop them. Just as nothing starts them. We will do this much. If this woman or any other feels she has something to tell the world, we will be glad to give it space. Many a writer started in just that fashion, signing a name that presently became a household word. So, Mrs. E. D., clear the table, get the pen and ink—and remember that there is only one side to a sheet of paper in a newspaper shop. And now read your first appearance in print. We consider it a good start:

Dear Frances McDonald: Apropos of the controversy involving man's judgment versus woman's on the subject of marriage may I ask this question of the gentleman who wrote the letter signed "Bach"—just what quality or qualities constitute man's perfection and infallibility to the extent that he, and he only, is eligible to diagnose a woman's love as mere "emotional upheaval?" He says he loved a woman. Was that emotional upheaval? How is he competent to discriminate between his superior feeling for her and hers for him by branding hers merely emotional? The man hands himself the privilege of being accuser, jury, judge and executioner all in one, simply by selfishly deciding that this woman did not know of what she was capable. Whence comes this right of his? The defect is not in the woman's inability to judge aright, but in the man's inability to crow into his limited capacity the bigness of a woman's possibilities. I happen to be a wife and mother who married at the worst possible time, gauging by these material standards. A young, spoiled child. I married a widower with a child. He was over his ears in debt, discouraged by illness, death, debt and disillusion. I blithely accepted all this, and contributed many illnesses of my own to his list, with two new children, many changes of residence, loss of jobs, disappointments, &c., but through it all this man has given me credit for being a guiding light in many a dark spot, and for risking our home and prospects many times for a grim battle for future betterment.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"DRAWING EVERY WRINKLE OF YOUR HAND."

THE exchange of accurate information between partners, during the bidding is an essential to the successful play of Contract Bridge. By no other means can the safe limits of the trick-taking power of the combined hands be accurately determined.

In the conveying of information and in the drawing of inferences Bridge partners discover also that they have two adversaries at the table who, if they are wide-awake, may also spend the time not engaged in passing, in drawing a few inferences themselves in regard to honor strength and suit distribution.

In a championship contest some time ago I saw North and South bid a hand in a most brilliant manner. Each bid conveyed information of the highest moment and each inference was correctly drawn by the partner of the bidder. The only part played by their opponents in the bidding was to give the North and South players an opportunity, apparently, to tighten the noose of a Slam bid around their helpless necks.

The hands were:
North—Dealer.
South-North vulnerable.
East-West not vulnerable.

	♠ K 10 8 ♥ A 4 3 2 ♦ 5 4 ♣ A Q 10 6
♠ A 7 ♥ K J 9 8 6 ♦ 7 6 ♣ J 5 4 3	N W E S	♠ 6 5 4 ♥ Q 10 7 5 ♦ K J 10 3 2 ♣ 2
	♠ Q J 9 3 2 ♥ — ♦ A Q 9 8 ♣ K 9 8 7

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	3♥!!(2)	Pass
3NT	Pass	4♠	Pass
5♠(3)	Pass	6♣(4)	Pass
6♠	Pass	Pass	Dbl.?(5)
Rdbl.!(6)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—An overbid of a suit previously bid by the opponent indicates either a void or at least the Ace of that suit. In this hand a jump club Raise or a spade bid will fail to convey to North a precise picture of South's hand. South reasons, among other things, that unless North is informed that diamonds, if any, are not losers his subsequent bidding will be greatly hampered. South, of course, could not know, as yet, whether a Slam was really feasible or even what the final bid would be. That would largely depend on North's responses.

2—This second Overcall of adverse suit throws brilliant light upon South's hand. North, who holds a fair to middling (?) hand could not even attempt a Slam without the information.

3—North holds the key card in spades, of which his partner is not aware. North also realizes that the only possible losers are to the spade Ace and either a diamond or a club, hence his five spade bid that marks two possible losers.

4—Here the key card is a diamond Queen, without which any six bid would have been unwise. At the same time South, by switching to six clubs, conveys an indirect inference that her spade suit is rather shaky.

5—This Double would not be recommended in rubber play and even in tournament play it was a close question. Its soundness is predicated wholly upon the assumption that North and South held between them at least eight clubs. If their holding is less, which it could scarcely be from the bidding, then the Double has simply increased the size of the score which North and South will chalk up.

6—All the eggs are in one basket now. The contract can not be defeated more than 1 trick. North feels that for the chance of the rich premium given for a Redouble, this risk is justified.

In the play West correctly applied the inferences he had drawn from the bidding. East might have held no clubs and if West's inferences are correct he certainly could not have held more than one. West is certain to get in the lead on the first round of trumps. The bidding has shown that East must hold at least two trumps and quite probably three. Therefore, another lead of clubs must defeat the contract if there was no flaw in West's reasoning.

The result was the defeat of a well-bid hand by the margin of 1 trick, due entirely to the alertness of West in reading the messages conveyed by the North and South partnership. They had told each other, and thus their adversaries, that they held no losers in hearts or diamonds. The only chance then left for defeating the contract lay in the possibility of two trump tricks. This possibility West seized and capitalized with telling effect. South, it is clear, would have been better advised to have made the Slam try in clubs.

TODAY'S POINTER.
The Structure of Partnership Inferences.

The secret of partnership bidding revolves around a simple question: Has my hand some new fact, some definite value which my partner does not logically assume or of which he is not aware from previous bidding? If my hand does contain some element which my partner has not assumed I speak up; if my story has been told already or is inferentially known to partner, I keep silent. In the rigidly intellectual language of bids, meaningless repetition or unjustifiable silence is equally fatal.

All partnership methods are built on the basis of bidding minimums, logically assumed. The Opening bidder assumes, and includes in his bidding minimums, definite expectances in the Responding Hand. These logical assumptions are temporary substitutes for more precise information to be obtained in the course of bidding and only a weak or a dooden player takes them for granted. There are three kinds of expectancies:

1. Honor strength.
2. Trump distribution.
3. Total or playing-tricks.

It is the job of the Responding Hand to confirm, increase or deny these assumptions.

The Responding Hand passes when its strength is below expectations; makes a minimum response when the hand is somewhat better than the Opening Hand has a logical right to assume; and jumps the bid, flashing a possibility of game or Slam when his hand is considerably better than the Opening Hand has a logical right to assume. In this manner both the Opening and Responding Hands start with a definite set of "bidding minimums" and assumptons and, as the bidding unfolds itself, build up their structure of inferences.

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF August 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:45 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger hours are from 6 a. m. to 8:35 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

Looking through astrological spectacles, August 17 is seen to be a day of confusion—it will be impossible for the moment to advance ideals and ideas dear to you. Plans will be frustrated, interruptions will be frequent and numerous and nerves will become frayed.

A child born on this August 17 will have considerable mental power, originality, ingenuity and resourcefulness. It will be an apt student, and a specialized training would not be wasted upon it. It will have a cooperative spirit.

Born on August 17, you never challenge the universe. By temperament you think of the walls of circumstance as being granite. If you had more courage and enterprise you would discover that most of the barriers which surround your life are made of paper. You lack the nerve necessary to push your talents, or to place corner stones under your dream castles in the air. You quickly clasp a helping hand, but you are too slow to strike a fatal blow to the resisting hand. You resent interference from others, but you do not fight opposition or demand your proper place in the sun.

You have an academic, routine mind, and, whereas you might excel in a secondary position, you would be a complete failure of your own. You must capitalize your finer points—thoroughness, patience, honesty, industry and dependability. You must guard your weaknesses, lack of originality, lack of initiative and lack of self-confidence.

You are admittedly unselfish and thoughtful, and too tender hearted fo. your own good. You are very sensitive to "atmospheres" and are an uncanny mind reader. You have pronounced "hunches," especially as to ill omens, which have a tendency to make you melancholy. You do not carry your griefs lightly, for you have never learned the secret of mastering disappointment. Great as your sympathy is for others, it does not compare with your self-pity which is at times overpowering.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With DON B. REED

SINCE the boys in the city room, from whom I escaped to bat for Nelson during a well-earned vacation, insist that the duties of a dramatic and movie critic consist of panning something about each show, I might as well put myself in right with them now and get it over.

Now there was "Miracle Woman." The tabernacle was blazing. Still inside were Barbara Stanwyck and David Manners. The fire trucks started out. By the time Barbara and David had staggered out, collapsed on the lawn, been carried to an ambulance and the crowd had begun to sing, the fire should have been under control. But the last shot, just as Barbara and David were being carted away, showed the entire tabernacle an inferno with nary a fireman nor a line of hose in sight. Fire Chief George Watson would get a laugh from that one.

And then there's the announcer in the Paramount News Reel at the Columbia who says the speed of light is 760,000 miles per hour. Since light travels 186,324 miles per second and 3,600 seconds make up an hour, light would seem to be moving along at the gentle pace of 670,766,400 miles per hour. But then what is 670,000,000 miles per hour among friends?

The boys in the managers' offices seemed to have hit them on the head for the present week, if Friday, Saturday and Sunday business is any indication. Trying to get in to see Will Rogers at the Fox; Nick Lucas at the Earle; Dirigible at the RKO-Keith house or Clark Gable and Ted Claire at the Palace, was all your life was worth. This may be August, the worst month in the year, but F street pedestrians will never be convinced.

Some time ago, when it was first announced that Nick Lucas was returning to the Earle, Mr. Nelson B. Bell, conductor of this column, remarked that he would like to have Nick play an entire number on the guitar without any vocal accompaniment. If Mr. Bell has not left town on that vacation, he may have his wish granted for Mr. Lucas is playing a scintillating number called "Pickin' the Guitar" as part of his regular program.

With the release of their next Paramount picture, "Monkey Business," scheduled for next week, three of the four Marx brothers are in New York negotiating with Sam H. Harris, Flo Ziegfeld and George White regarding the production of their next stage musical show. The books and lyrics will be typically Marx but the score has not as yet been composed.

Leslie Howard, who has been appearing on local screens with considerable regularity of late, is scheduled to star in Philip Barry's new play, to be brought out in midseason and which is as yet unnamed.

Mr. W. A. Whitney, a member of The Post's motion picture reviewing staff who contributes timely topics to this column at opportune moments, arise to speculate on whether Reri, the South Sea star of "Tabu" will be as attractive when glorified by Mr. Ziegfeld as she is in the native costumes, or lack of costumes, in the picture. It is Mr. Whitney's opinion that Reri needs tropical background to set off her pulchritude but then Mr. Ziegfeld probably has a lot of that saved for just such an occasion.

A special messenger, covered with dust after his long ride in from Maryland, brings tidings of the opening of the Chateau Lido on the Rockville pike one week from tomorrow. According to the announcement at hand, Mischa Guterson is the director and in addition to dining and dancing, the Chateau Lido will offer Claire Ray, of the pictures; Gene Seville, a dancer from St. Moritz, Venice and Jacques Delchere and his orchestra who come from Chateau Lido in Daytona Beach, Fla.

The skeptics who are inclined to believe that New York gets all the breaks in the matter of motion picture releases might well take heed. Yesterday's motion picture section of the New York Herald-Tribune gave considerable space to a layout of stars in three headline photoplays on Broadway. And the pictures were "Miracle Woman" which played here last week; "Sporting Blood" now on display at the Palace and "Bought" coming to the Earle this Saturday.

My secret service operative No. 711 reports that the Laurel-Hardy comedy at the Columbia is one of the team's best. It seems the boys talk a little more and act a little less, but with the same funny results which have marked most of their endeavors.

I doubt whether any series of short subjects, since the cinema added sound to sight, has aroused the general interest occasioned by the Bobby Jones series which comes to a close at the Earle next week. Even nongolfers have found the set interesting because of George Marshall's excellent direction and the use of many Warner Bros. and First National luminaries as background for Bobby's lessons. As for the educational value to those interested in golf, I am in doubt. Bobby makes it look so easy that it is disgusting to see your own shots going helter-skelter over the course instead of right up to the cup as his do. But then maybe even Bobby takes a few shots before they release the film, so don't be discouraged.

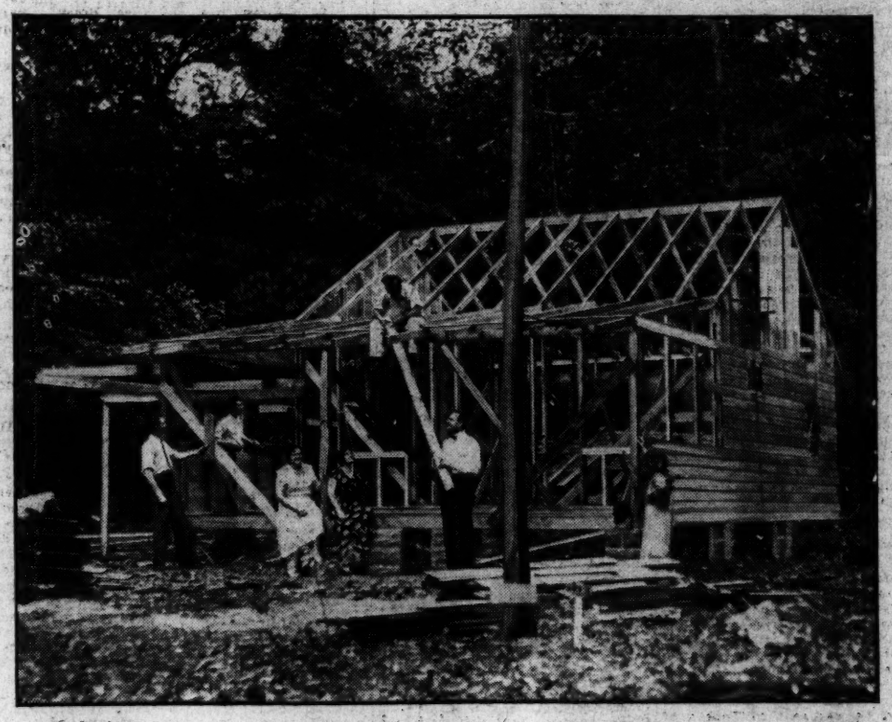
WOODLAND BEACH

BY buying a lot at WOODLAND BEACH you can have your own summer home at a resort which offers everything to be found at the most expensive summer places. Think of it! A place to send your wife and children away from the heat and dirt of the city and enjoy all the healthful recreations and sports which WOODLAND BEACH offers. Can you afford to miss this unusual opportunity?

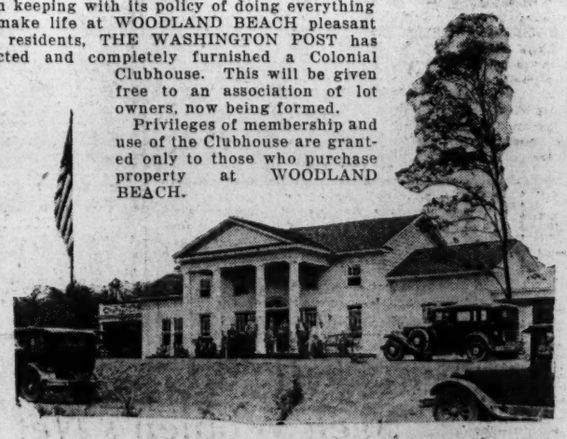
THE WASHINGTON POST feels that in offering WOODLAND BEACH to its present and future readers it is rendering them a real service. It is giving them an opportunity to establish a permanent summer home at the lowest possible cost.

WOODLAND BEACH is one of the beauty spots of this section of the country. It is located on two beautiful coves of the famous South River, an arm of Chesapeake Bay, and is easily and quickly reached by road from Washington and Baltimore.



In keeping with its policy of doing everything to make life at WOODLAND BEACH pleasant for residents, THE WASHINGTON POST has erected and completely furnished a Colonial Clubhouse. This will be given free to an association of lot owners, now being formed.

Privileges of membership and use of the Clubhouse are granted only to those who purchase property at WOODLAND BEACH.



How to Get There

WOODLAND BEACH is only 32 miles from Washington and 30 miles from Baltimore. It is reached from Washington via the Defense Highway (U. S. No. 50) to Camp Parole, then south across South River Bridge to Mayo Road then follow signs direct to property.

NATS DEFEAT BROWNS IN DOUBLE-HEADER, 5-3, 8-6

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

MR. CLARK GRIFFITH, controlling stockholder in the Nats, to whom a reputation has accrued for driving a sharp baseball bargain in his 43 years of dabbling in the human chattels of the diamond, was more pained than pleased to learn that Monte Weaver, his latest purchase, pitched and won two games for the Baltimore Orioles on Saturday.

Ordinarily nothing would warm the cockles of a magnate's heart more than to be advised that an expensive recruit slated for fall delivery was maintaining winning ways in the minors, but Griffith has discovered that a pitcher can win until it hurts—his prospects as a major leaguer.

The Orioles are working Weaver too hard in their effort to maintain their lead in the International League, Griffith contends. Although the pitcher is the property of the Nats, he is under contract with the Orioles for the remainder of the season. Griffith has rightly protested to Business Manager Weiss of the Baltimore Club that the Orioles must not forget the Nats' equity in the pitcher and that working him in another "iron man" stunt, or out of turn too frequently, will be cause enough to abrogate the trade.

Other Experiences

Griffith has had other experiences with minor league managers who were in possession of star rookies bought for future delivery by the Nats and has cause to hesitate when making any further deals of the kind.

There was the case of Clayton Van Alstyne, premier pitcher of the Southern Association, who had been sold to the Nats in midseason a few years ago. Van Alstyne was to finish out the season in the Southern League under the terms of the sale. His club was very much in the running throughout the entire campaign. It seemed that every time Griffith scanned the results of the Southern League race, Van Alstyne was in the box. They worked him four out of six days during one stretch in an effort to salt the pennant away. Griffith kicked, and rightly.

McLeod's Case

The case of Freddy McLeod, rookie shortstop, is another in point, although it illustrates that the rule may be worked inversely.

McLeod was the crack shortstop of the Southern Association with the Little Rock Club a few years ago. He was only 18 and Griffith bought him with the recommendation of Scout Joe Engel that he would develop quickly. The purchase was made early in the season for a fancy price with delivery in the fall.

Thereupon, the Little Rock management benched McLeod. Those were the days of high price tags for minor league players and the Little Rock Club deemed it wise to allow McLeod to idle in an effort to develop another infielder who might also be peddled to the majors.

When Griffith realized, after McLeod's name had been missing from the box score for three weeks, that his star rookie was on the bench for no other reason than the fact that Little Rock wanted to develop another man for major consumption, he burned and threatened to call off the deal unless McLeod was reinstalled in the line-up.

No Joy for Engel

McLeod's baseball career has been a succession of failures. He has thrice failed to make the grade with the Nats. He never lived up to his brilliant promise at Little Rock and was sent by the Nats to Chattanooga. He failed at Chattanooga and was shipped to Dallas in the Texas League. Dallas returned him to Griffith and he was sent to Topeka of the Western League. Topeka could find no use for him, and at recent reports he was performing with York in the lowly New York-Pennsylvania circuit.

The failure of McLeod has been a sore spot with Scout Engel. At Little Rock, McLeod's partner in the second-base combination was Dib Williams, clever rookie now with the Athletics. Engel had his choice of either McLeod or Williams for purchase by the Nats and chose McLeod, a rank failure, while Williams is being groomed to supplant either Max Bishop or Joe Boley in the infield of the world's champions.

Perry Beats Hall in Rye Finals

English, Davis Cup Ace, Easy Winner by 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

New Jersey Veteran Troubled by Poor Service.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Fredrick J. Perry, British Davis Cup singles star, romped through to an easy victory over J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., veteran, in the final round of the Eastern turf court tennis championships today.

Perry, who came over here principally to bid for the United States singles championship, disposed of Hall in straight sets at 6—3, 6—2, 6—4.

The Jersey player, whose presence in the final round, was accounted for only by his upset victory over Gregory S. Mangin, of Newark, N. J., in the semifinals yesterday, was no match for the Briton today. Perry needed only an hour t owin his first singles title in two visits to this country.

There were only nine breaks in service and Hall faltered six times. He was having extreme difficulty in getting his fast first ball across so that Perry invariably put the "sleeper" into play with advantage to himself.

The championship trophy was presented to Perry by Dr. Philip B. Hawk, of New York, chairman of the championship committee.

Grant Took Only Set From Perry.

In gaining the final, Perry had successively downed Bryant Grant, jr., of Atanta, Ga.; John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, and Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, the defending champion. Only Grant succeeded in taking a set from Perry.

Point Scores:

First set:
Perry	444	365	344	—37—6
Hall	121	543	561	—28—3
Second set:
Perry	404	444	53	—30—6
Hall	146	212	33	—22—2
Third set:
Perry	124	414	244	4—30—6
Hall	440	041	406	0—23—4

Earlier in the day, John Van Ryn and George Lott, of Philadelphia, had advanced to the final round of doubles by winning their semifinal round match with Jack Tidall and Lester Stoefen, of Los Angeles, 8—10, 6—4, 8—6. This match was started yesterday but called after each team had won a set.

Keeping up the fine team play which has marked their game all season, Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, Calif., and Ellsworth Vines, jr., of Pasadena, Calif., carried off the doubles title by defeating the Wimbledon champions, George Lott, and John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, 4—6, 6—3, 6—3, 11—9.

Robins Twice Defeat Reds as Wright Shines

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—With their captain and shortstop, Glenn Wright, back in the line-up for the first time since his leg injury on July 15, the Brooklyn Robins snapped their losing streak today, defeating the Cincinnati Reds twice by scores of 9 to 2 and 8 to 7.

Wright played the leading role in the heavy hitting. He had a double and two singles in three times at bat in the opening game, starting two of Brooklyn's scoring rallies before being taken out of the game. He hit a home run first time up in the second game and collected two more singles later.

Ruth's 33d Homer Gains Lead in Race For First Time This Season; Yankees Win

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and company overcame stubborn resistance today as the New York Yankees made it two in a row over the Tigers by winning, 9 to 6.

Ruth contributed a homer, his thirty-third of the season, and a double, and Gehrig got two doubles and a single. Each drove in three runs while Lary hit a homer in the fourth and drove in another run, besides.

Neither Mound Starter Finishes.

Neither starting pitcher survived. Pennock yielded to H. Johnson in the sixth after nine Tigers had faced him and turned five hits and a pair of walks into four runs. Herring lasted until the ninth when the Yankees got to him for two hits and a walk to win the game. Sullivan allowed one more run.

The Bambino's blow into the right field bleachers sent him into the lead in the American League home run race.

This is the first time this season that the home-run king of the junior circuit has been out in front. While he has been getting his four-baggers quite frequently of late, it is hardly likely that he can break his league record of 60, which he set in 1927, for the Yankees play but 39 more games this season and hitting 28 homers in 39 games almost falls in the miracle class.

BABE RUTH.

Ruth's work this year will add to his all-time records. In his previous seventeen years he has poled out 565 to lead in this respect, while indications are that he will reach the 50 mark, making five years in which he has been credited with this many—54 in 1920, 59 in 1921, 60 in 1927 and 54 in 1928. He is sure to get 40 this season, giving him ten seasons with a total this high or higher, while, if he beats out Gehrig, who is only one homer behind him, it will give him title of home-run king for the eleventh time.

National Leaguers Not Worrying Ruth.

In his fight for leadership in homers, the Babe is having little competition from National League sluggers. "Chuck" Klein is the leader in the senior circuit, with 27. He poled out 40 last year, three less than his 1929 total, which was the record in the National, until Hack Wilson came along last year with his 56, which gave him major league honors for 1930.

Klein, it might be mentioned, seems to be the only National Leaguer who has not been appreciably stopped by the slower ball used this year. Wilson, partially for this reason, perhaps, but probably because he and Manager Rogers Hornsby have been having arguments about Hack's mode of training, has hit but a dozen round-trippers so far this year and is out of all consideration. As a league, however, the National is trailing its rival for the first time

HOTSY TOTSY WINS GOLD CUP RACE

Boat Wins 2 Heats and Sets Record of 53.6 Miles.

MONTAUK, N. Y., Aug. 16 (U.P.).—Victor Kleisrath's Hotsy Totsy won the famed Gold Cup speedboat classic for the second consecutive year with a record-breaking average of 53.6 miles an hour today over the 90-mile course.

John Shibe's Miss Philadelphia was second, Dick Loynes' California third and Scotty Too, fourth.

With Kleisrath at the wheel, Hotsy Totsy coasted to an easy victory in the first heat after El Lagarta, driven by George Reis, of Lake George, N. Y., broke down on the eleventh lap. El Lagarta, out in front from the start, was leading by half a mile when forced from competition by a broken piston.

With El Lagarta out of the way, Hotsy Totsy breezed to an easy win in the second heat. Miss Philadelphia finished second and California third in both heats.

Only three of the eight starters, Hotsy Totsy, Miss Philadelphia and California, still were in the running when the third heat began. This heat saw Miss Philadelphia come home in front, with Hotsy Totsy in second place.

Betters 54 Miles In First Heat.

The final point standings of the leaders were: Hotsy Totsy, 1,161; Miss Philadelphir, 1,122; California, 684; Scotty Too, 613.

Louisa, owned and piloted by John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, all but met disaster in the third lap of the second heat. The Louisa was skimming along at a high speed when her propellor plowed through her stern. The boat careened crazily and would have capsized, but for the superb driving of Wanamaker.

28,000 See Cubs Win Twice From Braves

Boston, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs showed some fine baseball to 28,000 fans as they took both ends of a double-header from the Braves today, 7 to 1, and 5 to 1. Charlie Root, aided by sensational support scattered the Braves, seven singles in the opener, while Guy Bush allowed only five in the nightcap and would have scored a shutout except for errors by Bell and Grimm.

Gabby Hartnett sewed up the second game with a home run into the left field pavilion in the fourth inning, with one man on base.

Kennedy Cup Offered Kenwood Golf Winner

The prize to be awarded to the winner of the tournament to be played next Wednesday on the course of the Kenwood Club, will be a silver cup donated by Edgar S. Kennedy. The event will be under the auspices of the Women's District Golf Association. Competition will be 18 holes, medal play, handicap allowance, with 24 as the handicap limit. Contestants will begin teeing off at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and a large field is expected to participate.

Argentine Poloists Defeat Army, 12 to 0

Mitchel Field, N. Y., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—The 31-goal Hurlingham Club polo team of Buenos Aires, the second of the Argentine invaders here in quest of the American open championship, opened its Long Island campaign today by defeating the U. S. Army 12 goals to 0, in an informal test.

Daniel Kearney, Juan and David Miles and the redoubtable ten-goal veteran, Lewis L. Lacey, who arrived only two days ago, rode out for Hurlingham and showed clearly that they will play polo up to their high rating. They were a bit rusty today, but then the Miles brothers have not hit a polo ball since last November and they have not played together with Lacey since they won the open championship here in their pioneer invasion of the United States nine years ago.

Dave Miles, with five goals, led the attack, Lacey scoring three and Kearney and Johnny Miles two each.

GIANTS SPLIT WITH CARDS IN BILL

Walker Gives 2 Hits; Rhem Hurt; Crowd of 50,000 Fans.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Before a crowd of 50,000 the league leading St. Louis Cardinals and second-place New York Giants divide a double-header today. The Giants walked off with the first game, 7 to 1, and the Cards took the second, 3 to 2.

The defeat in the second game dropped the Giants into a virtual tie with the Chicago Cubs, who took two games from Boston. New York remained ahead by one point.

Bill Walker held the cards to two hits in the first game, pitching 6 2-3 innings of perfect baseball before Frisch made the first hit. Two errors and a walk in the ninth cost him a shutout. A homer by Vergez with two on in the eighth completed the Giant triumph.

Flint Rhem blanked the Giants for six innings of the second game, giving only two hits but strained a ligament in his right leg and had to retire. Bill Hallahan finished, allowing the Giants both their runs. Frank Frisch's homer with one on in the eighth brought what proved to be the winning runs.

International Field of 64 Seek Women's Net Crown

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 16 (A.P.).—An international field of 64, headed by the defending title holder, Betty Nuthall, of England, and the outstanding favorite, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, of San Francisco, begins play in the women's National tennns championships in the West Side Stadium tomorrow.

Mrs. Moody did not compete in the championship last year and Miss Nuthall won the coveted crown by beating Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, of Oakland, Calif., in the final round.

But "Queen Helen" is back on the courts again bidding for a title she already won six times since 1923. She captured the championship three years in a row from 1923 to 1925, did not compete in 1926 when Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory was the winner, and then chalked up three more titles in succession from 1927 to 1929.

Despite the fact that Miss Nuthall is the defending champion, there seems to be considerable doubt whether she will get as far as the final round. If play follows form, Mrs. Moody, seeded at the top of the upper half of the draw, will clash with Phyllis Mudford, of England, seeded at the bottom, in one semifinal, while Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif., seeded at the top of the lower half, encounters Miss Nuthall, seeded at the bottom, in the other. And Miss Jacobs consistently has been able to beat the British star.

Miss Jacobs and Miss Nuthall have met three times this season, Betty winning their first match while Helen took the second, in the semifinals of the British championships, and the third, in the Wightman cup matches.

In addition to Miss Nuthall and Miss Mudford, Great Britain will be represented by Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, Mrs. Dorothy C. Shepherd-Barron, Dorothy Round, Joan Ridley and Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman.

Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs head a formidable American field that includes Mrs. Harper, the No. 1 ranking player; Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, Wilmington, Del.; Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass.; Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia; Dorothy Weisel, Sacramento, Calif.; Josephine Pritchett Raps Exemption of Schools With Big Profits.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Football, the King Midas of college athletics, may some day be the cause of a revision of present-day taxation laws unpleasant to colleges and universities, Henry Smith Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Endowment for the Advancement of Teaching, warns in his yearly report made public today.

"A stadium, like the Yale Bowl or the one recently erected at South Bend (Notre Dame) is used merely for public shows," said the president of the organization which issued the famous Bulletin 23 on college athletic systems two years ago. "These plants are tremendous earners of money. Are they exempt from taxation, and, if so, upon what theory? Will not the various States insist (and rightly so) upon taxing money earning agencies of this description? • • • An agency that takes in $400,000 at a single show is in no position to ask for the exemption of this money-earner from taxation."

THIRD CLASH OF M'LARNIN-PETROLLE TOPS WEEK'S FIGHTS

Leonard Bout For Winner Possible

Each of Rivals Won in Previous Fights; N. Y. Scene.

Suarez Making New Start; to Engage Rossi Tonight.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Jimmy McLarnin, smiling Irish welterweight from Vancouver, and battle-scarred Billy Petrolle, of Fargo, N. Dak., renew their bitter fistic feud in a ten-round battle in the Yankee Stadium Thursday night in the stand-out match of the national boxing schedule this week.

Their two previous meetings in local rings resulted in an even split. Petrolle, no more than a heavy lightweight, shocked the experts by handing McLarnin the beating of his life and twice had him on the verge of a knockout in their first meeting here on November 21, 1930.

Six months later, on May 27, McLarnin decisively outpointed the Fargo veteran, although at no time was Petrolle in any particular trouble.

The winner of their third battle may be selected to battle Benny Leonard should the former lightweight champion go through with his plans for a comeback.

Suarez Tackles Rossi.

At Dexter Park here tomorrow night, Justo Suarez, Argentine lightweight, whose sensational winning streak ended when Petrolle knocked him out in nine rounds here June 25, will start all over again with Emil Rossi, a local boy of no considerable reputation, as his opponent in a ten-round match.

Tuesday night at the Queensboro Stadium, Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, will tackle Kid Francis, rugged little Italian, in the feature ten-rounder.

Fidel Labarba, of Los Angeles, former flyweight king, meets Pinto de Sa, Portuguese featherweight, at San Francisco Friday night, and tomorrow at Chicago Dave Shade, veteran California middleweight, tackles Willie Oster, of Boston.

Bouts on the national schedule include:

MONDAY—At Chicago, White City, Dave Shade, California, vs. Willie Oster, Boston, middleweights, 10; at New York, Dexter Park, Justo Suarez, Argentina, vs. Emil Rossi, New York, lightweights, 10; at New York, Starlight Park, Giacomo Bergomas, Italy, vs. Jack Shaw, New York, heavyweights, 10; at Louisville, Frisco Grande, Buffalo, vs. Jackie Stewart, Louisville, lightweights, 10; at Columbus, Ohio, Jack O'Dowd, Detroit, vs. Karl Holst, Indianapolis, heavyweights, 10; at St. Louis, Dave Knost, St. Louis, vs. Benny Touchstone, Detroit, heavyweights, 10; at Buffalo, N. Y., Mickey Walker, Rumson, N. J., vs. Jack Gannon, Boston, heavyweights, 10.

TUESDAY—At New York, Queensboro Stadium, Earl Mastro, Chicago, vs. Kid Francis, Italy, featherweights, 10; Lew Feldman, New York, vs. Johnny Pena, Spain, Newsboy Brown, Los Angeles, vs. Archie Bell, Brooklyn, Miki Gelb, Hungary, vs. Phil Zwick, Cleveland, all featherweights, each 8; at Indianapolis, Freddie Fitzgerald, Cleveland, vs. Jackie Brady, Syracuse, N. Y., welterweights, 10.

WEDNESDAY—At Oakland, Calif., Tod Morgan, Los Angeles, vs. Frankie Stetson, San Francisco, junior welterweights, 10; at San Francisco, Eddie Roberts, Tacoma, vs. Bud Gorman, Vallejo, middleweights, 10; at Seattle, Apwing Lee, Seattle, vs. Callie Wildcat Carter, Seattle, lightweights, and Don Frazer, Spokane, vs. Paul Negro, San Francisco, welterweights, each 6; at Newark, N. J., Phil Griffin, Newark, vs. Sid Hillis, New York, lightweights, and Abie Bain, Newark, vs. Johnny Pilc, New York, light heavyweights, each 10.

THURSDAY—At New York, Yankee Stadium, Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, vs. Billy Petrolle, Fargo, N. Dak., welterweights, 10; Young Terry, Trenton, N. J., vs. Benny Miller, California, middleweights, 8; at Cincinnati, Emil Paluso, Fort Lauderdale, vs. Freddie Miller, Cincinnati, featherweights, 10; at Spokane, Wash., Freddie Steele, Tacoma, vs. Johnny Woods, Los Angeles, welterweights, and Harry Ketchell, Tacoma, vs. Eddie Thompson, Spokane, featherweights, each 10; at Indianapolis, Eddie Anderson, Cody, Wyo., vs. Tracy Cox, Indianapolis, junior lightweights, 10.

FRIDAY—At San Francisco, Fidel Labarba, Los Angeles, vs. Pointo de Sa, Portuguese, featherweights, 10; at Hollywood, Calif., Young Tommy, Philippines, vs. Ernie Rice, Los Angeles, flyweights, 10; at Cleveland, Stanley Cooper, Syracuse, N. Y., vs. Frankie Bauer, Cleveland, welterweights, 6.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

ALTHOUGH the well known Dan O'Leary has reached his ninety-second birthday he is still a walking wonder. "Uncle Dan" attributes his sturdy condition to plenty of exercise and abstinence from meat for twenty years. He has walked more than 100,000 miles in competition since his first appearance in 1871.

In London, 1878, he walked 520¼ miles in a six-day race, and in Chicago, on his seventy-ninth birthday, he covered 100 miles in 23 hours and 54 minutes. At the age of 90, in Buffalo, he circled the bases of a baseball diamond in 4 minutes 58 seconds.

Any reader wanting further proof of anything depicted here should address the author, care of The Washington Post, and inclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope for reply.

—Hawthorne Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 16.—Entering the final week of racing at the Hawthorne course, a well-balanced program has been arranged, with the Lake Bluff, an allowance affair, for 3-year-olds exclusively, a test at the 1 1-16 miles route, as the feature attraction. The Woodlawn, a juvenile dash at 5½ furlongs, has received a list of nine fillies to contest the secondary event.

In the headliner, ABDEL, a recent winner, is at the peak of his form and, against the same class, figures to repeat. QUATRE BRAS II, from the Three D's string, finished second to ABDEL last start and should go as well here. LADY DEAN faltered in her previous effort and should show improvement. DESWASY, on his best form, is an outside possibility.

The third event, secondary feature, will bring out an evenly matched field of juvenile fillies. COLONIAL BELLE has shown the most consistent form of this field, and under the conditions is favored to annex the purse. GIVANNA, a much improved youngster from the Marchbank Stable and a double winner over this strip, is the chief contender. PORTER'S DREAM will favor the short 5½ furlongs and may last to gain the minor award.

FIRST RACE—RUFFIAN appears ready to graduate. The H. M. Woolf youngster has raced with better company and should score over these nonwinners. ZINA, from the Halvorsen Stable, turned in a clever performance last outing and should force the pace, with BEAVER as the show selection.

SECOND RACE—VOLTAGREEN is favored to show the way. In her last, the Nevada Stock Farm filly closed considerable ground after a poor start. ANNIE REE defeated a fair band of platers in her previous effort and should offer keen opposition. WEIDLEEN is picking up seven pounds on her last victory and must be considered.

FIFTH RACE—GUIDE RIGHT is given the call. The Sand Mole colt demonstrated his ability to negotiate a distance and in this field should experience little trouble. TELA, from the H. Oots string, is given the place call, with DR. PARRISH, a consistent plater, favored for the show.

SIXTH RACE—SUNFIRE, a winner of his last two starts, is admirably placed. The H. C. Hatch color bearer came from behind the pace last start to score in a shorter race. At the added distance the Olambala mare should score easily. WINNIE JO, a useful plater in the Mrs. Smith Stable has shown consistent form in previous efforts and figures to finish in the runner-up position. GREY GULL is meeting his own kind here and should share in the purse.

SEVENTH RACE—ELLEN N. has two smart efforts to her credit and on her recent second to Madcap Marvin, should hold this field safe. FLECHE D'ARGENT has raced with much better company and at the route will furnish stern opposition. TRANSGRESSION appears best of the others for the show.

PRO GOLFERS PLAY HERE SEPT. 6

Burke, Von Elm Meet D. C. Pair on Indian Spring Course.

TELEGRAPHIC correspondence yesterday morning resulted in the formal announcement later in the day by Herbert A. Mihills, president of the Indian Spring Club, that the exhibition match between Billie Burke and George Von Elm, winner and runner-up in the national open championship, would be played on the Indian Spring course on Sunday, September 6, the afternoon before Labor Day, and not on Saturday, the 5th, as incorrectly published.

Burke and Von Elm will be paired against J. Monro Hunter and George Diffenbaugh, professional and assistant professional at the Indian Spring Club.

In An 18-Hole Match,

Both Hunter and Diffenbaugh hope to win the match and there is some foundation for their optimism in the fact that last week they played their course in a best-ball of 69. The fact that they are thoroughly familiar with every blade of grass, so to speak, on the Indian Spring course, ought to be of real assistance to them in the forthcoming struggle.

Indian Spring Stag Day On September 2.

Officials of the Indian Spring Club yesterday decided to hold a stag day on Wednesday, September 2d. The program will consist of golf in the afternoon with boxing and wrestling matches at night. A similar event last year was most successful. For the Burke-Von Elm exhibition an admission fee of one dollar will be charged.

The mixed Scotch foursome scheduled for yesterday on the course of the Congressional Club was postponed owing to the absence of a large number of women players on their summer vacation.

A blind bogey tournament was held yesterday on the course of the Manor Club, with three lucky numbers. The first number was 77 with a tie between J. A. Cosgrove, 96—19—77, and J. B. Cullinane, 94—17—77. The second was 79 with a quadruple tie between A. B. Alley, 98—19—79; W. W. Talcott, 99—20—79; J. G. Remey, 93—14—79, and H. L. Lippincott, 106—27—79. The third prize was won by Dwight N. Burnham with a card of 91—16—75.

A medal play handicap, eighteen holes, was on the program yesterday at the Kenwood Club, the three winners being as follows: George A. Tew, 80—9—71; R. B. Warden, 77—5—72, and R. W Hunter, 87—14—73.

Women Play Wednesday For Kennedy Cup.

When the tournament on the Kenwood course is played next Wednesday, under the auspices of the Women's District Golf Association, the principal prize will be a cup presented by Edgar S. Kennedy. Competition will be 18 holes, medal play, handicap, with a limit of 24 upon the handicap allowance. Contestants will start at 8:30 o'clock in the morning in order to escape the heat of midday.

A number of Washington golf professionals will journey today to Baltimore to compete in a tournament under the auspices of the Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers Association on the Five Farms course. Many of the professionals will take this occasion to familiarize themselves more thoroughly with the course in order to compete in the qualifying round, which will be played next Friday for eligibility to participate in the national championship of the Professional Golfers Association, to be played next month at Providence, R. I.

Deauville Classic Is Landed by Eadhild

Deauville, France, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Jefferson Davis Cohn's Eadhild won the Prix Morny, feature of the racing program here today. James Hennessy's Firouzeh was second; J. Portefin's Coeur de Lion third and Ralph Beaver Strassburger's Adulation fourth. The winner paid 35 francs for 5.

The Aga Khan's Darya Awurd, which was to have started, was kicked while in the paddock and withdrawn from the field.

4 ROUNDS.
Soldier Marchini, Fort Washington, vs. Soldier Wolf, Fort Washington (featherweights).

By JACK ESPEY.

THE fur, not to mention fists, will fly tonight in 40 rounds of boxing at Fort Washington, with the piece de resistance of eight rounds being offered by a pair of speedy featherweights—Frankie "Little Caesar" De Angelo, of this city, and Sailor Billy Landers, of Norfolk. Action commences at 8:30.

De Angelo and Landers should furnish a lively final to the program of eight bouts which includes a semifinal of eight rounds between Harry "Kid" Groves and Pepper Young, welterweights, and six prelims of four rounds each. The card is the biggest scheduled in a nearby ring this season.

De Angelo, kingpin of local featherers, is due for a warm evening, literally and figuratively, for what the temperature does not supply in the way of heat will be made up by Landers, according to the boys.

Landers, easy winner over Eddie Buell two months ago, is expected to drive De Angelo all the way with a two-fisted, boring-in attack, and if Frankie does not show his usual ability, a question that has some of his backers worried, the Norfolk lad will stand a fine chance of walking off with the victory.

Landers Boasts Knockout Punch.

If a knockout is delivered, the fans are expecting De Angelo to be the victim, for Landers possesses the kick of a mule in either hand, as was demonstrated when he stopped Buell. However, De Angelo's defensive skill and footwork are seen as barriers to a kayo punch, there being small doubt that the local star outclasses his rival in point of blocking and evading gloves.

De Angelo has agreed to scale 125 pounds at ringside or forfeit $25. He probably will outweigh the sailor by a couple of pounds, even if he makes the weight.

Frankie, realizing he has a busy evening on his hands, has been training faithfully under the guidance of Patsy Donovan at the Mohawk Club. According to Donovan, the Southeast Italian will not only be ready to take everything Landers has to offer, but in addition will give the Norfolk invader a boxing

TAKOMA TIGERS WINNERS IN CAPITAL CITY LEAGUE SERIES

Saks Beaten On Errors, 4 to 3

James' Triple and Wilson's Single Decisive Hits.

Hughes Wins in Duel With Mannix; Play Next Sunday.

THE Takoma Tigers took the opening game of their series with the Saks Clothiers for the unlimited championship of The Post's Capital League, downing the latter 4 to 3 in a well played game in the Maryland University Stadium yesterday before a crowd of 1,000 fans.

Charley Mannix, who hurled for Saks, was the victim of his mates' miscues. Mannix held his highly touted foes to six safe hits, but these always followed in the wake of errors and resulted in the winning runs. Dick Hughes, who toed the mound for the Montgomery County champs, granted ten safe blows, but Hughes always had something in reserve, and with men on the bases he unloosed his surplus energy and obtained the desired results.

Saks broke the ice in the first inning when Hook and Barry singled in succession with two down. Birch drew a free pass and Mulhall singled to left, scoring Hook. Colliflower walked, forcing Barry over with another run, but at this stage of the proceedings Hughes reached into his bag of tricks and fanned Luckett to end the inning. The Clothiers' other marker came in the fifth stanza when Jones tripled and scored on Hook's sacrifice bunt.

James Pounds Triple.

The Tigers counted once in the first inning, knotted the count with a brace of runs in the sixth and won out in the eighth when Paul James tripled and counted on Wilson's stinging single to center.

Takoma owes its victory to the great work of Dick Hughes in the pinches when a single would have made a big difference in the score. Hughes was generous with base hits until his opponents threatened to rally and then he bore down with telling effect.

The second game of the series will be played next Sunday. Maryland University probably will be the scene of battle, although it may be shifted to the South Ellipse.

McIntire Fans 12 as White Oak Club Is Defeated.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Aug. 16.—The St. Mary's Celtics Baseball Team, behind the masterful pitching of Lefty McIntire, who struck out 12 of his opponents, easily trounced the White Oak A. C., leaders of the Northern Virginia loop, by the score of 7 to 0 on Baggetts Field this afternoon.

Two concentrated attacks in the first and eighth innings accounted for all the run scoring in an otherwise tight ball game. Singles by Langford, Ludlow, Goodwin and Hicks accounted for three runs in the first, while again in the eighth five singles, manufactured from the bats of Noone, Ludlow, Goodwin, Sheffie and Kidwell, brought in the final four of the game.

Goodwin was the offensive star for the winners with three singles out of four attempts at the combined offerings of Christy and Williams.

OLMSTED BEATS MEDICOS.

The Olmsted Grill nine and Army Medicos battled fifteen innings on the Walter Reed diamond yesterday before the Grillmen finally won by a score of 5 to 3. Olmsted deadlocked the score with a two-run rally in the ninth, and then the teams settled down to their endurance contest. "Bud" Thomas fanned 21 opponents, and granted only eight well scattered hits.

J. C. C. BOWS TO FRENCH NINE

Winning Streak Snapped by 4-3 Loss; Boerner Stars.

THE Howard A. French Co. nine snapped the winning streak of the Jewish Community Center yesterday, taking the decision with a three-run rally in the ninth inning. The final score was 4-3, Larry Boerner pitched for the winners and held the Center sluggers to seven well-scattered hits, fanning seven.

Frenches scoring its winning runs when Dofflemeyer singled, reached second when Gill was safe on an error, both scoring on Colliflower's triple. Tripp's bunt brought Colliflower over with the winning tally. "Cody" Shapiro was the only player on either team to obtain two hits.

Re Riot
READ THE RIOT ACT
THIS WAY OF SAYING "TO WARN" COMES FROM VARIOUS OLD LAWS WHICH PROVIDED THAT A SOLDIER MUST READ A NOTICE TO DISPERSE BEFORE ARRESTING ANYONE IN A DISORDERLY MOB.
SLEIGH BELLS
SLEIGH BELLS ORIGINATED IN MEDIAEVAL TIMES FOR A PRACTICAL REASON. ROADS WERE POOR AND THE DEEP RUTS MADE BY WINTER TRAFFIC PREVENTED DRIVERS FROM TURNING OUT QUICKLY, SO SLEIGH BELLS WERE USED TO WARN APPROACHING VEHICLES.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

IMPROVEMENTS IN CONTROL OF CONSUMPTION.

We are doing very well in wiping out consumption. According to Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman the average death rate from consumption in 59 American cities in 1930 was only 28 per cent as high as it was in 1910. In these cities there live more than 32,000,000 people. If the same rate of improvement could only continue there are persons living who would see consumption as rare as typhoid now is, and that disease is not much more than a memory.

In 1910 the average rate for these cities was aoou' 175, and it is now about 66. The far better records of some of the smaller places give additional hope For instance, instead of 66 in 1930, the record of Lakewood, Ohio was only 8.4; that of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 8.9; of Williamsport, Pa., 9.4, and Oak Park, Ill., 10.9. Nineteen smaller cities had records of less than 20. These places have less consumption now than Chicago had typhoid fever 20 years ago.

In Hoffman's report on 147 American cities there were several Canadian cities with rates as low as those that prevailed in the good cities in the States. The honor roll of countries is led by Union South Africa, with New Zealand second and Australia third. The United States is fifth and Canada sixth.

The consumption problem is decreasing so rapidly that it becomes possible to analyze it to advantage, as was not possible when the disease overwhelmed us Negroes are still far too susceptible, but they are becoming less so, and Africa is showing the possibilities of meeting the difficulties of consumption among Negroes. The decline in the prevalence of tuberculosis is greatest among children under 5 years of age. Pasteurization and tuberculin testing of cows are bearing fruit. Women are less subject than men to the ravages of the disease, but between ages 10 and 29 women are more in danger than men. Occupation has much to do with the prevalence of consumption. Miners pay a heavy penalty. This does not apply to coal miners. These have the lowest consumption rate found among underground workers. The five occupations with the highest rates are miners (other than coal miners) pottery workers, stone cutters, waiters and hotel servants, and cutters and grinders. The five lowest are city firemen, stationary engineers and firemen, roofers, railway engineers and trainmen and coal miners.

YOUR METHOD IS GOOD.

M. D. writes: There are a number of holes at each side of my throat which are continually being stopped up with hard, yellowish particles of matter that have an unpleasant odor. I loosen these particles with a small wooden stick especially reserved for this purpose.

1. What is the cause of this disorder?

2. How can it be cured?

REPLY.

1. You have found new names for an old disorder, and new terms for part of the tonsils. These cheesy masses of food and other stuff that gather in pockets of the tonsils do no great harm, though they are not nice.

2. I think your method is as good as any. There is an operation or two for the trouble, but the game is not worth the candle.

NITS IN THE SCALP.

B. R. Z. writes: I have been having nits on my scalp for over a month. Is there anything I can do to get rid of them?

REPLY.

Wash them away with warm vinegar. Use a fine comb. Grease the hair a little. Finally, remember that if you keep hens you will get eggs.

USUALLY IS RINGWORM.

T. C. M. writes: Will you please publish the cause of blisters between the toes that itch dreadfully? Is there any cure for them? I am in torture?

REPLY.

This is pompholyx. The usual cause is ringworm of the feet. Hot weather and wearing heavy shoes and socks may be contributing causes. The cure depends on the cause.

Hello! Hello!

BOBBY, TUBBY AND ELMER OF THE ELM STREET GIANTS ARE ON THEIR WAY TO THE GYPSY CAMP... UPON THEIR RETURN WITH MORE MONEY THE GYPSY QUEEN HAS PROMISED TO LOCATE THE CLUB'S MISSING BASEBALL MITTS...
WE'RE NEARLY THERE..... THATCHER WILL DO THE TALKING AND YOU KEEP STILL.... IF THEY GET MAD AND TRY TO PUT A SPELL ON US OR SOMETHIN' THEY WON'T KNOW WHAT THEY'RE UP AGAINST BECAUSE WE GOT THIS GOOD OLD BLACK CAT ANKLE DUST
(Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
THAT'S THE GYPSY QUEEN, THE ONE IN THE RED SHAWL SMOKIN' THE CLAY PIPE..
WE BROUGHT A LITTLE MORE MONEY, THAT IS, A QUARTER APIECE LIKE YOU SAID, ... SO NOW YOU CAN TELL US WHO TOOK OUR MASK AND MITTS...
IS THAT ALL THE MONEY YOU BRING.... YES? OR MAYBE MORE IN YOUR POCKET.... NO? LOOK!..... AND THE GYPSY CAN TELL YOU MORE

NO SLEEP FOR HENRIETTA THESE NIGHTS—
WITH RED EYES SHE PEERS INTO THE CLOUDED FUTURE— WONDERING WHAT IS GOING TO HAPPEN—
IT HAS BEEN FIVE DAYS NOW SINCE SHE SAW TOM—
WHAT IS HE DOING?
WHY DOESN'T HE CALL?
NOT ONE WORD FROM HIM—
IS IT ALL OVER BETWEEN THEM?
SUCH SILLINESS— FOR TOM TO BE JEALOUS OF POOR BIM— AFTER ALL I'VE DONE— HE KNOWS IF I WANTED BIM— I COULD HAVE HIM— AND AFTER GIVING HIM UP WITH ALL HIS MILLIONS TO MARRY TOM WHEN HE IS DOWN AND OUT— AND OFFER TO WORK TO HELP HIM— YOU'D THINK THAT WOULD BE PROOF ENOUGH OF MY LOVE—
AND THEN HE GETS MAD LIKE SOME LITTLE BOY AND POUTS— BECAUSE I WON'T ANSWER WHEN HE ASKS IF BIM EVER KISSED ME— WELL— THIS THING CAN'T GO ON FOREVER— I'LL JUST CALL HIM UP ON THE TELEPHONE ANYWAY— THIS HAS GOT TO COME TO A HEAD SOMETIME—
HELLO! TOM? WELL— WHAT ON EARTH HAS HAPPENED TO YOU— WHAT A SPOILED BOY YOU TURNED OUT TO BE— AREN'T YOU ASHAMED OF YOURSELF?
HELLO! HELLO!— HEAVENS— HE HUNG UP ON ME— HELLO TOM! HELLO!

Paris-London Air Time Is Reduced 20 Minutes

London (U.P.).—The door-to-door time by air between London and Paris has been reduced 20 minutes by Imperial Airways. The road connections between the airports and the cities, as well as the aerial journey between Croydon and Le Bourget, are now made in 3 hours 40 minutes. Access to the Croydon Airport by road has been made easier by Imperial Airways changing the London terminus of the company from Charles street, near Piccadilly Circus, to Victoria Station.

HEART ATTACK KILLS WADER AFTER DROP INTO RIVER'S DEPTH

ACCIDENT TOOK PLACE AT POINT NEAR SHORE

Rescue Attempted by Friend in Party After Man Called for Aid.

Stepping suddenly in a deep hole while wading in what he thought to be a shallow portion of the West River, Clyde G. Miller, 36 years old, an employe of the Woodridge post-office, died yesterday afternoon while on a swimming party with a group of friends at Idlewilde, Md.

Miller, who friends declared was unable to swim, became separated from his party, and was wading in the water near a large wooden pier, a short distance from shore. When within a few feet from the end of the pier, witnesses said, he suddenly sank, only to reappear again shouting for help.

Sol Rosenbaum, of 3501 Georgia avenue northwest, a member of Miller's party who had been searching for him, heard his cries and ran to the scene. As he reached the man's side, Rosenbaum said, he uttered a peculiar sound and again sank.

Rescue Attempts Fail.

Rosenbaum dove repeatedy in an attempt to bring Miller to the surface, but after more than 20 minutes of searching, failed to find his body.

Grappling hooks were brought into use and the body was later recovered by James Atwell, of Shadyside, Md.

The rescue squad of the West Annapolis Fire Department was summoned, and after a 25-mile run worked for a half an hour with a pulmotor, in a futile attempt to revive the man.

Miller was pronounced dead by Dr. George T. Dent, of Churchton, Md., who expressed the opinion the man had died from a heart attack, brought on by the sudden drop into deep water. His statement was corroborated by Dr. Herbert F. Gates, of 105 Twelfth street southeast, who had also been swimming at the beach.

Only Deep Hole.

With the exception of the hole in which Miller died, officials at the resort said the water nearby was only 4 feet deep.

Miller is survived by a brother, Everett E. Miller, a mail carrier in the Takoma Park postoffice. The brother said Miller went to Idlewilde with Rosenbaum, Joseph Reynolds, of 3503 Georgia avenue northwest, and George F. Markey, of 3014 Adams street northeast.

Miller made his home at 418 B street southeast. No inquest will be held into the death. It was announced by L. L. Seigert, police magistrate at Idlewilde.

Letter Threatens Henderson Driver

Colored Chauffeur Is Told to "Tell All" Regarding Mrs. Wholean's Birth.

Letters which purported to originate from a "black hand" society have been received by William Carter, colored chauffeur for the late Mrs. Mary F. Henderson, prophesying serious but vague consequences if he declines to "make a complete confession" in regard to the "parentage of Mrs. Henderson's grandchild."

Carter, who was coachman for Mrs. Henderson at the time of the birth of Mrs. Beatrice Wholean, reputed granddaughter of the so-called "grande dame" of Washington, turned the letter over to his attorney, although believing it to be the work of a crank.

The letter, postmarked July 31, and received August 1, directed Carter to go to a newspaper office and "tell all." It said if the "confession" were not made by August 8, "we are going to know the reason why." Further, the communication said, "the Jap will be taken care of later." The "Jap" is understood to be Jesse Shima, Japanese secretary to the late Mrs. Henderson.

Capital Man Is Jailed In Default of $105 Fine

Louis A. Morris, 308 Second street southeast, was remanded to the Anne Arundel County Jail last night in default of $105 in fines on charges of reckless driving and driving under the influence of liquor as the result of an automobile accident figured in by him on the Crane highway near Glenburnie, Md., in Anne Arundel County.

Morris, driving a car owned by his wife, Mrs. Mary A. Morris, who accompanied him, was tried by a local justice of the peace immediately after the accident, which occurred shortly before 11 o'clock last night. The other car involved in the accident was driven by William H. Campbell, of Annapolis.

Rum Charges Hold Capital Man.

John R. Busbey, giving his address as Washington, was arrested yesterday in Mount Vernon District of Fairfax County, Va., by the county police on a charge of being drunk, and the transportation and possession of ardent spirits. The police assert a pint of alleged liquor was found in the car of Busbey, who was lodged in the county jail pending a preliminary hearing.

Two Young Women Hurt in Car Wreck

Capital Party's Auto Hits Rear End of Truck on Baltimore Road.

Two young women from this city suffered painful injuries yesterday afternoon when a car in which they were riding is said to have crashed into the rear of a farm produce truck going toward Baltimore. Driver of their car, George Wilson, 27, of this city, also was slightly injured.

Miss Helen Anspach and Miss Mildred Harris, 20, both of the Southern Club, 1701 Massachusetts avenue northwest, were the injured women. Miss Anspach was said at St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore to have received severe lacerations of the face and a fractured collar bone, while Miss Harris is also said to have sustained face lacerations and a possible fractured skull.

Condition of neither of the young women was said to be serious at the Baltimore hospital. It was expected that Miss Anspach would be transferred to Emergency Hospital later.

Actor Robbed as He Performs.

Federal Unions in Capital To Send 24 to Convention

Many of Delegates Are Veterans of Early Battles to Better Working Conditions; Several Women Employes in Group Going to Seattle.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

Twenty-four men and women, serving Uncle Sam in varied fields of work, will represent the organized Government workers of Washington at the annual convention of the National Federation of Federal Employes which will begin in Seattle on September 7 and continue through that week.

Local Union No. 2, the largest in the District, if not in the entire federation, will send the largest number of delegates, and, of course, alternates as well, to the convention, followed by Local No. 105, which is the women's union of Bureau of Engraving and Printing workers.

The delegations will be led coastward by Luther C. Steward, president of the organization, and Miss Gertrude McNally, the fighting, indefatigable secretary-treasurer of the federation

Ginder Among Delegates.

John W. Ginder, president of the District Federation of Government Employes Unions who was a delegate to the first annual convention of the National Federation, again will be a delegate. He is a charter member of Local No. 2, and has served since 1900 in the office of the supervising architect of the Treasury.

A lawyer in the Interior Department, George A. Warren, another of the pioneers of his organization, is another of the delegates who will go to Seattle.

Joseph R. Stansfield, president of Local No. 2, another delegate, is employed in the Interstate Commerce Commission. He has twice been elected head of his local union.

Henry G. Nolda, employed in the Veterans' Administration since 1918, has been a delegate from Local No. 2 to two conventions so far, and again will represent his local in Seattle. Mr. Nolda became secretary-treasurer of his local in August, 1928, and has been reelected each year since.

Biller One of Veterans.

Ulrey J. Biller, another delegate from Local No. 2, entered the Government service in 1889 in the adjutant general's office, later being transferred to the Pension Bureau and serving in the field for 21 years. In 1917 he was made supervisor of field examinations. He has been a delegate to the last six annual conventions.

Women delegates include Miss Lottie L. Anderson, from Local No. 2, and president of its Department of Agriculture branch; Miss McNally, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, secretary of the union since 1909, and since 1925 secretary-treasurer of the National Federation; Miss Belle A. Trouland, persident of the women's union of the same bureau, and another of the pioneers in the union movement among Government employes. Mrs. Mae Bergevin, secretary-treasurer of the bureau local, who also was a delegate to the San Antonio and New York conventions; Miss Lulu Kendrick, employed in the examining division of the bureau, and Miss Olive Greer, employed in the numbering division in the bureau.

John R. Newman, who was born at Fairfax Court House, Va., in 1867 and was educated here, will represent Local No. 249, of which he has been president for the last several years.

Dr. J. Franklin Meyer, chief of the photometry section of the electrical division of the Bureau of Standards, is president of Local No. 260, the membership of which he will represent at Seattle. Dr. Meyer was vice president of Local No. 2 before No. 260 was chartered.

Kinney Active Worker.

George L. Jeffrey, also a delegate from No. 260, and who still carries his card of membership in Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101, though he left the Government Printing Office in 1907 to transfer to the Agriculture Department, has served in the field for the Forest Service, was transferred to the War Department during the World War and served with Signal and Air Corps and now is employed in the Bureau of Standards as an editor.

William S. Kinney, vice president of the District Federation and an active worker in the union, joined Local No. 2 in 1916 and became the secretary-treasurer of Local No. 261, composed of War Department workers, when that local was formed in 1923.

Elmer H. Bailey, president of the War Department local, will head his union's group of delegates and alternates at the Seattle gathering.

J. O. Burnham, president of Local No. 262, who entered the Government service in 1902 and is employed in the Bureau of Internal Revenue; Miss Sophie Weber, and E. C. Hooper, financial secretary-treasurer, of the local, have been named as delegates from that body.

Rosafy an Old-Timer.

Few of the delegates can boast of such an early start in the Government service as can Louis A. Rosafy, chief of the old records division of the adjutant general's office. Mr. Rosafy began his service as a page in the United States Senate in 1884, when he was 12 years of age.

John L. Bateman, who was born in Martinsburg, W. Va., on July 31, 1869, got his first taste of public service in his native State where he served as an assistant clerk during four sessions of the State Legislature.

The three delegates from Local No. 71 have stolen a march on other groups and already are on their way West, having left Washington yesterday morning. This local is composed of colored women employes of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Its delegates are Mrs. Isador A. Letcher, president; Mrs. Rosalie B. Thomas, financial secretary, and Mrs. Mattie Boston Hardy, former president.

WORLD ILLS BLAMED ON FORESIGHT LACK

Boston Pastor Is Speaker at Union Service Held by Three Churches.

The present world situation of unrest and depression is a fine example of the biblical admonition that "where there is no vision, the people perish," declared the Rev. Dr. Roger F. Etz, of Boston, addressing union services of the All Souls' Unitarian, Mount Pleasant Congregational, and Universalist churches yesterday morning at the Universalist National Memorial Church.

Using that quotation as his text, Dr. Etz traced the progress of now dead civilizations and showed that lack of vision and the quest for power and wealth have been the prime causes of their decline and fall.

These factors, continued Dr. Etz, are all too prevalent in this day, and, if they continue in force, it will lead to a repetition of what history has written many times before.

Conservation of everything, save the world's most valuable commodity —man power—said Dr. Etz, is reflected in the general lack of interest in the brotherhood of man—things, power, and wealth being the driving forces of modern life and not men.

Religion, continued Dr. Etz, furnishes the only norm by which the ideals and spiritual standards of life can be measured and present-day existence, based on other criteria, can not be adequately appraised.

Dr. Etz, however, is not without hope for a brilliant future. There are, he says, three rays of hope that shine in this generation for the first time. Never before has it honestly been believed by the people that war can be abolished, that machinery can be used to uplift man, and that a kingdom of God and brotherhood of man can be established throughout the world.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE FRESH AIR FUND PROSPERS.

WELL, the Fund to Send Suffering Business Men to the Country where they can find a little sunshine is meeting with success beyond all expectations. The first carload of American business men was sent away yesterday, and you should have seen their happy faces as they were whisked away from it all! The very thought of two weeks some place where they wouldn't have to worry about maintenance made many of them hysterical with joy.

• • • •

"Are we really being taken awey where we won't have any red ink to play with?" asked one weary looking business man.

"Positively," assured the fresh air camp manager. "And what is more, no pens, pencils or scratch pads will be allowed in the camp."

"Oh, goody, goody!" cried the business man, dancing with joy and kissing the camp manager on both cheeks.

It was indeed a touching scene.

This fund, in case you have missed the previous announcements, will be used entirely to take business men away from the desolation of their offices, away from all apprehensions, worries and despondencies for a little while and let them romp where they can once again see blue skies and sunshine and green things growing. It is a long time since the average business man has seen any sunshine or any green things growing, if you get what we mean.

• • • •

ONCE in the fresh air camp, each business man will be searched and deprived of any papers or scraps of paper with figures on them. Any man found making any calculations or trying to make them will be sent home at once, and no newspapers containing stock market prices, trade reviews, figures on car loadings or statements from Mr. Julius Klein will be permitted inside the grounds.

Many pathetic cases are being found daily. There is, for example, the case of Mr. Gerald B——. Mr. B—— is a big building operator. He put up six skyscraper apartment houses of the better class in the fall of 1929. From that day to this he has known nothing but worry and despair. He is now a shadow of his former self. When found by the fund agents he was living in an old box and eating nothing but carrots.

• • • •

Thanks to the Fund, he is now at the fresh air camp where he can't see a tall building even with a telescope. Plenty of fresh milk, berries, sunshine and the knowledge that he is beyond all threats of foreclosure proceedings will bring the color back to his cheeks.

T SHOPPE SLAYING SUSPECT IS VIEWED IN BALTIMORE JAIL

Eyewitnesses to Holdup and Killing Fail to Identify Man Held There.

Mrs. Jaynes' Husband Busy in Investigation; Canada May Afford Clew.

Spurring efforts to clear up the fatal shooting of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes during the Garden T Shoppe hold-up in early April, two Washington detectives yesterday journeyed to Baltimore and "looked over" Dale H. Lambert, held in jail there on a first-degree murder indictment in connection with the slaying of a milk wagon driver in Baltimore late in April.

Several witnesses of the hold-up viewed Lambert, but failed to identify him. He was viewed from different angles and spoke with each of the witnesses.

The husband of Mrs. Jaynes has been quietly carrying on an investigation of his own since the affair, it was learned yesterday. It is reported he has lately been doing considerable inquiry work in Baltimore, which caused the visit of the Washington detectives.

Arrested in Baltimore.

Jail officials at the Maryland city are said to have been informed by the Washington sleuths that they were "fi'going to Canada" next in their pursuit of suspects, but no confirmation of this could be obtained at local police headquarters.

Lambert was arrested in Baltimore soon after the shooting of the milkman, and his alleged companion during the affair, Herman H. Duker, scion of a prominent family there, was taken near Los Angeles, Calif., after being found in an alleged stolen automobile. Duker was shot by California police when he resisted arrest. Recently his recovery has become sufficiently complete to allow his return to the Maryland city, where it is expected he will be charged with first degree murder. Baltimore detectives are now on their way to the California city to bring him east.

Jordan Denies Charge.

Meanwhile, Thomas Jordan, arrested Friday in Atlantic City for Washington authorities in connection with the Jaynes case, is said by headquarters homicide squad members to steadfastly deny any connection with the slaying of the tearoom cashier. Jordan was arrested on information furnished by William Harper Dean, 21-year-old son of a United States Chamber of Commerce official, who was also temporarily held in the tea room shooting.

It was indicated at headquarters that another line of procedure in investigation of the affair was still being followed. This was inquiry into the story told by a woman recently involved in another case, who said that she had been visited by two young men on the night of the Jaynes shooting, who admitted they were involved in the affair.

The latter informant is said to have told police that she "smelled" a recently fired gun in the pocket of one of the visitors. She took several drinks with the men and accompanied them on an early morning drive.

An alarm that there was "trouble" at Dean's home, at 2057 Park road northwest, brought police to the place last night. They found nothing amiss in the place and Dean said he believed the call had been placed by a meddlesome neighbor.

Driver Hurt as Car Strikes 2 Others

Two Women Also Injured in Accident Near Maryland State University.

Gorge H. Markhan, 40 years old, of Cherrydale, Va., was believed to be seriously injured last night when his automobile sidewiped one machine and crashed head-on into another car on College road, a half-mile from the Maryland State University. Two women were slightly injured in the accident.

Mr. Markhan is in Georgetown University Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain. He was driving toward the District when his car sidewiped an automobile operated by Harry Lewis, of 1433 Columbia road northwest, and then struck a car driven by R. R. Reid, of 1389 Newton street northwest. His car then went over a 5-foot embankment.

Rosa Hess and Laura Hess, who, according to police, were passengers in Reid's car, were taken to Walter Reed Hospital by Jack Manheim, of 1513 Twentieth street northwest, a passing autoist. They were given emergency treatment for lacerations of the face and then removed to Emergency Hospital. They then went to their home in Riverdale, Md.

Auto Cranking Breaks Arm.

Quinter Reelected To Loan Body Post

Retains Rank as Executive Committeeman Representing District.

William S. Quinter, of Washington, was reelected national executive committeeman of the United States Building and Loan League from the District of Columbia, at the closing session of the league yesterday in Philadelphia, according to word received here.

Mr. Quinter was again chosen the District of Columbia's vice president of the league, a National organization with membership comprising 1,400 building and loan associations all over the country.

The one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Oxford Provident Building Association, first cooperative home financing institution in the country, was celebrated at the convention. Mr. Quinter made a statement in which he advised confidence in "community institutions" rather than "far away investments."

SENSE OF SIN HELD NECESSARY IN LIFE

Fort Myer Pastor Talks at Albright Evangelical Memorila Church.

"Jesus and Sin" was the topic of a sermon preached yesterday at the Albright Memorial Evangelical Church, Fourth and Rittenhouse streets northwest, by Chaplain Ralph C. Deibert, of Fort Myer.

Taking the forty-sixth verse of the eighth chapter of John, "Which of You Can Convict Me of Sin," as a text, Dr. Deibert remarked on the apparent present day loss of the sense of sin together with a definition of sin as it was known and judged by Jesus.

"Indeed the word sin seems almost to have dropped out of our present vocabulary and a sermon on sin is almost an event. Recently in looking through the files of a monthly religious magazine covering a period of seven years it was noted that there were only four sermons dealing with sin and about ten illustrations on the subject," Dr. Deibert said.

Self-Expression No Excuse.

The attitude of young people in justifying sinful conduct by saying, "We must be permitted self-expression, to do the things that are suggested to us," was pointed out as an erroneous philosophy reducing men to the level of machines and eliminating all spiritual impulses which justify an expression of life.

"Jesus' attitude, although clearly conceding the reality of sin, did not accept as final the attitude of sin at that time," he said. "He did not permit Himself to be held within the confines of the traditional idea of sin. He was revolutionary and in our day would long since have been branded as a heretic. He taught that sin was subjective, inner and personal and that the outward marks of sin are the expression of the inner depravity of heart and life," Chaplain Deibert explained.

The results of the presence of sin in life were enumerated as: Separation of men from the fellowship of God; disorganization of a righteous life; development of an unsocial attitude in men.

Sin Destroys Finer Things.

Characteristic of sin in slowly working its way into a man's life until it eventually becomes an irrealistble part was described. That it destroys a sense of appreciation of the finer things in life and that it is progressive were pointed out.

In conclusion Dr. Deibert said, "While sin seems to run rampant and to express itself in every form of lawlessness and unrighteousness, it is conquerable. The sign and seal of its overthrow is the matchless and sinless Christ as He stands in the presence of His enemies and dares them to find sin in His life.

"This sinless Christ has the secret of victory over sin and He invites men and women to follow Him into the secret. As they do it in increasing numbers, not only will individual bondage to sin be broken, but the social expression of sin will yield to a social expression of godliness, and we shall enter upon a new earth wherein dwelleth the kingdom of God."

1,500 of Three Societies To Enjoy Moonlight Sail

Three societies, comprising about 1,500 members and their guests, will make the moonlight cruise tonight aboard the Wilson Line steamer City of Washington. Arrangements have been made for the vessel to carry the Sigma Epsilon Sorority, the De Molay Society and the Modern Woodmen of America.

Miss Katherine Willey is in charge of arrangements for Sigma Epsilon. Melvin Holst and Vergne Potter will conduct the entertainment for De Molay and the Woodmen.

Dairy Groups Will Join In Outing on Thursday

Employes of Chestnut Farms Dairy and Chevy Chase Dairy will hold their annual outing Thursday at Chapel Point, Md., Henry N. Brawner, jr., of Chestnut Farms, announced yesterday.

The picnic party will leave Seventh street wharves at 9 a. m. Luncheon will be served on the boat. Contests for men and women will be held on the boat, and athletic events will be staged at Chapel Point. There will be dancing and a prize waltz.

Boy Is Held After Attempt To Force Door of Bakery

Two employes of the Madrillon Pastry Shop, 1312 G street, northwest, reporting for work, yesterday noon found a 14-year-old colored boy attempting to force the rear cellar door of the establishment. He fled when perceived, they said, but after a chase, which included the brandishing of a knife by the lad, according to police, he was taken into custody.

There is a safe in a room near where the boy, Alexandria Bundy, 14, 811 Florida avenue northwest, was trying to get in according to Peter Borras, owner of the shop, and a considerable sum of money was in it, the manager said. Also, said the manager, there were delectable pies and cakes, pastries and toothsome morsels of other types in an ice box nearby.

The would-be intruder was taken by the Madrillon employes to the main branch of the Madrillon establishment at Fifteenth and New York avenue northwest, and after a conference there, turned over to police. After an investigation at the G street shop, it was said by Borras that nothing had been disturbed, not even the gastronomic delights afforded by the refrigerator near the safe.

'SNOBBISH SINNERS' IS SERMON SUBJECT OF REV. MR. SHORES

DESIRE TO BE THOUGHT WORLDLY IS ASSAILED

Choosing as a text the eleventh verse of the eighteenth chapter of Luke, "O, Lord, I thank thee that I am not as other men are," the Rev. Robert Shores spoke on "Snobbish Sinners" yesterday at the 11 o'clock service at St. Margaret's Episcopal Church, Connecticut avenue and Bancroft place.

With the story of the Pharisee and the publican as a background Dr. Shores pointed out that today the order is reversed, as we have a sort of inverted Pharisaism in which men boast of their sins and shortcomings, and the things of which we are taught to be ashamed, and likewise are often apologetic and unwilling to admit their attendance at church services and participation in activity of a Christian and charitable nature.

"Proud of Sophistication."

"These people are ambitious to be thought sophisticated and to have themselves called 'sophisticates,' thus changing into noun and applying to themselves this verb which literally means 'to render worthless by adulteration, to make artificial, to pervert, to mislead'," he went on.

Taking the other extreme of the man who accepts doctrines in order to be pleasant and not to offend when in reality they are contrary to his true beliefs, Dr. Shores said: "He is so anxious to please that he agrees with sentiments which offend his moral sense so that he may not endanger his popularity. He is like the young man in Max Beerbohm's imitation of "Five Towns," in which they put broken pieces of crockery into their cakes. Courting a young woman at the time the man was afraid to spit these out as the common people did, for fear he would be thought vulgar, and hesitated to take them out daintily with his fingers lest she think him effeminate. There being only one other thing to do he ate them, thus becoming a hardy man in spite of himself, because he did not know how else to behave.

Calls It Vicious.

Pointing out the viciousness of this philosophy from both extremes Dr. Shores said that these people pray: "O Lord, I thank Thee that I am as other men, only more so. What they wear I will wear; what they think I will think; what they say I will say; where they go, I will go, and if they have no God I will have no God," rather than as in the text taken from Luke, which reads, "O Lord, I thank thee that I am not as other men are."

In conclusion, Dr. Shores pointed out the statement of Bernard Shaw, in which he said that the churches in England were only half filled the same as in Russia, as an evidence of a willingness to measure truths by the present day "questionnaire" method rather than by the older and more accurate method of studying the evidence, carefully evaluating it, and then weighing it to reach a decision. "The fact that a church is not filled is no sign that it is dead any more than the fact that it is filled proves that it is alive. In small towns the most crowded place is the cemetery," he concluded.

Two Men in Hospital After Silver Hill Fight

Walter Burton, 31 years old, of 4621 Schley avenue southeast, was treated for injuries to the arms, said by police to have been received in the same altercation. Lusby is charged with drunkenness.
